"There is another matter with reference to this amendment which I think makes it dangerous. So far as is known the only matters to which clause 4 can apply are matters and incidents dealing with land. No other are known in which the powers of the Commissioner of the Sundarbans are exerciseable in a private manner, and if that be the case it seems to me that it would be wrong to unnecessarily widen the language and make it so indefinite that it would be impossible to say to what it did refer. The language which is used in the section as drafted by the Select Committee deals with the circumstances so far as they are known, and I should think that it would be dangerous to widen the section in any way so as to deal with matters which, so far as is known, do not exist."

The Hon'ble MR. HARE said:—"I must oppose the present amendment. I think, having retained clause 4 of the Bill, it fully fulfils the purposes that we intend. The amendment proposed would be too vague even if it could be adopted for other reasons. If an instrument does not relate to land, it i difficult to say what Collector would be applied to in view of the fact that there are 39 Collectors; but in any case I am bound to oppose this amendment because I prefer the clause in the Bill before us."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"In discussing the previous amendment, the Hon'ble the Advocate-General said, if I understood him correctly, that the words 'allinstruments relating to land in the Sundarbans' related to the subject-matter of land and nothing else. Whether that would be so or not is not quite certain, but I do not think any useful purpose would be served by tacking clause 4 to clause 8 as has been proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Chaudhuri, and I regret I am not in favour of the amendment proposed by Mr. Chaudhuri."

The Motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBICA CHARAN MAZUMDAR moved that the words "land in" after the words "relating to" in clause 4 of the Bill be omitted; and that for the words and expression "land or any part of it" in the said clause the words and expression "subject-matter of such instrument or any part thereof" be substituted. He said:—

"I had the privilege of hearing the Hon'ble Advocate-General in advance of my amendment, and yet I must confess I am not quite satisfied, and consequently I am under the necessity of moving this amendment. The reason for the amendment is quite obvious. The clause as it stands refers simply to land, and there is no doubt about it. This, Sir, seems to me to be neither clear nor exhaustive. There may be instruments relating not only to land but also to water, to the gathering of wax or of cutting timber or relating to any other products of the forest which have always been abundant in the Sundarbans. The Hon'ble Mr. Collin, who ought to be taken as an authority in this matter, himself says there may exist similar cases in some of the old leases or deeds, but that he has not been able to trace any as the leases generally refer to the Commissioner in the Sundarbans or other officer appointed by Government. No doubt the Hon'ble Advocate-General has told us that all the instruments that exist refer only to land, but I am unable to persuade myself to be equally confident that ever since the beginning of the last century we have had in this extensive region instruments relating only to land.

"As a matter of fact it may not be unknown to many persons who actually know about the working of the Sundarbans that there were leases of various other kinds, notably, for cutting timber; there might have been leases also for gathering wax and so forth. To say that there are no other instruments would, I believe, be hazarding a very bold statement. I should have liked to hear some of the Hon'ble Members of this Council who have access to these records to say that there were none; on the contrary I find that the Hon'ble Mr. Collin says that he has not been able to trace out other documents; in fact it would be impossible to trace out all of them. It is only a short time ago that Mr. Collin made this statement, and I do not know what flood of knowledge or information has been thrown amongst us to enable us to say that there are no other leases. Supposing even that there are none, do we ask too much to be more precise and more careful? In this matter in fact, Your Honour will find that clause 1 of section 13 itself notices some of these various kinds of interests, such as gathering of wax and so forth. In this state of uncertainty I think we would be acting simply wisely in making the clause more general in its application instead of restricting it simply to instruments relating to land only.

"It has not been contended, nor do I think will it be contended, that any shelter will be sought to be taken under the General Clauses Act, for neither in the Government of India General Clauses Act nor in the Bengal General Clauses Act is there any definition of the word 'land.' The only definition of 'land' that we find is in the Interpretation Act, 52 & 53 Vict., Cap. 63, but even there the definition is not wide enough to cover the kind of interest, or rather privileges, to which I have referred. Besides, if in the face of section 10 of the Bengal General Clauses Act we have found it expedient to provide this clause, I do not understand how we can be quite free from apprehension that we may not be misunderstood, and that difficulties may not arise hereafter if any question relating to any instruments other than that of land should come up for consideration, and it seems to me that when we have undertaken to settle all doubts, a whole measure would be better than a half measure. Where is the difficulty in making the clause more general?

"I do not of course understand the Hon'ble Advocate-General to mean that simply because the Select Committee has drafted the clause in this fashion therefore it ought to be maintained. The thing is, we are going to amend the law, and if we see that the use of certain other words would make it more general so as to cover a much larger area than might be covered by the words settled by the Select Committee, I do not see there ought to be any difficulty in accepting it, at all events as a precautionary measure against all possible contingencies. With these observations, I beg to place the amendment before the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. HARE said:—"I must oppose this amendment. I think no case has been made out for extending clause 4 so as to cover all written instruments, and I therefore think the clause may stand as it is in the Bill now before the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE said:—"I should like to point out that the Commissioner in the Sundarbans could only act as an arbitrator in his private capacity or in a semi-private capacity by permission of the Board of Revenue. The Board gave him that permission under certain forms of leases that are given in the Waste Lands Manual. Those forms of leases refer entirely to land, and not to water, timber or any other article. It seems to me, therefore, to be quite unnecessary to widen the scope of the section in the manner proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"As the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar has referred to me as an authority in such flattering terms, I would only say that in the letter in which I raised the point on which clause 4 was added, I referred to certain forms of leases which are in existence and which are to be found under the Waste Land Rules and in which certain power is given to the Commissioner in the Sundarbans. I also said that there may be some other agreements which I had not been able to trace. I referred then entirely to agreements with reference to land. The different conditions under which grants have been given in the Sundarbans have varied considerably since the Commissionership was appointed, and at one time the Commissioner was a much greater man than he is now, and my impression is that in some of the old leases referring especially to revenue-free lands on Saugor Island, I have seen a reference to the Commissioner in the Sundarbans as being given power to decide certain disputes. It was entirely with reference to those matters that I wrote my letter which has been referred to, and I had not in my mind any reference to any other forms of agreements, such as for collection of wax or fisheries. Those matters are entirely dealt with by the Forest Department. So far as any land has been settled by the Commissioner in the Sundarbans it has been settled with the proprietors without any reservations. Any other land which remains unsettled is under the Forest Department either as a Reserve forest or as a Protected forest, and the rules of the Forest Department govern all the arrangements for collection of revenue."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I confess I have no practical experience of the working of the Sundarbans forests; but taking a common-sense view of the matter I should say, Sir, the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar ought to be accepted. Although it may be the fact that in instruments that have been already executed in connection with the Sunderbans only land forms the subject-matter of such instruments, it may so happen that in future leases something other than land or anything connected with forest may be treated in such instruments, and to obviate all difficulties in this connection it would be desirable to accept the amendment proposed by my friend. I do not see any harm in doing so, because all that it aims at is to cover instruments that may relate to matters other than land, and I think it would be wise to accept such amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES said:—"I venture to think that it was incumbent on the Hon'ble Member to produce proof of the existence of some documents which would be prejudicially affected by the proposed legislation. It is neither customary nor wise to legislate on hypothetical possibilities. It is the invariable practice to confine ourselves, when legislating, to ascertained facts."

[Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar; Mr. Chaudhuri.]

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"If my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, were able to cite cases or instances in which leases relating to things other than land were dealt with or referred to I should have had no hesitation in supporting his amendment; but when I find that the officers, who are principally responsible for the administration of the tract known as the Sundarbans, do not themselves want any such provision as my friend suggests, I do not think it is desirable on the part of non-official Members of this Council and having no part in the administration of this tract to press the amendment which is not wanted by those who are responsible for the administration of that part, and in that view I do not see my way to support the amendment of the Hon'ble Member."

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR, in reply, said:—"I will only make one observation with reference to the remarks which have just fallen from my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. I do not admit that there is any difference between official and non-official Members in the consideration of any Bill. It is as much the interest of the official as the non-official Members to see that laws are made so as to be satisfactory in dealing with every possible case that may arise, and the responsibility for this must rest as much with us as with the official Members. I have already stated my views in support of the amendment, but I am asked to cite instances in order to convince Hon'ble Members as to the propriety of my amendment. The fact is that my amendment only aims at dealing with possible contingencies. As I have already said, not that there are actual instances which I can cite, but that instances might arise which might throw us into difficulties, and it is with that view that I propose my amendment. I have nothing further to add."

The Motion was then put and lost.

New Clauses.

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI, by leave of the Council, withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

That the following clause be inserted after clause 3 of the Bill:—

"4. In clause Second of section 13 of the Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands) Regulation, 1828,—

(a) for the words 'Commissioner of the Sundarbans' and 'Commissioner' the words 'Deputy Collector' shall be substituted; and

(b) for the word 'Commissioner's,' in both places in which it occurs, the words 'Deputy Collector's' shall be substituted."

The Hon'ble Mr. CHAUDHURI moved that clause Second of section 13 of the Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands) Regulation, 1828, be repealed. He said:—

"The amendment proposed relates to the survey of the Sundarbans. In the Regulation of 1828 there is provision for carrying on a survey for determining the limits of the Sundarbans. In the preamble to that Regulation, it is stated that it is 'desirable to make provision for the immediate settlement of the limits of the Sundarbans, as ascertained by careful local inquiry, conducted by the Commissioner especially appointed to the duty and the surveyors under his authority." When it was necessary for Government to determine the boundaries of the Sundarbans they appointed a Special Commissioner for carrying on the survey, and when the survey was carried on at the spot certain powers were given to the Commissioner to hear objections and certain limitations were imposed by which if objections were not made within three months they would not be allowed. Then there were other provisions for disputing the boundaries as determined by the survey. The following is the second clause of the Regulation referred to:—

The boundary of the Sundarbans jungle shall be laid down by accurate survey, as determined on the spot by the Commissioner of the Sundarbans; and any zamindar, taluqdar, or party interested shall be entitled, on application made through the Commissioner, and on payment of the charge of preparing the same, to receive a copy of the survey map or of any part of the same, with the boundary marked there as so determined, together with a copy of the Commissioner's proceedings on the subject.

Any party deeming his right injured by the demarcation so laid down shall be at liberty, at any time within three months from the date of the Commissioner's proceeding fixing the same (which proceeding shall always be held and published on the spot), to contest the same by petition to the ordinary Courts of Justice by which the case is cognisable, praying further investigation:

Provided that no plea of objection against the line of demarcation laid down shall be heard or admitted, excepting only such as shall declare and offer proof that at the time of survey a specific quantity of land or land with defined limits was in the occupation of the petitioner cleared and under cultivation, which, by the line of demarcation adopted, is placed within the Sundarban tract belonging to Government.

Every such application so made shall be regarded as a claim to hold the tract claimed free of the public assessment, and shall be investigated and d[illegible] Regulation II, 1819, as modified by this Regulation.

"Now when we are going to abolish the office of the [illegible] of the Sundarbans it would be undesirable to let the [illegible] This whole section has reference to the Commissioner [illegible] It gives him power to determine the boundaries of the S[illegible] right on parties aggrieved by such determination to contest [illegible] within certain time limitations. I see no good in keeping [illegible] we are abolishing the office of the Commissioner in the S[illegible]

"When that office has been [illegible]

[illegible] bans cannot be considered as having been [illegible] for all times. It may be necessary to take up a re-surve[illegible] If I am not mistaken, I read in some recent accounts [illegible] that great changes had taken place even in its area; thousa[illegible] have been washed away from the Saugor Island, and the[illegible] where similar changes in the boundaries had taken place. [illegible] occasion for a fresh survey of the Sundarbans, then the [illegible] be conducted under the general law and under the direction[illegible] Government.

"It is a general principle of law that any special law overrides the general law, and there is every likelihood that when a re-survey of the Sundarbans takes place question may be raised by people whose zamindaries or lands may adjoin the boundaries of the Sundarbans as to the validity of any survey carried on under the Survey Act, so long as Regulation III of 1828 which specifically provides for it stands unrepealed. In the Report of the Select Committee it is said that this section has been spent. The Committee evidently referred to the preamble. It is mentioned there that immediate settlement of the limits of the Sundarbans is necessary. That preamble was drawn up when Regulation III of 1828 was passed. So it is surmised that when the limits of the Sundarbans have been once determined no survey for determining the boundaries will hereafter be necessary. But as I have said before, the map boundaries may be fixed, but the geographical boundaries may shift. At any future survey the question will be, under what law the re-survey is to take place. It may be said that the preamble to Regulation III, 1828, is clear that the clause in question only referred to the original determination of the limits of the Sundarbans. But a preamble is as often as not referred to and relied upon for the interpretation of Statutes.

"In case of a subsequent survey under the general law, if any question is raised with regard to the validity of the survey, the persons who will question it will refer to this section, and confusion and conflict is likely to arise. If clause Second, section 13, Regulation III of 1828, is regarded as spent, I do not see any use in retaining it in the Statute Book. Since the previous sanction of the Government of India has been obtained in connection with this Bill there is nothing in our way to prevent us from repealing clause 2, section 13 of the Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands) Regulation, III of 1828, and I, therefore, beg to move for its repeal."

The Hon'ble MR. HARE said:—"I may say I am prepared to accept the proposed amendment which was considered in the Select Committee. It was not necessary to amend clause 2 of section 13, Regulation III of 1828, because its function was already completed, but we see no objection to repealing the section. I therefore say I am prepared to accept the proposal. The effect of this would be that clause 2 of the Bill would be amended and the repeal of the second section of section 13 of the Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands) Regulation, III of 1828, would be mentioned in clause 2. Clause 2 will then read as follows:—

[illegible] second of section 13 of the Bengal Land-[illegible] (Resumed Lands) [illegible]28, and so much of the Repealing and [illegible] Sundarbans Regulation, 1816, are hereby [illegible]

[illegible] was put and agreed [illegible]

[illegible] Council, [illegible]

That the following [illegible] be inserted after clause 2 of the Bill:—

"[illegible] A assignment (I) assessed [illegible] and 'Collector' [illegible] or especially empowered by the Local [illegible] substituted; and [illegible] in both places in which it occurs, the words [illegible] Deputy Collector's' be substituted."

[illegible] said:—"As the object of this amendment has been practically gained by the repeal of clause second of Regulation III of 1828, it is no longer necessary for me to move this amendment."

[illegible]

The Hon'ble MR. HARE moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL REPEALING BILL, 1905.

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE moved that the Bill to repeal the Bengal Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1880, be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE also moved that the Bill be passed. He observed:—

"I said on the previous occasion all I had to say in regard to this Repealing Bill, and I have nothing further to add to-day."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Calcutta, 17th March 1905.

SHERRIFF'S SALE.

Proclamation.

TO be peremptorily sold pursuant to an order of this Honorable Court in execution of the decree made in this suit, wherein Nemy Churan Coondu is plaintiff and Nibaran Chunder Doriah and others are defendants, and dated, respectively, the 2nd day of July and 26th day of January 1904, by the Sheriff of Calcutta at his sale-room on the ground floor of the Court-house by public auction on Thursday, the 30th day of March 1905, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, the following property belonging to the plaintiff:—

All that the undivided, one-third part or share of the plaintiff, Nemy Churan Coondu, in all that upper-roomed, brick-built dwelling-house with land containing by estimation 1 cottah 3 chitaks 43 square feet more or less, being premises No. 20 Raj Chunder Sen's Lane, Champatollah, in the town of Calcutta, and bounded on the north by the tenanted house of Thakur Dass Mookerjee, and on the east, west and south by Raj Chunder Sen's Lane.

The amount for the recovery of which the sale has been ordered is Rs. 1,835-12 with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 27th day of April last besides costs of execution.

From a search made at the office of the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, it appears that the said Nemy Chunder Coondu executed a Bengali bill of sale of his one-third share in the said premises in favour of Sreemutty Narayan Mony Dassee of the same place, widow of Dina Nath Coondu, deceased, on the 11th day of May last at or for the sum of Rs. 1,500.

It appears from the evidence of Nemy Charan Coondu and Narayan Mony Dassee taken before the Registrar of this Court that a bill of sale in favour of Narayan Mony Dassee was executed and registered by Nemy Churan Coondu, but that there was in fact no sale at all, and that the bill of sale is still in the custody of the said Nemy Churan Coondu who is still the owner of the said one-third share and in possession thereof.

That save and except as above there is no mortgage or other incumbrances affecting the said premises.

The conditions of sale may be seen at the Sheriff's Office in the ground floor of the Court-house any day before the sale.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THE GORAGHAT ROAD WITHIN THE BHADRESWAR MUNICIPALITY

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

Is the Government aware that the Sub-Divisional Officer, Serampore, has made over a considerable portion of another important public thoroughfare, viz., "Gorerghat Road" within the Bhadreswar Municipality to Messrs. Thomas Duff & Co., and the said road has already been taken possession of by the Company? Has the transfer been made under the Land Acquisition Act? If not, does the Government consider the transfer legal?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied:—

"It has been ascertained that the Sub-Divisional Officer, Serampore, has not made over any portion of the Gorerghat Road within the Bhadreswar Municipality to Messrs. Thomas Duff & Co."

THE CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been called to an article in the Indian Mirror of the 20th December last, in which it is stated that there has been established in Calcutta a "Teachers' Association" which seeks to control the action of the Senate and the Syndicate of the University?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to inquire if there are any teachers or professors belonging to any Government School or College among the members of this Association? And will His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, as Rector of the University, be further pleased to ascertain how many members of this Association are among the Senate and in the Provisional Syndicate of the University? And how many of them are in Government service?

(c) Does the Government approve of Government officers forming part of an organization which, without any sort of official responsibility, thus seeks to prepare work for the Senate and the Syndicate and fetter the independent delegations of these important bodies?

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied:—

"(a) The Lieutenant-Governor is aware of the existence of an Association called the 'Calcutta University Teachers' Association,' the object of which is 'to provide University teachers with opportunities for the discussion of educational questions and the formation and public expression of definite professional opinion.' All persons who follow, as their main occupation, the profession of teaching in colleges or other institutions affiliated to the Calcutta University, or who, having been formerly so engaged, are mainly employed in the direction or inspection of teaching, are eligible for election as members of the Association.

"(b) There are several teachers or professors in Government institutions who are members of the Association. Some of these are also among the members of the Senate and of the Provisional Syndicate of the University.

"(c) The Lieutenant-Governor entirely approves of the existence of the Association and of its objects. He considers that it is very desirable to promote greater intercourse among teachers and to enable them to meet together periodically to discuss questions affecting education. Enquiry, which His Honour has thought it necessary to make, shows that the Association does not seek to control the action of the Senate and Syndicate of the University, nor to fetter these bodies in the discharge of their important duties. It is true that, on one occasion, a suggestion was made that all the members, who are also members of the Senate, should bind themselves to act together in regard to a University matter; but this suggestion was not accepted or acted on. His Honour would certainly disapprove of Government officers belonging to any organisation which fettered them in the discharge of their duties either as Government servants or as Fellows of the University or members of the Syndicate. But he has been assured, and is satisfied, that it is not one of the objects of this Association to do anything of the kind; and His Honour believes that Government officers may belong to it not only without injury, but with advantage to the work that they have to do."

INCOME-TAX ASSESSMENT IN BENGAL DURING THE YEARS 1901-1904.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR said:—

On examining the figures given in the statement of Income-tax Assessment for the years 1901-1902, 1902-1903 and 1903-1904, as furnished by Government at my request on the 4th March, 1905, it appears that although the number of assessees in each of the six classes noted therein was pretty steady in both the years 1901-1902 and 1902-1903, there was a remarkable increase in the number of assessees with income of Rs. 1,000—1,250 in every district in 1903-1904,—the year in which Act XI of 1903 came into force granting exemption to all incomes below Rs. 1,000,—while in not a few of the districts such increase was nearly double of the previous years; and that on the whole while the number of assessees in this class (e.g., Rs. 1,000—1,250) stood at nearly 12,000 in both the years 1901-1902 and 1902-1903, it suddenly rose to 19,000 in 1903-1904; but that such striking fluctuations were not observable in the other classes (e.g., Rs. 1,250—1,500, Rs. 1,500—1,750 and Rs. 1,750—2,000) which still continued pretty steady. And as regards the demand of tax also it would further appear that while the decrease in the revenue on account of exemption of all incomes below Rs. 1,000 ought alone to have come to nearly 9 lakhs of rupees, the total revenue for the year 1903-1904 did not show an equivalent percentage of decrease upon the previous year.

(a) In view of the above facts and figures, will the Government be pleased to enquire whether or not a large number of persons who were entitled to exemption from taxation under Act XI of 1903 have had their incomes arbitrarily raised so as to be included in the lowest grade of assessment in 1903-1904, thereby frustrating to a large extent the benevolent intentions of Government in raising the minimum of taxable limit to Rs. 1,000?

(b) Will the Government be further pleased to warn all income-tax officers against any attempt at tampering with a concession which the Government has generously granted to a poor people particularly in commemoration of His Majesty's accession to the Throne?

The Hon'ble MR. SHARES replied:—

"The Board of Revenue has asked the local officers to explain the increase in the number of assessees in the lowest grade. Until the replies have been received and considered no further instructions on the subject can be issued."

THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR said:—

(a) In view of the congestion which has taken place in the Educational Services as organised in 1896 and the want of attraction which they still present to distinguished men in adopting the Educational Department, will the Government be pleased to consider whether it is not time to re consider and re-adjust the system of 1896 and place the Educational Services on a more satisfactory and attractive basis?

(b) Will the Government be further pleased to lay on the table a statement containing the following particulars regarding the officers in the Subordinate

Educational Service outside the grade established under the re-organization of the Bengal Educational Department in 1896?—

(i) the names of such officers;

(ii) their educational qualifications;

(iii) their present salary;

(iv) the date of their first appointment;

(v) the date on which they were admitted to their present salary.

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied:—

"(a) The importance of re-organising the Education Department has been fully realised by the Government of Bengal; and a scheme is now before the Government of India. It includes the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services and the ungraded officers of the Department.

"(b) In these circumstances it seems unnecessary to give the detailed information asked for."

MORTALITY IN THE JESSORE DISTRICT.

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—

According to the last Census Report the population of the district of Jessore shows a decrease of 75,672 in the course of ten years, which, again, is over 25,000 more than the decline of population during the previous ten years, and further the mortality in the district during 1904 exceeded the births by over 14,000. In view of such rapidly increasing mortality in the district due to such preventable diseases as malarial fever and cholera, has the Government enquired into the causes thereof, and will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken or may be in contemplation to remove such causes?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied:—

"The figures quoted by the Hon'ble Member from the Census Report are correct. There has been no recent increase in the death-rate from cholera in Jessore. The mortality in the year 1904 was unusually high, but the average mortality in the five years ending with 1904 was exactly the same as that of the preceding quinquennium. During the same quinquennial periods the death-rate attributed to fever has increased from 30·66 to 32·08. This subject was discussed in the Resolution on the last Annual Report of the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal; and it was shown that the increase in the death-rate in certain districts during the five years ending with 1902 as compared with the preceding five years had been coincident with an increase in the rainfall in those districts, while in the remaining districts of the Province and in the Province as a whole there had been a decrease. In Jessore the rainfall increased from an average of 47·60 inches in the five years ending with 1897 to 66·16 inches in the five years ending with 1902. The history of Jessore fever, or as is usually called Burdwan fever, is a long one, and much has been written regarding it. There is every reason to suppose that the mortality due to it when it first appeared was much greater than it has been in recent years, although no reliable statistics are available for the earlier years. Accounts of it will be found in Hunter's Gazetteer in his statistical accounts of the Burdwan and Jessore districts and in the last Census Report by Mr. Gait. A Commission was appointed to enquire into it in the year 1864; and another Commission enquired again in 1881. In 1900 Captain Rogers made another enquiry with special reference to the riparian Municipalities; and again in 1904, in view of the recent advances in bacteriological science, he was specially deputed to make another enquiry in Dinajpur. The last enquiry yielded important results. It has long been known that certain types of fever classed as malaria do not yield to quinine, but we are only now beginning to be able to differentiate them. As the diagnosis of the chaukidar has to be relied on it cannot be stated what proportion of the deaths are due to true malaria. Government has recently increased the quantity of quinine in pice packets and has taken steps to add to the quinine factory and to increase the number of centres of distribution. It may also be added that a scheme is under consideration for draining some of the bhils in the district of Jessore into the Bhoirab."

MORTALITY IN THE NATOR SUB-DIVISION.

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—

Is not the extraordinary death-rate in the Nator Sub-division (55·77 per mille) during the year 1904 and the high rate of mortality prevailing during previous years (varying between 40 and 50 per mille) and the general decline of population in the sub-division chiefly due to scarcity of good drinking water and the obstruction of the natural drainage of the country? Will the Government be pleased to enquire whether the removal of the sand-bars at the source of the river Bural, ensuring an abundant flow of water from the Padma river through such streams as the Mushakhan, Narad, Gadai and Nundagooja and the automatic flushing out of the beels by such streams during the rainy season, effectively remove the causes of such heavy mortality, the North Bengal State Railway line being also provided, where necessary, with a sufficient number of culverts to prevent the accumulation of stagnant water?

If the above be found, on inquiry, a sufficient remedy, would the Government be pleased to take such steps as it may deem necessary for the purpose?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied:—

"A report has been called for from the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division on the subject of this question. What action will be taken on it cannot of course be stated until it has been received."

FEVER IN THE NADIA DISTRICT

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—

Has the Government enquired into the causes of high rate of mortality prevailing in the Nadia district during the last three years, and have any remedial measures been adopted to cope with the epidemics of cholera and malarial fever which may be said to be responsible for the high percentage of deaths in the district?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied:—

"The death-rate from fever in the district of Nadia in the year 1904 was 29·69, the average of the preceding five years having been 32·04. The same general remarks apply to fever in Nadia as to fever in Jessore. All that can be said is that the recent advances which have been made in our knowledge of the etiology of the diseases grouped under the head 'Malaria' raise the hope that we may soon learn how to deal more effectively with these diseases. As regards cholera there has, as stated by the Hon'ble Member, been an epidemic of that disease during the last three years. Unfortunately such epidemics are not of rare occurrence in Nadia, and the epidemics of 1883 to 1886, of 1891 and 1892 and of 1894 to 1896 were all more virulent than the present one. Much may be done by the people themselves to conserve and protect from contamination the sources of water-supply and to purify the water by boiling or filtering; but the difficulties which have arisen in connection with several Municipalities in Nadia show that the standard of duty in regard to sanitation in that district is very low."

THE CALCUTTA PORT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1905.

THE Hon'ble MR. INGLIS moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Calcutta Port Act, 1890. He said:—

"Sir, the Bill has been circulated to Members of the Council and the Statement of Objects and Reasons explain generally the object and the scope of the Bill. I propose therefore only to make a few remarks in further explanation of the clauses of the Bill.

"The second clause of the Bill proposes to add to the number of the Commissioners by two. The Commission of the Port of Calcutta is constituted under sections 5 and 6 of the Act. There is a Chairman and a Vice-Chairman, there are eight elected Commissioners and five nominated Commissioners. Of the elected members it is provided by the Act that five shall be elected by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, one by the Calcutta Trades Association, one by the Corporation of Calcutta, and one by such body or firms as the Local Government shall from time to time select as representing the interests of the native mercantile community. The election of this Commissioner is entrusted to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce. The five nominated Commissioners are distributed as follows: The Deputy Director of the Royal Indian Marine; the Collector of Customs; a representative of the Inland Steam Navigation Companies and two representatives of the Railways. As Members of Council are well aware, there are three large Railway systems which centre in Calcutta: the East Indian Railway, the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the Eastern Bengal State Railway. These Railways are all largely interested in the Port. Their interests are, however, sometimes divergent and may occasionally be antagonistic. Under existing conditions at any one time two of the three Railway systems are represented on the Commission by a system of rotation. It is held to be desirable that the three Railway systems should be continuously represented on the Commission, and it is proposed to give effect to this by allocating one of the additional Commissioners to the Railway interest.

"It is also held to be desirable that the town of Howrah should be represented on the Commission, and it is intended that the second Additional Commissioner should be either the Magistrate of Howrah or some other person selected to represent that town.

"Clauses 3, 4 and 5 of the Bill are required to enable the Port Commissioners to establish and work a ferry service on the Hooghly. At present the Commissioners are authorised to work a ferry between Armenian Ghat and Howrah. This authority they obtained under the provisions of the Howrah Bridge Act, and it is limited to a service to be maintained in connection with the bridge traffic only.

"It is now almost exactly two years since the Port Commissioners brought this matter to the notice of Government and asked for legislation. When they came up they asked for powers not only to enable them to work a ferry service on their own account but they also asked for powers to regulate the fares of all boats carrying passengers within the port.

"They also asked for powers to enable them to make, alter or repeal bye-laws dealing with ferries and other boats employed as public conveyances within the Port. The powers last mentioned involved an interference with vested rights of the District Board of the 24-Parganas in certain public ferries which they held under the Bengal Ferries Act. This involved a somewhat prolonged correspondence. It was eventually arranged that the Commissioners of the Port should purchase the rights held by the District Board in the ferries, and this having been done it is not necessary to make any provision for the matter in this Bill. It will, however, probably be necessary at a later date to make a small amendment in the Bengal Ferries Act.

"When the draft Bill was submitted to the Government of India last June, the Government of India suggested certain minor amendments and they took exception to the provision by which powers were to be given to the Commissioners of the Port to regulate the fares of all boats carrying passengers. They pointed out that the Commissioners might themselves be competing for passenger traffic with the owners of other boats, and it was not advisable that the Commissioners should have power to fix the rates at which their competitors should carry passengers. This was accepted by the Bengal Government, and a revised draft of the Bill was submitted to the Government of India last December, and the permission of the Secretary of State to the adoption of the Bill was received at the end of February.

"I think I may say without fear of contradiction that the establishment of a ferry service in the Hooghly will meet a public want. I think it is also generally agreed that under existing conditions the working of such a service by the Port Commissioners will be for the public convenience; at all events I think there are ample reasons for asking that the Port Commissioners may be legally enabled to establish and work a ferry service. At present under the provision of section 55 of the Act the Port Commissioners have authority to purchase or to lease moveable property generally. This no doubt would cover the purchase or hire of steamers. The Port Commissioners are, however, not authorised to build steam vessels except for the service of towing vessels within the port. Sub-section (7) of section 35 empowers them to build steam vessels required for the purpose of towing vessels in the port. It is proposed by clause 3 of the Bill to give the Port Commissioners power to build vessels suitable for the carriage of passengers and goods.

"By clause 5 of the Bill it is sought to give the Commissioners power to frame charges for the carriage of passengers and goods. The effect of clause 4 of the Bill is to restrict the Port Commissioners from the carriage of goods without the sanction of the Local Government. I may say that the Port Commissioners do not desire to compete with other carriers for the conveyance of goods, but it may be necessary and desirable at times that they should have authority to carry goods. The Local Government has ample powers under section 107 of the Act to control all schedules of charges which may be framed by the Port Commissioners.

"Clause 6 of the Bill deals with a different matter. Under section 6, sub-section (1), clause (k) of the Indian Ports Act, the Local Government has power to make certain rules. The words of the Act are:

> The Local Government may, in addition to any rules which it may make under any other enactment for the time being in force, make such rules, consistent with this Act, as it thinks necessary for any of the following purposes, namely:—(Clause k) for licensing and regulating catamarans plying for hire and flats and cargo, passenger and other boats plying, whether for hire or not, and whether regularly or only occasionally, in or partly within and partly without any such port, and for determining the quantity of cargo or number of passengers to be carried by any such vessels.

"By section 8 of the Indian Ports Act, sub-section 1), the Conservator of any Port subject to this Act may, with respect to any vessel within the port, give directions for carrying into effect any rule for the time being in force therein under section 6.

"By section 7 of the same Act, the Local Government shall appoint some officer or body of persons to be Conservator of every Port subject to this Act. Under the powers given in this section the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta have been appointed Conservators of the Port. The case, therefore, stands thus: The Local Government has power to make rules for regulating and licensing all boats other than catamarans whether plying for hire or not. The Commissioners of the Port in their capacity of Conservator have powers to carry the rules into effect. There is, however, no authority in section 6 of the Indian Ports Act or in any other section of that Act to authorise the charging of any fees for such licensing or registration. For this we have to refer to section 106 of the Calcutta Port Act. Under this section the Commissioners are authorised to frame a scale of charges and fees to be paid by the owners of vessels plying for hire. They have, however, no authority to frame any scale of fees or charges for boats which do not ply for hire Clause 6 of the Bill has been introduced with the intention of removing this distinction.

"It will, I think, be generally admitted that as a part of the administration of the port all boats which ply within it should be subject to control and should be required to be licensed and to be registered, and I see no reason why a distinction should be drawn in the matter of fees between those boats which ply for hire and those boats which ply only for their owners. As I have already said, under section 107 the Local Government has ample power to control the scale of charges which may be suggested by the Port Commissioners. Sub-section (2) of section 107 reads thus: 'It shall also be competent to the Local Government at any time to cancel any of the scales framed under sections 103 to 106 (both inclusive), or to call upon the Commissioners to modify any portion of such scales and thereupon the Commissioners in meeting shall modify such scales accordingly.' With these remarks, I move for leave to introduce the Bill."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS introduced the Bill, and moved that it be read in Council.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"With reference to the observations which have fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis in introducing the Bill I have only one remark to make. It seems that provisions are going to be made which will enable the Port Commissioners to compete against private enterprise. If the Port Commissioners are allowed to establish ferries and to ply boats for hire both as regards passenger traffic and goods they will be formidable rivals against private owners of boats and private carriers. I hope, Sir, public opinion will be invited as regards the desirability of conferring these powers upon the Port Commissioners. There is no doubt, as the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis said without fear of contradiction, that the establishment of ferries will be a great boon conferred on the public, but I may remind Hon'ble Members of this Council that we, the people of Calcutta, have a great grievance with regard to the hackney-carriage service, and if the Hon'ble Mr. Greer could undertake the burden of providing suitable hackney-carriages for the people of Calcutta we would all be very thankful to him; but the question will arise as to how far public bodies with practically unlimited resources, should be allowed to enter into competition with private individuals, and it is in regard to that part of the Bill that I would ask the Members of the Select Committee which is going to be framed to devote their careful attention and also to call the attention of the public to those provisions."

The Motion was put and agreed to and the Bill was read accordingly.

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS said:—"I need not add to the remarks which I have made in asking for leave to introduce the Bill. It can, I think, hardly be said to be a contentious measure. Possibly I am taking rather too hopeful a view of this; still I think there is not likely to be much opposition. At the same time it provides for three separate matters, in two of which the public generally and certain firms and associations are distinctly interested. It is therefore desirable that the clauses of the Bill should be well scrutinised in Committee. I now move that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Hare, the Hon'ble Mr. B. L. Gupta, the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar, the Hon'ble Babu Nalin Behari Sircar and myself, with instructions to report to the Council on the 25th instant."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to Saturday, the 25th March, 1905.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 36, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; p, passing temporary showers ≏, dew; =, fog.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1905.

THE series of cold-weather depressions, which commenced in January, continued throughout February, and their characteristic features were much more notable in the latter than in the preceding month. Not only was the accompanying precipitation greater, but the succeeding cold waves were likewise more marked. In fact, the temperatures recorded were not only abnormal, but fell below the lowest recorded temperatures for Bengal by very considerable amounts.

At the beginning of the month the cold wave, which succeeded the depression of the last days in January, was just beginning to affect the province, and both day and night temperatures fell rapidly, while at the same time there was a large excess of pressure. Bright clear weather prevailed everywhere. The first indication of the advance of a fresh depression appeared on the 4th, when a slight fall of pressure took place, while at the same time an area of relatively low pressure was shewn in the United Provinces. On the 5th the depression was lying over Bengal and had deepened considerably, and though pressure commenced to rise on the morning of the 6th in the United Provinces, Bengal itself remained under the influence of this depression until the 8th, when high pressure conditions had once more re-established themselves. Though the barometer did not fall much below the normal, the disturbance was well marked and was accompanied by general, though for the most part light, rainfall. The cold which followed this storm was of a most unusual character, and the departure from the normal of the temperatures registered throughout the province was the greatest ever recorded. Ground frosts were reported from a considerable number of stations in Bengal. In Calcutta the minimum air temperature between the 9th and 10th, i e, 45° 9′ was nearly 13° below the normal

These conditions of fine cold weather with exceptionally high pressure continued practically uninterrupted till the 14th, though pressure began to fall and temperature to rise slowly on the 12th.

This change was due to the advance of a fresh depression from North-Western India, which, however, did not actually enter the province till the 18th, when it was shown as lying over the Central Provinces and the adjacent parts of Chota Nagpur and Orissa

Rain began to fall in Bihar on the 15th and gradually extended eastwards over the province. Pressure was lowest on the 17th, the centre of the depression being still in the Central Provinces, and the rainfall which was general over Bengal was also heaviest on that date.

A rapid rise of the barometer followed this storm, and pressure was again above the normal throughout the province on the 19th. Very low day temperatures were recorded during the period of rainfall, and the disappearance of the storm was succeeded by the usual fall in night temperatures. Weather remained cold and dry till the 22nd, when a small shallow area of low pressure appeared over the Central Provinces This depression was, however, too slight to affect the weather of the Province to any further extent than to cause a rise in night temperatures. The barometer notwithstanding the fall caused by this depression remained everywhere above the normal, and owing to a fresh rise which took place on the 27th excess pressure on that date was considerable. On the same day, however, low pressure again showed itself in the United Provinces, and under its influence rainfall commenced in the west of the province on the last day of the month.

Pressure was above the normal during the greater part of the month, the excess of pressure being at times large. The only period during which the barometer was below the normal were on the 6th and 7th and on the 15th, 16th and 17th of the month, which periods correspond to the two important storms which passed over the province, but the deficiency of pressure during these disturbances was never very great. The mean pressure for the month is therefore high, the excess being greater than $\frac{1}{10}$th of an inch for the whole province except Chota Nagpur.

Temperature was similarly below the normal for practically the whole month, the defect being somewhat more marked in the day than in the night temperatures. The greatest deficiency in mean maximum temperature is shown at Gaya where it amounts to 10°, while the lowest mean minimum is at Saugor Island, the defect being nearly 8°. The average of the daily mean for the month falls below the normal by more than 5° for practically the whole province. Rainfall in February was due chiefly to the storms of the 5th—7th and the 15th—18th, though some scattered showers occurred during the slightly unsettled weather of the 22nd—24th and the 26th—28th. The total rainfall was above the average for all divisions except East Bengal and Orissa, where it fell slightly below the normal In South-West and North Bengal, Orissa and Bihar the amount of rain was practically double that usually received. On the other hand, the number of rainy days was in excess of the average for all the divisions of the province

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of February 1905 :—

W. A. INGLIS,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

GENERAL CONDITIONS.

1. The revenue administration of the Dhaka Canal is vested in the Superintending Engineer of the Gandak Circle. The Divisional Canal Officer is responsible for maintaining the canal in an efficient condition, for the distribution of water to the lessees, and for the closing of the outlets in rotation when required; he is further responsible for the assessment of water-rates.

2. The Collector of the district is responsible for the collection of water-rates.

3. Except as provided in the Act and in these rules, no appeal shall lie from any order passed by a Canal Officer, but the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall modify any order passed by him in accordance with the order of the Divisional Canal Officer, and the Subdivisional Canal Officer or Divisional Canal Officer shall modify any order passed by him in accordance with the orders of the Superintending Canal Officer, who shall exercise a general control over the proceedings of all Canal Officers.

4. In appeals to the Collector under section 91 of the Act other than those especially provided for in rule 16, the Collector may require the Superintending Engineer to state his opinion in writing, which opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings of the case.

ON BLOCKS.

5. The Divisional Canal Officer shall map out the irrigable area into blocks demarcated by suitable boundaries, and in order to equalise the area to be dealt with each year, shall determine the date of expiry of the leases in each block, so that as far as practicable one-fifth of the total area usually irrigated may fall out of lease every year.

6. Each block, determined as above, shall be numbered and marked on the maps to be maintained by the Divisional Canal Officer, and shall also be recorded with its irrigable area in the registers to be kept by him.

ON APPLICATIONS.

7. Any person who requires a lease for water must apply to—

9. Villages which apply for a lease at a period less than five years in advance of the date of expiry fixed under rule 5 will only be granted leases for the remaining years of the term fixed for the block in which they are situated, so that all the leases within the same block may expire on the same date. These leases will be granted under the same conditions as 5-year leases.

10. The Divisional Canal Officer shall issue permits for long leases to the lessees through the Subdivisional Canal Officer.

11. When water is required, pending the completion of a lease for a term of years, the Subdivisional Canal Officer may, on application, grant a season lease which will be cancelled if the long lease is subsequently concluded.

12. Season leases for the supply of water at any season may be granted, on application, by the Subdivisional Canal Officer.

Persons charged under rule 26 shall be served as soon the charge is made, by post or otherwise, with a statement showing the amounts charged to enable them to lodge an appeal to the Collector under section 91 of the Act if they desire to do so.

17. The rates for water supplied between 16th June and 15th November, whether on leases for a term of years or on season leases, shall be payable in two equal instalments, falling due respectively on the 1st January and 1st February following, but all sums of Rs. 10 and under shall become due on the 1st January and be payable in one instalment.

The rates for water supplied between 16th November and 28th February shall fall due on the 1st April following.

The rates for water supplied between 1st March and 15th June shall fall due on the 1st July following.

In the latter case a written application must be made at least 20 days before the crop is cut.

20. Remissions on other grounds than the above require the sanction of Government.

21. In cases where sums due on account of water-rates cannot be collected owing to the death, bankruptcy, or absconding of the defaulter, the amount which is not realisable may be written off as irrecoverable on the authority of the Superintending Canal Officer.

22. Before awarding compensation under section 16 of the Act or making reference under section 17 of the Act, the Collector shall obtain the written opinion of the Superintending Canal Officer, and his written opinion shall form part of the record of the proceedings.

ON CULTIVATORS' REPRESENTATIVES.

23. Before a lease is entered into, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall select as representative of the cultivators a suitable person or persons who shall be generally acceptable to the cultivators, and shall each have a direct interest in the land covered by the lease Jast raiyats or gumashtas shall usually be selected, or if it is undesirable in any particular case to appoint the jait raiyats or gumashtas, the reasons for passing them over and selecting others in preference are to be noted by the Subdivisional Canal Officer in the list of cultivators' representatives to be maintained by him.

24. The person or persons so selected shall be required to give assistance to the Canal Officers in respect of the following matters:—

I.—In the preparation of applications for leases.

25. For such assistance the cultivators' representative or representatives shall be entitled to free irrigation of the lands in his or their own occupation, which may lie within the boundaries of the long lease, subject to a total limit of 3 per cent. of the area assessed. The Divisional Canal Officer may disallow this free irrigation and recover the rates, in whole or in part, from the jait raiyat or gumashta or other representative, if the assistance specified in rule 24 has not been efficiently rendered to the satisfaction of the local officers. The reasons for such disallowance are to be recorded in the list of cultivators' representatives maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officer.

ON UNAUTHORISED IRRIGATION.

26. For the unauthorised use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre shall be charged; this rate may, however, be reduced at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer.

27. When it comes to the knowledge of the Subdivisional Canal Officer that canal water has been taken in an unauthorised manner, he shall hold a local investigation; and, if he considers that the land deriving benefit is liable to assessment, he shall serve a notice on the persons concerned, fixing a date for hearing objections. Any objections made shall be taken down and the whole record forwarded to the Divisional Canal Officer for disposal.

28. The Divisional Canal Officer after hearing any objection that may be raised shall, if he is of opinion that the land should be assessed, fix the rates allowed under rule 26 and dispose of the case within one month of the receipt of the record from the Subdivisional Canal Officer. Water-rates shall not be charged where the unauthorised irrigation has occurred through the act, neglect or default of a Canal Officer or subordinate.

29. Applications for leases may be subsequently received from villages in which unauthorised irrigation has been detected, and these villages may be granted leases; in such cases the persons assessed under rule 26 shall also pay the water-rates due in respect of the lease subsequently granted, provided that the total of these two rates shall not exceed the maximum rate chargeable under rule 26. In such cases of double assessment the Divisional Canal Officer may remit, in whole or in part, the rates assessed under rule 26.

ON PENALTIES AND CANCELLING OF LEASES.

30. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any area leased for a term of years is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Canal Officer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 1st June next following.

31. The Superintending Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector, direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

(I) Cease to issue permits for the irrigation of lands in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially so ordered, until half the amount due under new applications is paid in advance. An order under this rule shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

(II) Cancel any lease for a term of years, if on the 1st June water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears.

No person shall, without the written permission of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass or cause any animal or vehicle to pass along or across any of the works, channels, or banks of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist therefrom, except by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries and their approaches as have been provided for the purpose.

33. Unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operations of these rules, no officer employed on the canal shall have any interest in the distribution of water from it, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly or in shares with others.

26. For the unauthorised use of canal water a rate of Rs. 5 per acre shall be charged: this rate may, however, be reduced at the discretion of the Divisional Canal Officer.

27. When it comes to the knowledge of the Subdivisional Canal Officer that canal water has been taken in an unauthorised manner, he shall hold a local investigation; and if he considers that the land deriving benefit is liable to assessment he shall serve a notice on the persons concerned, fixing a date for hearing objections. Any objections made shall be taken down and the whole record forwarded to the Divisional Canal Officer for disposal.

28. The Divisional Canal Officer, after hearing any objection that may be raised, shall, if he is of opinion that the land should be assessed, fix the rates allowed under rule 26 and dispose of the case within one month of the receipt of the record from the Subdivisional Canal Officer. Water-rates shall not be charged where the unauthorised irrigation has occurred through the act, neglect or default of a Canal Officer or subordinate.

29. Applications for leases may be subsequently received from villages in which unauthorised irrigation has been detected, and these villages may be granted leases; in such cases the persons assessed under rule 26 shall also pay the water-rates due in respect of the lease subsequently granted, provided that the total of these two rates shall not exceed the maximum rate chargeable under rule 26. In such cases of double assessment the Divisional Canal Officer may remit, in whole or in part, the rates assessed under rule 26.

ON PENALTIES AND CANCELLING OF LEASES.

30. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any area leased for a term of years is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Canal Officer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 1st June next following.

31. The Superintending Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector, direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

(I) Cease to issue permits for the irrigation of lands in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially so ordered, until half the amount due under new applications is paid in advance. An order under this rule shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

(II) Cancel any lease for a term of years if on the 1st June water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears.

(III) Cancel any lease the lands covered by which cannot be irrigated from the canal except by passing water over an unleased area.

MISCELLANEOUS.

32. No person shall, without the written permission of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass or cause any animal or vehicle to pass along or across any of the works, channels or banks of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist therefrom except by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries and their approaches as have been provided for the purpose.

33. Unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operations of these rules, no officer employed on the canal shall have any interest in the distribution of water from it, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly or in shares with others.

The Report of the Indian Police Commission, 1902-03.

Appointment of Commission.

IN July 1902 the Governor General in Council determined, with the approval of the Secretary of State, to appoint a strong and representative Commission to inquire into the administration of the Police in British India. This decision was the natural outcome of proceedings and correspondence which had been going on since the year 1888. The Government of India had actually before them, or in course of submission, far-reaching and costly proposals for reorganization from three large provinces, while their own examination of reports and statistics had led them to the conclusion that serious crime had increased materially, and that, owing largely to defective organization and administration, there was great need for improvement in the detective and preventive methods of the Police. Their chief reasons for appointing a Commission, instead of dealing with the matter by separate correspondence with the different local Governments, were that by a Commission alone could a homogeneous plan of reform be attained such as would secure a reasonable degree of uniformity in the organization and working of the District Police, and especially of the Railway Police whose operations extend over several provinces, and that in the process of recording evidence in public the non-official as well as the official aspects of the case would have every chance of being heard. The constitution of the Commission, the scope of their inquiries, and the method of procedure laid down for them were publicly announced in the Home Department Resolution of the 9th July 1902. A prominent feature in the scheme of operations was the arrangement by which small local Committees were appointed in each Province to conduct preliminary investigations, and to prepare a statement of the facts and conditions into which the Commission would have to inquire. This statement, together with the views of the local Government upon it, was presented to the Commission before they entered upon their inquiry, while the addition of a local member to their number during their visit to each Province offered a further guarantee for the completeness of their operations. The European members of the Commission assembled at Simla on 15th October 1902, and, after considering the local statements, proceeded to frame a set of questions covering the main heads of the subject. Copies of the questions were issued to the witnesses designated by the local Governments, and to a number of persons who came forward to give evidence in response to an invitation issued by the Commission. After examining the replies, the Commission selected for oral examination those persons whose views demanded further elucidation. In the course of their tours the Commission visited all Provinces of British India with the exception of Baluchistan; they held 50 public sittings; they received replies to their questions from 683 persons; and they examined orally 279 witnesses, most of whom had also replied to their questions. Their sittings were open to the public, and the evidence was published in the newspapers in more or less detail at the time. The Report of the Commission was signed on the 30th May 1903, seven months and a half from the commencement of their laborious investigations. That they were able within this time to deal exhaustively with a subject of such great importance and such wide range is due to the judicious manner in which their inquiries were organized, and to the fact that the ground to be covered was to some extent prepared for them by the local Committees already referred to.

Unanimity of report.

2. The Government of India regard the report of the Commission as an admirable and valuable piece of work. It is commendably brief and the conclusions are stated and argued in a concise and easily intelligible form. It bears the impress of the representative character of the Commission and of the authority which they possess in virtue of their long and varied experience; it expresses (with a single note of dissent on two collateral issues) the unanimous opinion of all the members; and it testifies throughout to the exhaustive character of their preliminary inquiries and to the care with which their final conclusions have been worked out. The Commissioners have placed before Government an able and conscientious attempt to discover a practical solution of a problem which has long been a subject of anxious consideration, and the form of which constantly varies with the changing conditions arising from the general progress of the country. The correspondence with local Governments, the substance of which is stated below, brings out the remarkable unanimity of opinion with which they have received the proposals of the Commission. There is no single recommendation of the first importance that has not been accepted by at least a majority of the Governments consulted. This is no doubt due to the procedure described above, which not only gave the amplest opportunity for the expression of all shades of opinion, but was supplemented in most provinces by personal discussion of the resolutions of the Commission with the head of the Government and his principal advisers, or with representative officers who were thoroughly conversant with local conditions.

History of police: reforms advocated by Lord Lansdowne's Government.

3. The first Chapter of the Report sketches in broad outlines the history of police organization in India. It shows how the indigenous systems of police, based upon the responsibility of the landholders or the village communities, were gradually modified by the progressive intervention of the State; how a series of experiments in different provinces culminated in the comprehensive reorganization effected by the Police Commission of 1860; and how the arrangements then introduced and improved from time to time, as Provincial resources admitted, fall short at the present day of the higher standard of efficiency which modern conditions demand.

In their anxiety to emphasize the necessity for further reform the Commission have omitted to mention the important correspondence and inquiries which, beginning in 1888, led to a large number of valuable improvements in the establishment and working of the police, involving the addition of considerable sums to the public expenditure, and laid down recommendations for further reforms which, though the conditions of the finances at the time rendered it difficult to give effect to them, would no doubt have been brought into operation had the resources of the State been able to bear the cost. Among the conclusions and recommendations of Lord Lansdowne's Government in 1890 were the following :—

(1) that the net pay of constables should be fixed at not less than R7 a month;

(2) that the pay and position of investigating and inspecting officers should be greatly improved, and that deserving inspectors of Police should be considered eligible for appointment to the Provincial Service;

(3) that a reform in the system of selecting gazetted officers (assistant district superintendents of Police) was necessary;

(4) that the District Magistrates should exercise closer supervision over the work of subordinate magistrates, especially with the object of avoiding delays in the disposal of cases;

(5) that measures should be taken to strengthen the law with respect to the prevention of offences;

(6) that the Crown should be properly represented in criminal prosecutions;

(7) that the statistical forms exhibiting the results of police action should be revised and improved, so as to enable a proper comparison to be made between those results in different provinces.

The establishment of provincial training schools for the police was due to Lord Lansdowne's Government; and the question of arming the police, and training them in the use of fire-arms, was dealt with by them in a comprehensive manner. One of the most important reforms that have been introduced in regard to the superior officers, viz., the recruitment of the European element mainly in England, was also brought into operation during the same administration.

In view of these carefully considered attempts to improve the administration of the Department, the Government of India are unable to endorse the opinion, expressed in paragraph 27 of the Report, that the efficiency of the police has been sacrificed to financial considerations. Of the measures now advocated by the Commission many of the most important had already been accepted in principle, and considerable progress had been made in bringing them into operation. If it has now been found possible to deal also with the pay and grading of the European officers, the administrative organization of the force, the railway police, the river police, and the important questions of criminal investigation and intelligence, this is because the investigation lately undertaken has exposed to view a wider area of practicable and necessary reform.

Popular opinion regarding the Police.

4. The second Chapter entitled "Popular opinion regarding the Police and their work" is a conspicuous instance of the candour which is a notable characteristic of the Report. The Commission begin by quoting the late Sir John Woodburn's opinion that the investigating staff (sub-inspectors and head constables) is "dishonest and tyrannical." In this opinion they "emphatically record their full concurrence." The five paragraphs that follow develop the general proposition, that the police are dishonest and tyrannical, into a number of particular charges against all grades of the native service. It is shown how constables extort money when making enquiries on beat, when investigating cases, and by arresting respectable people for committing nuisances; how head constables and sub-inspectors can and frequently do levy fees for all acts done in their official capacity; how every investigation yields a rich harvest to the police officer conducting it, more especially if it relates to valuable property like the alluvial lands on the great rivers of Bengal, where the shifting of the stream is constantly bringing titles into dispute; how complainants, witnesses, and accused are bullied into saying what the police wish them to say, and how an enquiry into a case results in the harassment and annoyance of all the decent people in the village. Even the inspectors are only "less dishonest than the grades below," and their reputation is such that respectable parents are unwilling to allow their sons to accept direct appointments to that rank. As regards the European superintendents the Commission observe that they are, "with the rarest exceptions, upright men beyond the influence of corruption." But they are described as having in many cases an imperfect acquaintance with the vernacular, as being out of touch with the people, especially with the respectable classes, as paying insufficient regard to public opinion, and as failing to realize the importance of their own duties.

5. The picture is painted in vivid colours, but in examining it certain considerations should be borne in mind. In the first place, it must be remembered that Chapter II is mainly a descriptive summary of the evidence given before the Commission; that it purports to present, as is indicated by the heading given to the chapter, a concise view of "popular opinion" and not to express a critical appreciation of the grounds of that opinion; and that in putting themselves in the place of the witnesses who addressed them, and entering into their point of view, the Commission have conveyed a general impression which needs qualification in the light of the remarks recorded in paragraph 30 and of the final judgment pronounced in the closing paragraph of the Report. In the former passage, after observing that their object has been "to give an account of the reputation of the police force and of the feelings of the people towards them," the Commission go on to admit that the police do as a rule desire to discover and bring to justice the persons really guilty; that the removal of a police station is generally opposed by its immediate neighbours; that there has been some improvement in the department; that the picture of inefficiency and corruption placed before them by many of the witnesses is not one of universal experience; and that the failings which have been described are due partly to the attitude and tendencies of the people themselves, and partly to the low pay and poor prospects of the members of the force. In the latter place, where conclusions only are stated and no descriptive matter intervenes, a careful distinction is drawn between the statement of fact that the police is far from efficient, that it is badly organized and supervised, and that it has failed to secure the confidence of the people; and the statement of popular opinion that it is "generally regarded as corrupt and oppressive." It is true that in the body of Chapter II the two points of view are not always clearly discriminated. The Commission begin by quoting the opinions of others; but where they agree with these, they insensibly glide into a corroboration of them which is hardly distinguishable from an independent and personal verdict. It appears to the Government of India, however, that the chapter, as a whole, should be read in the light which the foregoing observations throw upon it.

6. There are other considerations deserving of attention. In estimating the validity of the charges brought against the native members of the force, it should not be forgotten that the department is to a great extent untouched by the influence of English education and of the English traditions that accompany it, which have done so much to raise the standard and elevate the tone of the Revenue and Judicial services. Its traditions are native, and, it may be added, so are the traditional beliefs regarding it. If an ideal police could be called into existence to-morrow, it would be regarded as corrupt until it had lived down its popular reputation. So it is with individuals: the honest sub-inspector is likely to be suspected only of being more astute than his dishonest colleague. As to the European officers, many of them are admirable servants of Government, and even in cases where the disparaging remarks of the Commission may be held to apply, it may be pointed out that their deficiencies have been due in the main to the careless fashion in which young men were appointed before the present system of recruitment was introduced. The strictures upon the quality of the officers now in the Police service relate, indeed, almost entirely to those who entered it before the introduction of that system, and therefore are not required in order to enforce the Commission's argument for a reform which had already been carried out by Lord Lansdowne's Government. Nor do they admit of universal or even general application. With many of the elder generation of Indian police officers an intimate knowledge of the country and the people, combined with great activity in the discharge of their duties, made up for any shortcomings in the matter of mere book knowledge; while some have attained to conspicuous success as practical administrators. In the case of both Natives and Europeans the prospects of reform have been constantly deferred by the low scale of pay in relation to the laborious character of the work, and the physical energy, mental alertness, readiness of resource, and attention to minute details which its proper performance demands.

7. It may further be observed that even if each separate statement in the chapter is regarded as true, true statements may be so combined as to form an exaggerated picture; and this particular picture, even if read subject to the qualifications of paragraph 30, appears to the Government of India to convey an impression the acceptance of which would not be fair to the Indian police force as a whole. Each statement is doubtless true sometimes, in some places, of some people, and in some cases; perhaps often, in many places, of many people, and in many cases; but not (as is implied) almost always, of almost all people, and in almost all cases. Above all, while each individual malpractice which is described does undoubtedly exist, all of them do not exist in that combination in which Chapter II presents them. By picking out and massing together all the separate blots which at various times disfigure police work in India, the Commission have produced a picture which would, in the opinion of the Governor General in Council, give to any outside observer a somewhat over-coloured idea of the ordinary conduct of a police inquiry or of the habitual behaviour of the police, at any rate in the majority of Indian Provinces. It seems to him that the Commission have perhaps hardly made sufficient allowance for the tendency of the Indian witness to exaggerate, especially when he has a genuine grievance. Nor have they sufficiently borne in mind that much of what is called corruption is little more than a highly developed form of that system of paying expedition money which is not unknown in Europe. It must also be remembered that the giving and taking of money, whether mere gratuities or something more serious, is still traditional among the Indian people, and quite as much so among the givers as among the takers; and is objected to only when it exceeds certain recognized limits, and becomes injurious and excessive. Where the materials are inferior and the standard of personal conduct is low, the quality of the work done is bound to reflect the character of the agency employed. The subordinate police officer is worse than the similarly placed subordinate in many other Departments mainly in so far as his power and opportunities are greater.

8. But whatever view may be taken of the subject-matter of this chapter, whether it be regarded as a summary of popular opinion or as a deliberate expression of conclusions arrived at, the Governor General in Council has no hesitation in giving publicity to the Commission's statement of the case. The agency which is exposed and censured is in the main an indigenous agency; its shortcomings are by none more freely denounced than by the inhabitants of India themselves; the picture itself brings out the difficulty of the task of governing India, arising from the nature of the instruments which it is necessary to employ; and the state of affairs now, unsatisfactory as it may be, represents an immense advance on that described in the report of the Commission which investigated the cases of police torture in Madras in 1855. Nor can the Commission be accused of any racial prejudice or partiality, since their strictures have not been confined to either nationality, and since the increase of expenditure that they advocate is in the ratio of six to one upon the Indian as compared with the English constituents of the force. As is pointed out by the Commission themselves, police administration in England was, before the reforms of Sir Robert Peel, very nearly as much open to criticism as it is now in India, if due allowance is made for the different circumstances of the two countries.

Village police.

9. Chapter III of the Report deals with the important and difficult subject of the village police. Here the Commission lay down that it is of paramount importance to develop and foster the village agencies available for police work. They go on to sketch the history of the village police in the different provinces of India and to notice the extent to which it is utilised in police administration. Thus they lead up to the specific recommendations:—

(1) that the responsibilities of the village watchmen for the performance of village police duties should be recognized and enforced in every province, and that the village watchman should be a village servant, subordinate to the village headman and not to the regular police.

(2) That the supervision and control of village headmen should be entrusted to the Collector or Deputy Commissioner and his subordinate officers.

(3) That the regular periodical attendance of village watchmen at the police station is unnecessary and undesirable.

(4) That it is expedient to relegate the trial of petty offences to village headmen and panchayats, and that, where this system does not exist, it should be cautiously and experimentally introduced.

The Government of India agree entirely with the principles enunciated by the Commission. They have invited the local Governments to undertake a careful review of the village systems of the provinces with reference to the possibility of preserving them from decay by rendering them more efficient agents in the prevention and reporting of crime. This, it would seem, may best be effected by conferring upon the village officers a defined status and powers to deal judicially with certain kinds of offences. Their dignity and authority will thus be greatly enhanced, and they will be enabled to relieve the regular criminal courts of trivial cases. The question, however, is so closely connected with the systems of land tenures and village organization, which differ from province to province, that it will probably have to be dealt with by separate legislation for each province.

Regular police and cognate questions.

10. In the foregoing paragraphs the Government of India have given the reasons which led to the appointment of the Commission, have passed in review the general character of their report, have analysed and commented on certain passages which might give rise to misapprehension, and have stated the course of action that will be followed in respect of the reorganization of the village police. They now proceed, with the approval of the Secretary of State, to issue general orders on the proposals made by the Police Commission regarding the following subjects :—

(1) The organization, recruitment, training, and pay of the general Police force, and their relations to the superior District Officers (Chapters IV, XII, and paragraph 114 of the report).
(2) The Police of the Presidency towns and Rangoon (Chapter V, and paragraphs 94 to 105).
(3) Railway Police (Chapter V, paragraphs 106-112).
(4) River Police (Chapter V, paragraph 113).
(5) The Provincial Criminal Investigation Departments, and their relations to the Central Intelligence Department (Chapter VIII, paragraphs 165 to 174).
(6) Statistics and records (Chapter X).
(7) The strength and cost of the Police (Chapter XI).

These seven headings comprise practically the whole of the expenditure entailed by the Commission's proposals, with the exception of that involved in the question of buildings and of improved methods of prosecution. In discussing the substantive proposals of the Commission under these headings, and stating their decision on each point, the Government of India propose to follow the order of treatment adopted in the body of the report.

Duties of constables : beat system and employment on extraneous duties condemned.

11. Para. 53.—On the subject of the employment of constables to collect local information the Governor General in Council accepts the Commission's views. He agrees both with them and with the local Governments in condemning, as a general rule, the so-called 'beat system', under which constables are given a roving commission to make periodical visits to certain areas without being controlled by any definite instructions. At the same time he desires to leave the necessary latitude to local Governments in respect of the application of this general principle. In Burma, for example, where there are no village chaukidars, the beat system should be retained as a link between the headman and the police station, the functions of the beat constable being preventive not detective, and the rules being modified so as to render them less rigid and to guard against the constable's visit becoming an occasion for oppression. In Bombay the tracts of country on the ghâts inhabited by lawless classes, and certain areas interlaced with native territory, may require constant patrol by armed police and the retention of protective outposts of the kind referred to by the Commission in para. 57 of their report. In all provinces, again, there are places where road patrols will be required.

The further proposal that constables should not be employed on extraneous duties is universally accepted, though it is doubtful whether it can be fully applied in Bengal. In a province which at present possesses neither land revenue subordinates nor village communal officials, the police are the only agency that can be employed for various miscellaneous duties. To take a recent illustration, it is certain that without the assistance both of the regular and of the village police no census could ever have been taken in the Lower Provinces.

Constables : local recruitment approved, subject to certain exceptions.

12. Para. 54.—The principle of the local recruitment of constables is generally accepted. It must, however, be regarded as subject to exceptions in certain provinces, as, for example, in Bengal, where the natives of Bengal proper and most Uriyas are unfitted by physique and temperament for the duties and discipline required. In Bengal and Orissa, therefore, it may be anticipated that a considerable stiffening of natives of Behar and Upper India will always be necessary. The same remarks apply, though in a less degree, to the Central Provinces. The matter is one in respect of which the conditions of different provinces differ greatly, and the Government of India are disposed to accept, at any rate for tracts similarly situated, the view stated by the Inspector-General of Police in the United Provinces, that although men should not ordinarily be required to serve at a great distance from their homes, yet the bulk of the district force should be composed of persons who do not belong to the district. In particular the portion of the force which is retained as an armed reserve for the purpose of securing public tranquillity must, it is evident, be drawn from those localities where the best material is to be found, and local recruitment would in this case not unfrequently fail to secure a proper standard of military efficiency.

Constables' training to be at central schools, except in Burma.

13. Para. 55.—All local Governments but one accept the views of the Commission as to the training of constables at central schools. The United Provinces Government objects on the grounds (1) that the prospect of being drafted to a distant school would deter many men of the best class from entering the police; (2) that a central school could not be established without increasing the line of cleavage between the armed and the unarmed branches; (3) that the Government could not find the money for the necessary buildings for a long time to come. On the other hand, the local Inspector-General approves strongly of the proposal to establish central schools, and observes that for the reasons given by the Commission there can be no effective training of constables in district reserves. The first of the objections taken by the United Provinces Government will probably be removed by the increase of pay which will reduce the disinclination of the constable to serve at a distance from his home while under training. The second is too indefinite to call for serious examination. As regards the cost of establishing the schools, the Government of India think it likely that the estimates can be sufficiently reduced under other heads to meet this item of expenditure, and that a certain number of buildings will in course of time be set free by the operation of other causes. They are not therefore disposed to admit the objections taken by the local Government. The case of Burma, on the other hand, is peculiar, and in that province, where most police recruits are married men, the Governor General in Council, following the recommendation of the Commission, agrees to the retention of the system of district training as being better suited to the characteristic usages of the people.

Constables' minimum pay to be fixed by local Government, with special allowances in particular localities.

14. Para. 56.—The recommendations of the Commission relating to constables are among the most important from the financial point of view, since in their original form they involve an increased expenditure of 44 lakhs, of which 24 lakhs is on account of enhanced pay. Even as since modified the increase under the head of unmounted constables costs ₹33,39,826, of which ₹19,96,846 represents increased pay, and ₹13,42,880 increased numbers. This increase of strength is required, not only to provide a sufficient reserve for ordinary duties, but also to guarantee the tranquillity of the country in the event of military operations on or beyond the frontier occupying the bulk of the troops now cantoned throughout India. The provision of additional men is therefore a matter of high importance, both military and civil, and the Government of India are of opinion that it should take precedence, in combination with the general increase in constables' pay, in the application of such funds as may be available for improving the police system. As regards initial pay, the Commission propose a minimum of ₹8 in India, or ₹12 in Burma, with local allowances where the minimum is deemed too low. Five local Governments accept the suggestion. The Madras Government considered, when the question was first referred to them, that ₹7 would be sufficient if local allowances of ₹2 were given in districts where recruitment is difficult. They have since represented that the inadequacy of ₹7 as the minimum pay of a police constable is daily becoming more apparent, and not only hampers recruitment but prevents the retention of suitable men in the force. For these reasons, which they enforce by specific instances, they now express their concurrence in the recommendations of the Commission. The Bengal Government, while maintaining that the Commission were right in fixing R8 as the minimum pay, is prepared for the present to accept a minimum of R7 in certain districts where the standard of living is admittedly low. The United Provinces Government suggests that an initial pay of R7, rising after three years to R8, and after five years more to R9, will be sufficient. In view of the variety which exists throughout India in local conditions as to the cost of living and the wages required to attract a suitable class of men, the Government of India, while agreeing that a good case has been made out for raising the minimum pay (though not entirely for the reasons which have been stated by the Commission), think it unnecessary to insist on absolute uniformity in this respect, and have therefore decided that those local Governments who consider that a minimum of R7 is sufficient for constables should be allowed to retain that limit, and that a minimum of R8 should not be prescribed for general adoption. Even where the initial pay is not raised the position of a constable will be greatly improved by the abolition of deductions from pay and the concession of local allowances in special tracts.

Constables: to receive increments of R1 after 3, 10 and 17 years' approved service.

15. The Commission propose that a constable should receive an increment of R1 after three years' service, and again on the completion of eight and fifteen years' service. On this point, while the principle advocated by the Commission is generally accepted, there is some difference of opinion among local Governments as to the precise method in which it should be applied. The Madras Government propose an increment of R1 at five years, ten years and seventeen years' service; the Bombay Government would give two increments only, the first at five years and the second at ten years; the Punjab Government suggests intervals of five, twelve and twenty years; the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces would give two increments only, at any rate until the lowest grade of head constable on R12 has been abolished; the Chief Commissioner of Coorg would give a minimum pay of R9 and an increment of R1 after three and four years respectively. By way of compromise among these various opinions the Government of India have decided that three increments of R1 each should be given after three, ten, and seventeen years' approved service. It is important that the first increment should accrue at an early stage in order to remove the temptation to resign prematurely, and that the final increment should not come too late to induce a man to serve his full time and to enable him to enjoy the higher pay for a reasonable period before he takes his pension. When the prospects of the service are thus improved, stress may properly be laid on the condition, indicated by the Commission, that increments should be given only to men who really deserve them, and should not be awarded by seniority as a matter of course.

Constables: to get free kits, but no good-conduct pay.

16. The Government of India accept the general opinion that the practice of making deductions from the pay of constables on account of kit and other charges should cease, and that the pay fixed should be handed over to the men in full. This necessary reform was contemplated by Lord Lansdowne's Government as long ago as 1890, when they suggested to all local Governments, except Madras, that, if possible, no constable should receive less pay than R7 net. They also agree in thinking that if increments are given on the scale and in the manner now sanctioned there will be no necessity for maintaining the existing system of good-conduct pay.

Constables: to get local allowances in special tracts.

17. The Government of India also agree with the local Governments in accepting the Commission's view that local allowances should be given in special tracts where the provincial minimum pay would be too low. This will meet the difficulties of recruitment that have been experienced in parts of Madras, the Central Provinces, and Burma.

Constables: to get two annas a day when deputed beyond inspector's circle.

18. The Commission propose that when a constable is sent on duty to any considerable distance beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of the station he should be granted an allowance of two annas a day. The Government of India regard this proposal as too indefinite, though the rate suggested is fair, and they have decided to restrict its application by declaring a constable's jurisdiction for the purpose of article 1039, Civil Service Regulations, to be coterminous with the limits of the inspector's circle. The allowance will be two annas a day in India, and four annas in Burma.

Head constables: pay to be R15, R17-8, and R20.

19. Para. 57.—All Governments, except the United Provinces, agree with the Commission's proposal to fix the pay of head constables at R15, R20 and R25, except in Burma where the rates should be R5 higher. As these officers will almost invariably be promoted constables, the United Provinces Government suggests that it will for some time suffice to maintain the three grades now in existence, and to raise the pay of each by R2. The Government of India agree with the Commission that head constables should not be put in charge of police-stations, or employed, except in unavoidable emergencies, as investigating officers; and that they should exercise subordinate authority over a number of constables, or should be employed on clerical work. Seeing that their responsibilities will thus be greatly reduced, and that a certain proportion of them will have a chance of rising to be sub-inspectors, their rates of pay may properly be fixed at R15, R17-8 and R20. The last figure is the maximum pay of a non-commissioned officer of the Indian Army. This will effect a reduction of rather more than four lakhs in the increased cost (estimated by the Commission at R8,81,000) of the proposals under this head.

Sub-inspectors: recruitment to be direct as far as possible; a certain proportion to be promoted head constables.

20. Para. 58.—The next question relates to the recruitment of sub-inspectors, who will be in charge of police stations, and will be responsible for the investigation of cases throughout the country. This is perhaps the most important class of officers in the whole force, and on it the largest amount of additional expenditure will be incurred, the number being increased from 5,500 to 9,900, and the cost from R33,39,000 to R78,65,000. The Commission propose that sub-inspectors should be recruited direct between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five; that their educational standard should not be lower than the matriculation or the school final examination; and that promotions from the class of head constable should be limited to fifteen per cent. of the vacancies. The opinions of local Governments are generally in accord with these views. The Bengal Government considers that the educational test should vary in different parts of the province. The United Provinces Government observes that in the present state of education it is not possible to insist on the qualifications suggested by the Commission without excluding the most desirable candidates. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces suggests that half of the sub-inspectors who are directly appointed should be selected by competition among men nominated by magistrates of districts. This suggestion is not in accordance with accepted educational policy and cannot be adopted. The Government of India admit the general principle that sub-inspectors should, as far as possible, be recruited direct, and that a maximum proportion of appointments should be fixed for each province for promotion to this class from that of head constables. In view, however, of the great difference between provinces and parts of provinces in respect of education, it seems to the Governor General in Council that uniformity in this matter is not attainable, and that the local Government should fix the highest qualifications it thinks suitable, reporting to the Government of India, for confirmation, the standard adopted. As regards the maximum proportion of appointments to be filled by the promotion of head constables, the Bombay Government recommends twenty-five per cent. and the Punjab twenty per cent., to be reduced in each case gradually to fifteen per cent. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces would leave the matter to the discretion of local Governments, and observes that he himself would give preference to those who possessing the requisite educational qualifications, have entered as head constables or even as constables and have worked their way up. On the other hand, the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province would fix the maximum for promotions from the lower rank at not less than sixty-six per cent. In view of the diversity of local conditions, the Government of India doubt whether it would be feasible, even in the larger provinces, to insist upon a uniform standard, and they therefore propose to determine the proportion for each province separately, on a consideration of all the circumstances, in communication with the local Government concerned.

Sub-inspectors: to be trained in central schools.

21. Para 59.—The Commission propose that all sub-inspectors should be trained in a central school, and should then undergo a probationary year of practical training. This plan has generally commended itself to local Governments, and is approved by the Government of India.

Sub-inspectors: pay R50 to R100 in five grades except in Burma.

22. Para. 60.—The Commission recommend that the pay of sub-inspectors should be fixed at R50, rising to R80 in four grades. The Governments of Madras, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Assam agree to this proposal; the Bombay Government are willing to accept it, but would prefer to make the minimum salary R60 and the maximum R125; the Bengal Government is inclined to add a grade on R100, which would include 100 out of the 474 appointments in the R80 grade; while the United Provinces Government considers the proposals needlessly liberal and would retain the existing grading, raising the pay R10 all round. In view of this difference of opinion the Government of India consider it unnecessary to insist upon the same scale everywhere. The guiding principle is that the status of sub-inspectors should be placed on a par with that of naib-tahsildars, or corresponding officers, on the revenue side of the administration; and, subject to this condition the Government of India will now proceed to fix the pay of sub-inspectors for each province in communication with the local Government or Administration concerned. For this purpose the Governor General in Council has decided to lay down as a maximum standard a scale of pay consisting of five grades on R50, R60, R70, R80 and R100, the last being a small grade, comprising only five per cent. of the officers concerned. The lowest grade should also be relatively small as it will consist mainly of probationers. In respect of pay this proposal is substantially identical with that made by Lord Lansdowne's Government in 1890. The distribution among the grades will be as follows:—

1st	on R100	...	...	...	...	5 per cent.
2nd	„ 80	...	...	...	...	20 „
3rd	„ 70	...	...	...	...	25 „
4th	„ 60	...	...	...	...	34 „
5th	„ 50	...	...	...	...	16 „

In Burma circumstances are peculiar, and the Government of India accept the local Government's proposal to institute a 6th grade on R40 to be filled by men with a good vernacular education but no knowledge of English. Here exceptional treatment is justified by the fact that men with the requisite qualifications can be obtained in Burma for that rate of pay. Similarly in the case of Coorg, where, as is explained below, the pay of inspectors must be lower than elsewhere, a somewhat lower scale is necessary for sub-inspectors. The Chief Commissioner proposes rates of R40, R50 and R60, but the Governor General in Council prefers an initial pay of R50 with two other grades on R60 and R70.

While at a training school probationary sub-inspectors should receive R25 a month as proposed by the Commission. In respect of horse allowance there is some small difference of opinion, the Bombay Government proposing R20 for the Presidency proper and R15 for Sind, and the United Provinces Government suggesting R10. The local Governments will be empowered to fix the horse allowance up to a maximum of R15. The proposal to give an advance for the purchase of uniform, horse, etc., is generally accepted by local Governments and is approved by the Government of India.

Inspectors: usually to be selected from among sub-inspectors; not more than 10 per cent. to be appointed direct.

23. Para. 61.—The next question for determination relates to the recruitment and duties of inspectors of police. The Commission propose that inspectors should be selected from among sub-inspectors, but that Government should reserve the power to appoint direct a certain number, not exceeding twenty per cent. Local Governments generally agree with this view. The Bombay Government would appoint only five per cent. direct; the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces would limit outside appointments to ten per cent; and the United Provinces Government would lay down no hard-and-fast rules on the subject. The Chief Commissioner of Assam, on the other hand, lays stress on the effect of educational influences in raising the tone of the public service in India, and would therefore reserve one-third of the vacancies for direct appointment. The object in view will, however, equally be attained under the present scheme by means of the higher educational qualifications required from sub-inspectors; while it is obvious that the efficiency of the force would be liable to be impaired if so large a proportion of these important posts were reserved for young men with no previous experience of police work. The Government of India consider that the rule should be that inspectors should ordinarily be appointed by promotion from among sub-inspectors, but that direct appointment should be permitted up to a maximum of ten per cent. of vacancies. The duties of inspectors will be to hold charge of circles comprising several police stations, or a large town; and within these they will exercise general supervision and should be ready to assist in investigations. They will, in short, be responsible to the superintendent for all police work in their circle.

Inspectors: pay R150 to R200 in three grades, with a few special appointments on R250.

24. Para. 62.—The Commission propose that the pay of inspectors should range from R150 to R200 in three grades, a few special appointments on R250 being reserved for good officers who are unfit for further promotion. The balance of opinion among local Governments is in favour of these views. The Madras Government, however, recommend a scale of pay from R110 to R250 in four grades, in order to reduce the interval between the pay of a first grade sub-inspector and the lowest grade of inspector, and to make the scale approach more closely to that of tahsildars. The United Provinces Government divides inspectors into the three classes of circle, court, and reserve inspectors, and suggests a somewhat more liberal scale of pay for the two latter classes. It further proposes to abolish all allowances with the exception of the allowance of R25 a month granted to the kotwals of six large cities. The Madras suggestion that the pay of the lowest grade of inspectors should be R110 does not commend itself to the Government of India in view of the facts that in 1890 Lord Lansdowne's Government considered that the minimum pay for inspectors all over India ought to be R150, and that the decision to fix the maximum pay of a sub-inspector at R100 will reduce the interval to which the Madras Government take exception. The proposals of the Commission regarding the pay of inspectors are based upon the view that the duties and responsibilities of these officers in police matters are analogous to those of tahsildars in respect of revenue business, and that unless the pay of the two departments is so far assimilated as to attract much the same kind of men it will be impossible to secure suitable candidates for the police. In the case of sub-inspectors the principle of equalising, so far as may be, the prospects of police and revenue officers, has already been accepted by the Government of India, and they have decided also to apply it to the grade of inspectors, which will be recruited chiefly by promotion from among station-house officers. They accordingly sanction the Commission's recommendation that the scale of pay should run from R150 to R200 in three grades, with a few special appointments on R250. An exception should be made in the case of Coorg, where tahsildars and subordinate magistrates receive only R100, R125, and R150, and inspectors of police should be paid on the same scale. The local allowances to kotwals in a few large cities in the United Provinces will be retained by reason of the special status and obligations of these officers. As regards travelling allowances the Government of India have decided to grant to circle inspectors a daily allowance of R1 when absent from headquarters, and to sanction fixed horse or conveyance allowances for inspectors in charge of towns and prosecuting and reserve inspectors.

European officers: method of recruitment.

25. The proposals of the Commission on the important subject of the recruitment and training of the European officers of the Police are contained in paragraphs 63 and 64 of the report and are summarised in Chapter XII as follows:—

(1) That the recruitment of the European service should be by competitive examination in England, on the same conditions as at present, except that the age limit for candidates should be 18 to 20.

(2) That successful candidates should be required to undergo a two years' course of training at an English residential university where there is a Board of Indian studies, each candidate receiving an allowance during this period of £100 a year; and that the course of study should include criminal law and practice, taking of notes of cases in the criminal courts, an Indian vernacular, Indian history, geography and ethnology, and riding. Probationers should also be required to join a volunteer corps and become efficient.

(3) That in addition to this probationary training in England each Assistant Superintendent should, on arrival in India, be attached for one session to the provincial training school.

Views of local Governments.

26. Concerning the expediency of recruiting the European branch of the service solely by competition in England, and thus debarring from it the European born in India, there is some difference of opinion among the local Governments consulted. The Madras Government report that on the only three occasions when candidates for the police were selected locally, all of them had received their education in England; and that the chief result of local recruitment hitherto has been to admit young men educated in England who came out to India because they had no hope of entering the service by competition at home. They observe that Europeans born in India are statutory natives, and that, as such, they would be eligible for the provincial service, and would have a chance of becoming superintendents by promotion. The Bombay Government are emphatically in favour of recruitment by competitive examination in England, and would not go further in the direction of local recruitment than to provide that Europeans may be appointed in India with the sanction of the Governor General in Council. The Bengal Government is strongly opposed to recruitment in this country for the Indian as distinguished from the provincial police service. If this view is not accepted, the Lieutenant-Governor recommends that the number of vacancies filled in India should be as few as possible and that no officer should be recruited in this country who has been educated in England. The United Provinces Government dwells upon the increased facilities for obtaining a cheap education in England, and the tendency of Anglo-Indian parents at the present day to send their sons home, which it considers not likely to be checked by any improvement of European schools in India. On the other hand, the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab remarks that he knows from personal experience that nomination in India, though it has given the service some of the worst, has also produced some of the best police-officers. He would therefore recruit annually for one appointment in India, provided that a suitable candidate is forthcoming. The Lieutenant-Governor of Burma says that he has had no experience of Anglo-Indians enlisted by competition in India, but on general grounds he thinks that a limited number of youths of this class should be recruited in India by nomination followed either by a qualifying examination or by competition. For Burma he would prefer nomination without competition. The Chief Commissioner of Assam would reserve a certain number of appointments for competition in India among boys nominated by headmasters of Anglo-Indian schools. The Chief Commissioners of Coorg and the North-West Frontier Province are also in favour of making some direct appointments in India.

27. The question turns upon the individual capacity of a few members of a large and not altogether homogeneous community for the discharge of duties demanding certain qualifications which the education and surroundings of the class to which they belong do not ordinarily tend to produce. The factors of problem are in themselves obscure, and the divergence of views on the part of competent authorities points to the difficulty of arriving at any certain conclusion. The Secretary of State is strongly impressed with the expediency, urged upon him by officers of long and recent experience in India, of keeping open the higher branches of the Police to that class of Europeans whose knowledge of the people, their language, and their ways has in the past given to the service some of its best and most skilled officers. It seems to him probable that if domiciled Europeans are compelled by a change in the rules to send their sons who aspire to Police employment to England for their education, the result will be the loss of that intimate knowledge of native habits and modes of thought, which has hitherto distinguished police officers drawn from this class. The Secretary of State also feels very strongly that a decision which closed the superior service (except in the provincial branch) to a class which has hitherto been among the most successful in it would be greatly and not unjustifiably resented. He is unable to admit that for police purposes the locally educated European must necessarily be inferior, as is suggested by the Commission in paragraph 69 of their report, and he thinks that the arguments in favour of continuing to utilise him, as he has hitherto been utilised, greatly preponderate. It has, therefore, been decided, as the best solution of the matter, to reserve to the Governor General in Council the power to make such appointments in exceptional cases on the special recommendation of a local Government in favour of an individual, and subject to the condition that the candidate put forward has attained an adequate standard of educational qualifications.

Conclusions of Secretary of State.

28. While admitting the necessity for subjecting European police officers to a thorough preliminary training, both general and special, in subjects a knowledge of which will tend to produce professional efficiency, the Government of India have ultimately determined, after considering various alternative proposals, that it will not be expedient to confer this training at any of the English Universities. They recognise that there is something to be said for the view advocated by the Commission that the elements of the Indian vernaculars are acquired by Europeans most correctly from European teachers, who are accustomed to take note of linguistic difficulties, and are best qualified to explain to students those points in the structure of a vernacular language which have given themselves most trouble in acquiring it; but they see no reason why, in the training schools in India to which candidates will be sent on arrival, instruction of this kind should not be forthcoming. Indian ethnology, again, cannot be studied in Europe with the fulness with which it can be studied in India, where the necessary illustrations are at hand; and valuable as a course of reporting cases in Court may be in teaching the elements of procedure in police cases, there is so much difference between Indian and English criminal practice that the Government of India cannot regard this part of the proposed training as essential.

European officers: method of training.

29. For these reasons the Government of India are of opinion that the training of probationary Assistant Superintendents must be carried out in India, that they should proceed to this country as soon as they have been pronounced fit for service and have passed in riding, and that they should remain at a training school in India for not less than eighteen months. This is the view taken by all local Governments, with the exception of the Chief Commissioner of Assam, who proposes to place probationers for two years under selected district superintendents, and the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province, who would give eighteen months' training partly at provincial head-quarters and partly at a police-station and at a district head-quarters. The necessary arrangements will be made in consultation with local Governments for the course of study to be pursued, under well qualified teachers, at these schools which the Governor General in Council regards as of the utmost importance to the efficiency of the Indian Police service. He is disposed to agree with the opinion expressed by some authorities that they should not be located at Presidency towns.

30. Para. 65.—All Governments, except the United Provinces, accept the proposals of the Commission to fix the pay of assistant superintendents at R300, R400 and R500 in three grades. In view of improved prospects and easier pension conditions the United Provinces Government thinks it unnecessary to raise the pay of the first grade beyond R450. It desires also to retain the local allowance of R100 now attached to the charge of the subdivision of Lalitpur, to give similar allowances for Kassia and Karwi, and to grant an allowance of R50 on account of dearness of living in six stations. The Government of India adopt the Commission's proposals as to rates of pay. With regard to the further opinion that no local allowances should be granted, on the general ground that these can no longer be justified when the pay and prospects of the service have been materially improved, the Governor General in Council will leave it open to local Governments to propose the retention of such allowances in places where living is exceptionally dear.

District Superintendents: pay R700, R800, R900, R1,000, and 1,200.

31. As regards the pay of superintendents the proposals of the Commission have been generally approved by local Governments. The Madras Government, however, suggest that the pay of the highest grade of superintendent should be fixed at R1,100. The United Provinces Government advocates a scale rising from R600 to R1,000 in addition to local allowances aggregating R9,600 a year. The Lieutenant-Governor considers a grade on R1,200 unnecessary in itself and inconsistent with the proposal which he makes regarding Deputy Inspectors-General. Nor does he think it necessary that an officer should rise at once from R500 as a first grade assistant to R700 as a fifth grade district superintendent, and he suggests the introduction of a small grade of R600 in which a man would not remain long. The Burma Government recommends that for superintendents the rates in force for executive engineers should be introduced with an improved grading and a similar system of increments for approved service. Whatever rates may be adopted for India he thinks that superintendents in Burma should get R100 and assistants R50 in excess of the Indian scale. In support of his proposal the Lieutenant-Governor refers to the case of the Forest and Public Works services, and observes that in regrading the Burma Commission the pay of 1st grade assistant commissioners was fixed at R1,000 in consideration of the high cost of living in Burma. It is true that officers of the two former services, when employed in Burma on pay not exceeding R900 or R1,000 a month, receive a local allowance of R100, and that the same concession has recently been extended to officers of the Indian Medical Service on pay not exceeding R1,000. But the reason is that these services are Imperial, that they are not recruited specially for Burma, and that it is necessary to give them some compensation for the disadvantages of serving in that province. This argument cannot, in the opinion of the Government of India, be extended to the police, and the special rates proposed could only be justified on the general ground that recruitment for the Indian police as a whole would be injuriously affected by the liability to be posted to Burma on the system of selection by rotation which obtains in the case of the Indian Civil Service. It is impossible at present to say that this would be the case, and the Governor General in Council is not prepared to entertain the Burma proposal until its necessity has been proved by experience. The Chief Commissioner of Assam, while generally accepting the recommendations of the Commission, thinks that the pay of a fifth grade superintendent might be fixed at R600. After considering carefully the views of the local Governments the Government of India have decided to accept the Commission's proposals as to the pay of District Superintendents of Police.

District Superintendents: only men fit for the most important districts to be promoted beyond R900.

32. The Bombay Government demur to the proposal that superintendents should not be promoted beyond the class of R900 if they are considered unfit to hold charge of the most important districts, on the ground that the question is a delicate one and extremely difficult to pronounce upon finally. The condition, however, is strictly analogous to that under which members of the executive branch of the provincial service receive promotion up to R400 by seniority, and reach the higher grades only by selection, and the Government of India have no hesitation in approving it.

33. Paras. 66 and 68.—All local Governments save one agree with the proposal of the Commission to create a Provincial Police service to be filled by natives of India called deputy superintendents, who are qualified for the existing provincial services. Their functions and their departmental status will be similar to those of assistant superintendents; they will help the superintendent in his duties of control and supervision, and will relieve him of office routine so that he may be more free to tour about his district. This new class of officers will be distributed among four grades on pay rising from R250 to R500. The United Provinces Government, however, suggests that the pay should range from R250 to R450 in five grades so as not to exceed the maximum which it proposes for assistant superintendents. As the latter suggestion has been rejected, the argument no longer holds good and the Government of India sanction the recommendation of the Commission. They observe that this proposal was cordially accepted by the Maharaja of Darbhanga failing the acceptance of the alternative put forward by him in the second part of his note of dissent. The Governor General in Council trusts that it may be found possible to secure good material for this class, on whose judicious selection will greatly depend the enlistment of the sympathies of educated Indians on the side of the police, and who will furnish the source from which Indian district superintendents may eventually be drawn.

Deputy Superintendents: to be natives of India qualified for provincial service; pay R250, R300, R400, R500.

34. Para. 67.—There is general agreement among local Governments that it would be inexpedient to reserve a certain fixed number of district superintendentships of police for natives of India, and the Government of India accept this view. Deputy superintendents, however, will be eligible for promotion to district charges where their fitness is fully established. When thus promoted their pay will run from R600 to R900 in four classes as proposed by the Commission.

Native District Superintendents: to be appointed when fit, but no appointments to be reserved.

35. Para. 70.—For Deputy Inspectors-General the Commission propose three grades of pay—R1,500, R1,750 and R2,000. In referring the question to local Governments the Government of India remarked that these rates appeared to them to be probably unnecessarily high. The Madras Government observe that Deputy Inspectors-General of Police may be taken to correspond with Conservators of Forests and Superintending Engineers of the Public Works Department. As none of these officers receive more than R1,600, they think that the pay of the three grades of Deputy Inspector-General should be R1,600, R1,400 and R1,200, and that the pay of the highest grade of district superintendents should be fixed at R1,100. The Bombay Government also refer to the Forest and Public Works Departments, but consider that, having regard to the importance of securing good men for the police, the rates proposed by the Commission are not unreasonably high. They are, however, not prepared to say that a maximum of R1,800 is not sufficient, provided the five appointments required in Bombay are graded so as to give two on R1,800, one on R1,650 and two on R1,500. The United Provinces Government thinks that the pay proposed by the Commission would put the senior Deputy Inspectors-General on a better footing than heads of departments, such as the Inspector-General of Prisons or the Sanitary Commissioner. In view of the improved prospects of pension it proposes a scale of R1,200, R1,500 and R1,800. The Burma Government also refers to the Forest and Public Works Departments, and remarks that Deputy Inspectors-General hold rank corresponding to that of Conservators and Superintending Engineers, who are graded on R1,400 to R1,600. The Lieutenant-Governor points out that in the two departments named there is approximately one prize appointment to eight other appointments, whereas in the police the proportion will be only one to twenty. At the same time he apprehends difficulty if the rates of pay in the police exceed those of corresponding appointments in other departments, and suggests that Deputy Inspectors-General should be graded at R1,400, R1,600 and R1,800.

Deputy Inspectors-General: pay R1,500 and R1,800.

The new scheme of pay proposed by the Commission for Deputy Inspectors-General appears to the Government of India to be higher than the circumstances of the case demand in view of the fact that police officers will continue to be eligible for the appointment of Inspector-General. They further apprehend that the result of adopting it would be to create dissatisfaction with the present scale of remuneration in other Indian services. In their opinion it is not probable that this dissatisfaction would be removed by considerations drawn from the general average of pay in the police. For these reasons, and also having regard to the duties which these officers will have to perform, the Governor General in Council has decided that two grades of pay on R1,500 and R1,800 will be sufficient.

36. Concurring with the local Governments the Government of India have decided that the appointment of Deputy Inspector-General should be made by selection from among superintendents, and should be regarded as the highest prize absolutely reserved for the police department. They also agree with the Commission and with the local Governments in thinking that Deputy Inspectors-General of Police should be eligible for an additional pension of R1,000 a year.

Deputy Inspectors-General to be eligible for additional pension of R1,000.

37. The proposal made at the end of paragraph 70 of the report to introduce a system of family pensions seems to the Government of India to have been insufficiently considered. The Commission have not referred to the existence of a provident fund nor to the fact that police-officers may subscribe to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund; and the recommendation involves the extension to a number of other services of a general principle which has at present been applied only to the Army and the Indian Civil Service. As at present advised therefore the Government of India do not intend to proceed further in the matter.

38. Para. 71.—For the appointment of Inspector-General the Commission propose a pay of R2,500—100—3,000 in the larger provinces; a local allowance of R250 a month in Assam and the Central Provinces; and in the North-West Frontier Province the pay of a first class Deputy Inspector-General, R2,000 a month. All local Governments agree except Bombay and Assam. The former remark that the pay of a second grade Commissioner is R3,000 and they propose that when the appointment is held by a civilian it should be graded as a Commissionership and the salary fixed at R3,000. But it is evidently undesirable to make exceptions in particular provinces to the general scale; and the Commission's proposal really secures all that is needed. By the time a district magistrate selected as Inspector-General has become eligible for promotion to a Commissionership he will probably have attained the maximum pay of his rank, and it is not intended that an officer should enter the Inspector-Generalship when he has already become a Commissioner, but merely that, having taken the appointment as a magistrate, he should have no pecuniary inducement to leave it when promoted to the charge of a division. The object which the Bombay Government have in view—the retention of an Inspector-General for a substantial time—will thus be attained; and the Government of India are unable to accept their modification of the Commission's proposal.

Inspector-General: pay in larger provinces R2,500—100—3,000; in Central Provinces local allowance of R250 subject to maximum of R2,500; in Assam R2,250.

In view of the small size of the province and of the fact that the Inspector-General of Police has been relieved of excise work, the Chief Commissioner of Assam is not sure that an allowance of R250 in addition to the officer's pay as a member of the Commission is needed. If no material change is made in the extent of that province it seems to the Government of India sufficient that the maximum salary should be R2,250 a month. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces has not referred to the proposals of the Commission. Since the addition of Berar the pay of the Inspector-General has been increased by a local allowance sufficient to bring his emoluments up to those of a first grade deputy commissioner, viz., R2,250 a month. The Government of India think, however, that in the Central Provinces (as in other provinces except Assam) the maximum pay should be equivalent to that of the lowest grade of Commissioner. They have decided, therefore, that the Inspector-General of the Central Provinces should be given the pay of his rank, plus an allowance of R450, subject to a maximum of R2,500.

The Commission recommend that the appointment of Inspector-General should for the present ordinarily be held by a selected district magistrate, but that in exceptional cases police officers may also be eligible. The appointment is one of such importance that the Government of India deem it undesirable to make any announcement on this subject which would tie the hands of the Government in future, and they would leave to local Governments full discretion to fill the post either from the Indian Civil Service or from the Police as may seem most expedient. For the reasons stated by the Commission the Inspector-General should not be a Secretary to Government, but he should have free access to the head of the local Government and should communicate unofficially with the secretariat.

Armed reserves: history of question.

39. In paragraphs 72 to 77 of their report the Commission deal with the subject of the armed police reserves and the military police in British India. These forces must be organized in such a manner as to enable them to deal promptly and effectually with ordinary tumults and local disturbances without the aid of the military arm, and also to render effective help in maintaining internal security in the event of a general mobilization of the field army. In view of the importance of the subject the Government of India deem it advisable to refer in some detail to the past discussions relating to it.

In 1886 certain religious disturbances in Northern India led Lord Dufferin's Government to consider the question of police reserves. In addressing local Governments on the subject they called attention to the principles laid down by the Police Commission of 1860 and recognized on subsequent occasions, viz.:—

(i) that the functions of a civil police were to protect the community against all local criminal classes and to put down all riots and local disturbances;

(ii) that they should be so far drilled and disciplined as to enable them to deal with large bodies of non-military men;

(iii) that they should only carry arms where there is a chance of their often having to deal with armed or desperate men, or when employed on duties the nature of which required them to be armed;

(iv) that the strength of the force should be no greater than is needed for purely police purposes, a reserve being kept at some headquarters to be available against sudden local outbreaks.

After considering the replies of local Governments Lord Lansdowne's Government decided in March 1889 (i) that the principles laid down in 1860 should be strictly adhered to, and that as far as possible the arrangements then proposed should be preserved or restored as the case might be; (ii) that a sufficient reserve should be maintained, if possible, in every district, but at all events at convenient centres, to put down all riots and local disturbances, and ready, or capable of being concentrated, for extraordinary emergencies; (iii) that the reserves should form part of the district force, and should not be relieved of all escort duty; (iv) that all recruits should, as far as possible, pass through the reserve, and be capable of serving with it as occasion might require; (v) that Snider rifles should only be given to special reserves employed as military police or against dacoits; that the ordinary reserves did not require rifles, but ought to have such arms as would enable them to deal effectively with large bodies of rioters at close quarters; and that a suitable weapon for this purpose would be a breech-loading smooth-bore carbine to fire ball or buckshot.

40. The principles adopted by the Government of India in 1889 for the organization of the reserves have not been modified by any subsequent orders. The system has not, however, been developed in all provinces on the lines intended, and in Bombay and the United Provinces the force has been divided into armed and unarmed branches. The Police Commission condemn this arrangement on the ground that it either imposes a heavy strain on the armed branch, or leads to an unnecessarily extravagant scale of establishment, and recommend a reversion to the plan approved by the Government of India in 1889, under which all the members of the force are to be taught the use of arms and instructed in drill. The Commission further propose that there should be at the head-quarters of each district, or perhaps, where the districts are small, at convenient centres in groups of districts, a body of armed police called the head-quarters force, available for the performance of all guard, orderly and escort duties at head-quarters, including the supply of escorts to bring in treasure and sometimes prisoners from sub-divisional stations, and that a certain proportion of this force, which might ordinarily be fixed at 25 constables and 2 head constables, should be kept in reserve, ready for despatch in any direction at a moment's notice. The proposal is not, perhaps, altogether clear, and might be interpreted as meaning that the whole head-quarters forces of more than one district might be collected at a single head-quarters. The Government of India understand the intention to be, that only the portions of these forces to be kept in reserve for despatch on emergencies should be so collected. The Commission consider that the charge of this head-quarters reserve should be given to a European inspector assisted, where it is a large one, by one or more European sergeants, and that through it all members of the force should periodically pass for courses of training of suitable duration.

Proposals of Commission.

41. After careful consideration of the subject the Government of India have now decided, (i) to approve the system of reserves proposed by the Police Commission for Madras, Bengal, the Punjab, Burma, the Central Provinces and Assam; (ii) to allow the Bombay and United Provinces Governments to retain the existing division of the force into armed and unarmed branches, at the same time expressing preference for the system advocated by the Commission and urging its adoption as opportunity offers; (iii) to maintain the military police in Assam, Burma and Bengal, and in the two former provinces to look to this branch only of the police force for the maintenance of order in times of emergency; and (iv) to arm the force ordinarily with bored-out Martinis, the rifles now in its hands being retained and their number increased temporarily in cases of necessity. The Governor General in Council believes that these arrangements will be sufficient to hold the country in a time of emergency without in any way interfering with the due performance by the district police of the normal duties entrusted to them.

Conclusions of the Government of India.

42. Para. 78.—The Commission admit that some force of mounted men is required, especially in large cities and in places where dacoity is rife; but in view of the expense they consider that they should not be employed unless the necessity is clearly established. In so far as mounted police are required in the presidency towns and Rangoon the subject is dealt with under the head of city police. As regards their use in mufassal areas, the Bombay Government represent strongly that it would be dangerous to diminish the force to the extent suggested by the Commission. They are prepared, however, to attempt some reduction in those districts of the presidency proper where the number of mounted police has already been reduced below ten. In Sind, where it is alleged that mounted men are the only efficient police, they deprecate any decrease at all. The United Provinces and Punjab Governments consider it impossible to reduce the existing mounted establishment, which in the former case has already been brought down to the strength recommended by the Commission. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces is prepared, though reluctantly, to reduce the existing force to 4 dafadars and 46 sowars—a saving of ₹17,000 a year. The Government of India however are decidedly of opinion that the present strength of 5 dafadars and 95 sowars should be retained for use in pursuing dacoits and dispersing rioters. There have been serious outbreaks in Nagpur city, and there is no cavalry station nearer than Jubbulpore. In all of these cases the view of the local Government that the existing force should be maintained is accepted. There seems to have been some hesitation in carrying out the reductions in the number of mounted men which have already been effected, and the Government of India think that in areas in which they are found to be specially useful in suppressing disturbances the local Governments should not be debarred from reconsidering the question whether the numbers have not been too much reduced.

Present strength of mounted police to be maintained.

Discipline and relations between district officers and police.

43. Para. 81.—The difficult question of the relations between the district magistrate and the district superintendent has not been made easier by a certain indistinctness, if not inconsistency, in the Commission's recommendations, which has presented difficulties to most of the local Governments. In para. 81 the Commission lay down the principle that the maintenance of discipline must be trusted entirely to the officers of the force. They state that in the Madras Police Act (XXIV of 1859) and the General Police Act (V of 1861) there is no mention of the district magistrate or the Commissioner in connection with the discipline of the force. The General Police Act differs from the Madras Police Act in that, while in section 7 it declares the appointment of all police-officers, other than gazetted officers to rest with the superior officers of the force and describes the punishments which can be awarded to them, in section 4 it declares the administration of the police throughout the local jurisdiction of the magistrate of the district to be under the general control and direction of such magistrate. This is one of the most vital matters affecting police administration and the Government of India propose to examine it in some detail.

Bombay Act IV of 1890.

44. The Bombay Act IV of 1890, the provisions of which were discussed at length between Lord Lansdowne's Government and the local Government, is fuller and more precise than any of the other Acts. The relations between the district magistrate and the district superintendent are defined in the following provisions :—

(1) Section 12 provides that the district superintendent shall, subject to the orders of the Inspector-General and of the magistrate of the district within their several spheres of authority, direct and regulate all matters of arms, drill, exercise, observation of persons and events, mutual relations, distribution of duties, study of laws, orders and modes of proceeding, and all matters of executive detail in fulfilment of their duties by the police force of his district.

(2) Section 13 places the district superintendent and the police in a district under the command and control of the magistrate in exercising this authority the magistrate is to be guided by such rules and orders as the Government may from time to time make, and is to be subject to the lawful orders of the Commissioner.

(3) Section 15 empowers the magistrate to require from the district superintendent reports, either general or particular, on any matter connected with crimes, the condition of the criminal classes, the prevention of disorder, the regulation of assemblies and amusements, the distribution of the police force, the utilization of auxiliary means and all other matters in furtherance of his control of the police force and the maintenance of order.

(4) Section 16 empowers the magistrate, if he observes marked incompetence, or unfitness for the locality or for his particular duties, in any officer subordinate to the district superintendent, to call on the latter to substitute another officer for any officer whom he has power to remove, and the superintendent is bound to comply with such requisition. In the case of an inspector or officer of higher grade the magistrate may communicate with the Inspector-General, who must thereon determine the measures to be taken with careful attention to the views of the magistrate, and must inform him of the orders he may issue.

Commission's views as to discipline.

45. Further, under section 29(3) the Inspector-General is given power to punish inspectors in accordance with sub-section (1) of that section, while the district superintendent may punish any officer subordinate to an inspector, and may even suspend an inspector pending the orders of the Inspector-General. The exercise of these powers is subject to such rules and orders as may be made by Government. The district magistrate is not, under the Bombay Act, empowered to punish or dismiss any police-officer any more than he is under Act V of 1861, but by sections 12, 13, 15 and 16 of the former Act he is given large powers of control and direction, both general and specific, which extend to the discipline of the force, just as under Act V of 1861 he is given general powers of control and direction. The Government of India understand that the Commission's recommendations as to discipline are:—(i) that the magistrate should be empowered to direct the superintendent to make an inquiry into the conduct of any subordinate police-officer; (ii) that if dissatisfied with the results of any inquiry into a case of misconduct he should be at liberty to bring the matter to the notice of the Deputy Inspector-General, and, if necessary, of the Inspector-General. So far as the Governor General in Council can judge, the Commission's remarks in para. 81 are made solely with reference to the punishment of the officers of the force, power in respect of which is, under all the Acts, reserved to the Government or to the departmental officers.

Commission's views on relations of police to district magistrate not altogether distinct.

46. The observations of the Commission in para. 121 of the report are, however, somewhat indistinct. It is essential, they say, "to preserve the responsibility of the district magistrate for the general success of the criminal administration of his district, and to afford him prompt means of ensuring the obedience of the organised constabulary to his lawful orders." He must have the power, therefore, to issue to the police any orders necessary to secure the efficient discharge of their duties in the preservation of the peace or in the prevention or detection of offences. But his "intervention is not intended to be constant or detailed. It is intended to be confined to what is necessary to maintain the magistrate's control over the criminal administration of the district, and his responsibility for the maintenance of the peace, but it is not intended to extend to the administration of the police department, except where interference in that is necessary for maintaining the above control and responsibility."

In para. 122 the Commission refer to the extension in some provinces of the district magistrate's control in the matter of appointments and of that of the Commissioner and district magistrate in respect of appeals. After noticing that the different manuals go too far in subordinating the district superintendent to the magistrate the Commission proceed:—"It is true that the absolute necessity for maintaining the responsibility of the district magistrate demands that he should receive the fullest assistance from the superintendent, or that the latter should promptly carry out his orders." They add—"though he must carry out the lawful orders of the district magistrate, he is not his assistant in the sense in which an assistant collector is." Again in para. 123 they say: "the district magistrate must be kept informed of the progress of criminal administration." He is able to ensure this because (i) he receives important diaries and reports of arrests; (ii) he can collect information from the people on tour; (iii) the district superintendent must bring to his notice everything of importance in connection with crime and criminals, must discuss the work of the police with him, and must take his advice on all important matters. "The district magistrate should rarely, and only of necessity, interfere in ordinary police work or in investigations, but the discretion must be left to him as to when interference is necessary." "He should only rarely have to interfere in police work, though he certainly must have the power to interfere when necessary." Finally the Commission consider "that, in the interests of the people, the police must remain under the general control and direction of the district magistrate."

Opinions of local Governments.

47. The views of local Governments upon the questions raised in the foregoing paragraphs are by no means unanimous. The Madras Government suggest that the district magistrate should be empowered (1) to order an enquiry into the conduct of any police-officer and to make suggestions to the Inspector-General, (2) to recommend the removal of an inspector from any charge in his district, and that if the Inspector-General disagrees he should be bound to lay the case before Government. The Bombay Government merely say that the promotion of sub-inspectors should be made by the Deputy Inspector-General in consultation with the district magistrate and the superintendent. The Bengal Government, while holding that the discipline of the force should rest with the departmental officers, suggests (1) that in cases of misconduct affecting outsiders the papers should be sent to the magistrate for information, and that it should be in his discretion to advise the superintendent or to refer the case to the Inspector-General if the superintendent does not agree with him; (2) that in other cases the magistrate should have the power to order an enquiry into the conduct of any police-officer and to bring to the notice of the Deputy Inspector-General and Inspector-General any misuse by the superintendent of his disciplinary powers: and (3) that the magistrate should have a veto on the promotion of sub-inspectors. The United Provinces Government claims full powers of control for the district magistrate, and would retain in the hands of the Commissioner the police functions which he now exercises. The Punjab Government, on the other hand, is about to modify the system under which authority over the police is shared between the Inspector-General and the Commissioner. The Burma Government deprecates the weakening of the general control of the district magistrate, and observes that the superintendent should keep him fully informed of all matters of importance affecting the police, should consult him, and should take his advice. The magistrate should not interfere in questions of petty discipline and the internal economy of the force. As to the Commissioner, Sir Hugh Barnes agrees with the concluding portion of para. 120 of the Commission's report which expresses the state of things existing in Burma. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces dwells on the necessity of having one authority in the district, who will take a broader view of personal questions than the superintendent of police, and deprecates the restriction of the district magistrate and the Commissioner to advisory functions. The Chief Commissioner of Assam thinks that departmental control is less effective than that of the district authority for "the maintenance of the relations with the people upon which the value of the police so greatly depends." He suggests that any comments on the conduct of the police made by a court should be laid before the district magistrate and forwarded by him to the Inspector-General, and that the former should have the right to refer to the Government if in his opinion the action taken by the Inspector-General is not adequate. Mr. Fuller accepts the view that Commissioners should not be charged with police functions, but he would hold them responsible for bringing to the notice of the Government any serious defects or failures.

Principles suggested: as to district magistrate.

48. The Government of India have considered the whole subject carefully in the light of the correspondence which took place with the Bombay Government on the subject of Bombay Act IV of 1890. It seems to them as necessary now as it was then to maintain the principle that, since the district magistrate is and must continue to be the chief executive authority in the district, and in that capacity is responsible for the peace and good order of his charge, the police must be completely under his control and direction, and he must, subject to the usual control of the Commissioner and the Government, have unquestioned power to employ them as he thinks best for the maintenance of law and order and the detection and suppression of crime. He should not, however, interfere in matters of departmental management and discipline, except where the conduct and qualifications of a police officer affect the criminal administration of his district. Even then his power of intervention should be exercised, not by issuing direct orders, but by bringing the case to the notice of the superior officers of the police. Owing to the indistinctness of the law as it now stands some local Governments have given magistrates larger and more detailed powers than were originally contemplated, or than are necessary for the purpose of giving effect to the principle stated above. It is essential, in the view of the Government of India, that the law should now be made perfectly clear on this important subject, so as to remove all occasions for the complaint that the district magistrate's powers have been improperly extended, and the authority of the district superintendent over his own subordinates unduly reduced. It is equally essential that the supervision of the district magistrate over the action of the police should be real, and that there should be no room for doubt as to his full responsibility for the criminal administration of his district.

As to Commissioner.

49. The Governor General in Council now passes to the question of the relations between the Commissioner and the police. The principle determining the Commissioner's position and powers is that it is his duty, as the local head of the general administration, to exercise supervision and control over the action of the district magistrates in respect of police matters. It follows from what has been said that there is no necessity for conferring on him the powers given by sections 17 to 20 of the Bombay Act. The objects of these sections can equally well be attained by executive order. Nor need he be a Deputy Inspector-General. Since the Inspector-General will in future be an Indian civilian (often of Commissioner's standing) or a picked man from the department, it need not, in the opinion of the Government of India, be anticipated that well considered views expressed by a Commissioner will be lightly disregarded. The case of the Commissioner in Sind requires special treatment. The Government of India think that he should be given the powers of a local Government for police purposes to be exercised subject to the general control of the Governor in Council.

Proposals as to law.

50. Of the detailed provisions required to give effect to these principles some will be embodied in a general Police Act for India, while others will be included in rules to be made under that Act with the sanction of the Government of India. Following the order of treatment in the Bombay Act the matters to be dealt with in the law are the following :—

(1) Inspectors and sub-inspectors should be appointed by the Inspector-General; subordinates by the district superintendent, subject in each case to any rule that the local Government may make.

(2) Matters of arms, drill, exercise, and internal discipline should be under the district superintendent.

(3) The power of punishment should be defined as in section 29 (3) of the Bombay Police Act, the list of punishments admissible being amended in accordance with the Commission's recommendations (paragraph 82 of the report) and the power of fining being struck out.

(4) The district magistrate should be empowered to direct enquiry into misconduct on the part of police officers.

(5) He should also have the powers described in sections 15 and 16 of the Bombay Act IV of 1890, and summarized in paragraph 44 above.

(6) The district magistrate should be empowered by law to issue orders as to the conduct of particular investigations.

(7) The general position of the magistrate should be defined as in section 13(1) of the Bombay Act, the words "control and direction" being substituted for "command and control" which seem to the Governor General in Council inappropriate. Effect will be given to this general principle, and exceptions made to it, by rules passed with the sanction of the Government of India.

Proposals as to rules.

51. The rules under the Act will also provide for the following points :—

(1) The Deputy Inspector-General should have the power of transferring officers within his range subject to the control of the Inspector-General.

(2) The course of appeal should be from the district superintendent to the Deputy Inspector-General, from the Deputy Inspector-General to the Inspector-General, and from the Inspector-General to Government, but only one appeal should be allowed from the original order, and there should be no appeal from the minor punishments mentioned in paragraph 53 below.

(3) The records of all serious cases of misconduct and of cases affecting the public should be submitted to the district magistrate, and he should have power to send them on, with his recommendations, through the Commissioner to the Deputy Inspector-General or Inspector-General. He should also have power to call for any papers relating to the conduct or character of a police-officer.

52. Para. 82.—Following the opinion of local Governments the Government of India approve of the adoption of the black mark system and the abolition of fines in favour of the forfeiture of leave. They think however that the period required to wipe out a black mark should be raised from three months to six. This matter also would be dealt with in the rules to be made under the Act.

Punishments.

53. Para. 83.—The Government of India agree with the Commission that there should be no appeal against an order of confinement to quarters, punishment drill, extra guard, fatigue or other duty, black mark, or forfeiture of leave. In all other cases one appeal should be allowed in the rules made under the Act.

Appeals.

54. Para. 84.—In this paragraph the Commission make the suggestion that police officers believed to be corrupt should be liable to be removed from the service on evidence of general repute, and endeavour to support it by reference to the treatment of habitual offenders under section 117(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The analogy, however, is misleading. An habitual offender is not imprisoned on the strength of his general reputation. Evidence on that point merely leads to his being required to furnish security for good behaviour; and he is imprisoned, not because of his reputation, but because no one will stand surety for him. The Commission, however, qualify the proposal by saying that they do not recommend its adoption unless the Government are willing to extend it to other departments of public service. The Governor General in Council is unable to accept this recommendation.

Removal on ground of reputation disallowed.

55. Para. 85.—The Commission's proposal to remove inefficient officers from the service raises various large questions which are not confined to the police and cannot conveniently be discussed here. The Government of India propose to take them into consideration separately.

Removal for inefficiency to be considered separately.

56. Paras. 86 and 60.—The Commission's recommendations on the subject of promotion are—Promotion.

(1) that superintendents should be empowered to promote officers of and below the rank of sub-inspector;

(2) that the promotion of sub-inspectors should be subject to the magistrate's veto;

(3) that inspectors and European sergeants should be promoted by the Inspector-General.

The Madras Government slightly vary these proposals by suggesting that promotion should ordinarily be made by seniority by the Deputy Inspector-General on the recommendation of the superintendent subject to the magistrate's veto. Their object is to enable the Deputy Inspector-General to redress inequalities of promotion within the districts included in his range. The Punjab Government recommends that the promotion of sub-inspectors should be by ranges, on the ground that where districts are small and the number of sub-inspectors is limited district promotion must produce either a block or an unequal flow of promotion. The Chief Commissioner of Assam is also opposed to district promotion and thinks that sub-inspectors should be on a provincial list. The Government of India are deterred from deferring to the opinions of the two dissenting local Governments by the following considerations:—

(1) if the superintendent is to exercise due authority in his district he must be given the power to reward or to pass over investigating officers;

(2) the Deputy Inspector-General cannot know the sub-inspectors of his range well enough to be able to make proper use of the power of promotion;

(3) in any case the power of transfer will rest with the Deputy Inspector-General, who will thus be enabled to redress inequalities, and to correct any tendency to make an eccentric use of the power of district promotion;

(4) the argument drawn from the analogy of naib-tahsildars overlooks the facts that these officers are less numerous than sub-inspectors and that their work admits to a far greater extent of being judged by returns.

All other local Governments accept the proposals stated at the beginning of this paragraph, and the Government of India have no hesitation in endorsing their opinions.

57. Para. 87.—The Government of India are unwilling to delay a decision upon more emergent matters by considering the difficult question of the period of service for pension. They propose therefore to deal separately with the Commission's proposals under this head.

Service for pension: to be separately considered.

58. Para. 88.—The Government of India accept the proposals of the Commission that quarters should be provided for sub-inspectors and officers of lower rank, and if possible for the families of such officers also; and that there should be in each province one or more standard designs for buildings.

Buildings.

59. Para. 89.—In the case of European officers the Government of India propose to prescribe a general uniform, and their decision regarding its details will be promulgated hereafter. They accept the views of the Commission as to the uniform of the rest of the force.

Uniform.

60. Para. 90.—The Government of India agree with the proposal made by the Commission to adopt a standard system of nomenclature in police matters throughout India.

Nomenclature.

61. Para. 91.—All local Governments, except Madras and the Central Provinces, agree with the Commission in thinking that there should be a single Police Act for the whole of India. The Madras Government give no reasons for their dissent, nor are the Government of India convinced by the views expressed by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces. In their judgment the improvement of communications and the increasing intercourse between provinces afford conclusive reasons for uniform legislation on the subject of police. Such latitude as may be required for different provinces can be given by rule-making powers, but these powers should, the Government of India consider, be exercised subject to the control of the Governor General in Council. A Bill has been prepared embodying the views as to the discipline of the police and its relations to the district officers which are set forth above, and local Governments will now be consulted on the subject.

Legislation.

62. Para. 87.—The Government of India accept the general opinion of local Governments that the proposal to have a single police manual containing rules and instructions of general application must be put aside as impracticable.

Police manual.

63. Para. 114.—The Government of India agree with the Commission and with local Governments that municipal and cantonment police should form an integral part of the provincial force and should be under the control of the provincial authorities.

Municipal and cantonment police.

64. The preceding paragraphs deal with the questions arising for determination with reference to the provincial police generally. The Government of India will now consider the case of certain special bodies of police which differ from the ordinary police in their organization and in the character of their work and therefore demand special treatment. These are the police of the three presidency towns and Rangoon, the railway police, the police required for work on large navigable rivers, and the police employed in municipalities and cantonments.

Special police forces.

65. Paras. 94-95.—In these paragraphs the Commission examine the history and constitution of the police forces which are maintained under the authority of Acts of the local legislatures in the three presidency towns of Madras, Bombay and Calcutta, and in the city of Rangoon. Their views on this subject are thus stated in the summary of recommendations in Chapter XII of the report :—

Presidency towns: status of Commissioner of Police.

(1) That the complete separation which now exists between the city and district police does not conduce to systematic co-operation between the two forces, and leaves the Inspector-General in ignorance of the police work in the most important charge in the province.

(2) That if the Commissioner of Police is placed under the Inspector-General, the former must retain much larger powers of discipline and control than are accorded to district superintendents.

(3) That the Commissioner of Police should be graded as a Deputy Inspector-General.

(4) That the office of Deputy Commissioner as now constituted should be abolished.

(5) That the present class of superintendents should be abolished, their place being taken by a small number of officers of the rank of district superintendent, who should be deputed for duty in the city.

(6) That in respect of the lower ranks, the organization should be similar to that of the district police, but that a larger proportion of Europeans is necessary.

These proposals are accepted without hesitation by the Madras and Burma Governments. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal found, on examining the problem of the proposed subordination of the Commissioner of Police to the Inspector-General and the amalgamation of the two forces from the point of view of the head of the province, that there was much to be said on the other side of the question. When first addressing the Government of India on the subject he put forward detailed arguments in favour of leaving the Calcutta system untouched for the present save in a few particulars which can be dealt with by executive orders, and was "very strongly of opinion that it would be inexpedient to adopt any measures which would tend to diminish the authority of the Commissioner of Police, or lower his position in the eyes of the public." Sir A. Fraser believed that the continuance of the necessary co-operation between the city and district police, which the amalgamation ought to secure, and which is said already to exist owing to the combined efforts of the present Inspector-General and the present Commissioner of Police, can be guaranteed by "a slight change in procedure which will in no way impair the Commissioner's authority or affect his prestige." At a later period, while accepting the views of the Commission as to the theoretical solution of the question and the ultimate object to be aimed at, the Lieutenant-Governor explained that he desired to avoid recourse to legislation, which would be necessary if the Commissioner's status were altered. The Bombay Government, after agreeing that the Commissioner of Police should "be graded with Deputy Inspectors-General of Police and be subject to the general orders of the Inspectors-General," proceed to express the opinion "that, except for purposes of co-ordination and co-operation with the district police, the largest local powers should, as at present, be entrusted to the Commissioner of Police within the limits of the city of Bombay." If such co-ordination and co-operation can be secured at Bombay, as the Lieutenant-Governor thinks they can at Calcutta, without impairing the present responsibility of the Commissioner, it may perhaps be concluded from these words that the Bombay Government would prefer to make no other change.

Question deferred for further consideration.

66. The question is of real importance only so far as it affects the Presidency Police of Calcutta and Bombay. The city of Madras includes a large area, much of which does not differ in character of occupation or in population from the mufassal, and it is possible that there may be little objection to the amalgamation proposed. In Rangoon the Commissioner of Police was removed from the jurisdiction of the Inspector-General only in 1899, and it may perhaps be desirable to revert to the arrangements which existed previously to that date. In Calcutta and Bombay, however, the present system has always prevailed. These great cities, each containing a crowded population approaching a million and living in conditions unlike those of any other parts of the province, require, for their efficient police administration, officers of long special experience of those conditions, who must be accustomed to responsibility, and ought not to be checked in the exercise of it by the consciousness of subordination to a departmental superior. On the other hand, it may be urged that if the Inspector-General is a selected district magistrate, his experience would probably be confined to the very different conditions prevailing in the mufassal; that he is present in the capital for only a small part of the year and can hardly be in close touch with local feelings and habits; and that where his opinion on a question of city police administration differed from that of the Commissioner it would hardly command the authority which special knowledge confers. It may be said, moreover, that in view of the frequent presence of the local Government at the Presidency towns (and of the Government of India at Calcutta) it will always remain necessary that the Commissioner of Police should be in direct communication with head-quarters, and should not be bound to refer questions or receive instructions through the Inspector-General. Promptitude of action, full sense of responsibility, and the prestige imparted by the possession of power are, it may fairly be argued, essential for the administration of so difficult a task as the police control of great cities like Calcutta and Bombay, where European conditions prevail to an extent found nowhere else in Calcutta. It may be added that European precedents are in favour of the separate constitution of city police forces in such towns, rather than of their amalgamation with the general police. For these reasons the Government of India have determined to defer the issue of final orders on this part of the Commission's proposals in order to ascertain, in consultation with the local Governments concerned, whether the necessary unity of action with the district police cannot be attained without introducing a subordination of the Commissioner to the Inspector-General, which might on emergencies be fraught with danger, and in the daily working of police administration might interpose needless delay and weaken responsibility.

Present city superintendents to be abolished, and replaced by smaller number of district superintendents with free quarters and local allowance.

67. Para. 96.—The Madras, Bombay and Burma Governments accept the Commission's proposals that the present class of superintendents in the Presidency towns should be abolished and replaced by a smaller number of district superintendents, to be styled Deputy Commissioners, who should receive free quarters and a local allowance of ₹100 a month. The Bengal Government proposes to retain three of the present superintendents for the charge of the intelligence department, the reserve and the port, but says that if the Hugli River is made a river police district a district superintendent will be required to take charge of the port and the river. The Government of India consider this latter arrangement suitable, and they would therefore retain only two of the present superintendents on salaries of ₹400 and ₹500 respectively. One of these should be in charge of the reserve, and the other should administer the criminal investigation department under the general control of the personal assistant to the Commissioner. For the four district superintendents who will be in charge of divisions of the town, and for the fifth who will be the personal assistant, the Bengal Government proposes free quarters with a consolidated allowance of ₹250. The Government of India regard this proposal as unduly liberal, since the additional expense of living in Calcutta is due mainly to the high charges for house-rent, and all of these officers would be given free quarters. They would therefore fix the allowance at ₹100 as suggested by the Commission. This amount is considered sufficient for Rangoon, where the conditions are very similar to those of Calcutta. They accept the Bengal proposal that there should be an assistant superintendent to learn the work and to replace Deputy Commissioners on leave. This officer should receive free quarters with a consolidated allowance of ₹100. While the Government of India regard this reform in the character of the superior staff of the city forces as in itself most desirable for the reasons given by the Commission, they recognise that it can only be carried out gradually, and they admit that there may be difficulty at first in finding, among district superintendents drawn from the mufassal, the necessary qualifications for the charge of city police divisions. Some apprenticeship to the peculiar conditions of the Presidency towns will be needed in order to secure efficiency of administration. This can probably best be secured by attaching several assistant superintendents of police to the office of the Commissioner, and authorising him to employ them on such duties as will qualify them to take charge of city divisions when these are formed.

City inspectors : pay R200, R250, R300 with free quarters and conveyance allowance.

68. Para. 97.—The Governments concerned concur generally in the Commission's proposal that inspectors should be in charge of circles consisting of several police-stations, should be recruited from the rank of sub-inspectors, should receive pay of R200, R250 and R300 in three grades, and should be given free quarters and a horse allowance of R25 or R30 a month. The Bengal Government would fix the pay at R225, R250 and R300, and Burma would make the horse allowance R30 for Europeans and R20 for natives. The Government of India accept the Commission's proposals and would give a conveyance allowance of R25 to all inspectors. They consider that none of these officers should be recruited direct. For Calcutta, the local Government proposes that there should be two inspectors to each of the four divisions of the city and the Government of India think the suggestion is a sound one; but they are unable to agree to the further proposal that each Deputy Commissioner should have an inspector on R225 with a conveyance allowance of R50 as his personal assistant. They regard this suggestion as in itself extravagant and as tending to bring about the undesirable result of converting the Deputy Commissioners into administrative officers.

City sub-inspectors : pay R75, R100 and R125 with quarters and conveyance allowance. Europeans to get R150 as deputy inspectors.

69. Para. 97.—The Commission propose that city police stations should be in charge of sub-inspectors, who should be recruited direct, with a considerable infusion of the European element, should be trained at the provincial school, should be paid R75, R100 and R125 in three grades, and should receive free quarters and a horse allowance of R25 or R30. All local Governments agree except Bengal, which would call these officers junior inspectors and would fix their pay at R125, R150 and R200. Admitting that a higher scale of pay may be required in Calcutta, these rates appear to the Government of India excessive, while, on the other hand, the pay proposed by the Commission is not altogether consistent with their own remark that a large proportion of the appointments should be held by Europeans. In these circumstances the Governor General in Council has decided to modify the Commission's scheme to the extent of creating in Calcutta and Bombay a class of officers on R150 a month who will be called deputy inspectors, and will be placed in charge of those thanas and other sub-inspectors' posts where Europeans are required. The conveyance allowance of deputy and sub-inspectors will be R20.

European sergeants and constables.

70. Para. 98.—The next question relates to the pay of European sergeants and constables. For Madras the Commission propose R80—5—110, and for Bombay, Calcutta and Rangoon R90—5—130. The two former Governments agree with the Commission The Bengal Government suggests R110, R120 and R130, the highest grade being reserved for deserving constables who are unfit for promotion to sub-inspectors. The Burma Government would accept the Commission's proposal as to constables, but would give the one European sergeant who is required R150. The Government of India sanction the rates recommended by the Commission, which apply to both constables and sergeants. In the case of the European sergeant and constable in charge of the dock police in Calcutta the mess allowances now given will be retained.

Head constables and constables.

71. Para. 99.—The Madras and Bombay Governments accept the Commission's proposal that head constables should be paid on the scale of R15, R20 and R25 proposed for the district police. The Bengal Government suggests R20, R25 and R30, while Burma recommends R30, R35 and R40, remarking that the scale proposed by the Commission would be less than is given in the districts. For Calcutta, Madras and Bombay the Government of India accept the Commission's proposal which will give slightly higher pay than has been sanctioned for head constables of the district police. They believe that if free quarters are given the cost of living for natives in Calcutta is not materially higher than elsewhere. For Rangoon they approve of R25, R30 and R35, which is R5 higher than the district scale proposed by the Commission and accepted by the local Government.

72. For constables the Commission propose in Madras R8, R9, R10 and R11, with a local allowance of R1 in each group; for Bombay R12, R13 and R14; for Calcutta R10, R11 and R12; and for Rangoon R12, R14, R16 and R18 for Indian constables, each rate being raised by R2 when Burmese are employed. The Madras, Bombay and Burma Governments accept these proposals; Bengal would give R10, R11, R12 and R13. The Government of India sanction for Madras R9, R10, R11 and R12; for Bombay R11, R12, R13 and R14: for Calcutta R10, R11, R12 and R13, and for Rangoon, where the present rates vary from R13-9-0 to R17-7-0, in the case of Indian constables R14, R15, R16 and R18, with an addition of R2 in the case of Burmese. These increments will take effect at three years, ten years, and seventeen years' service as proposed above in the case of the district police. City constables should be trained in the same manner as the district police.

Mounted police.

73. Para. 100.—The Commission propose that when horses are supplied and maintained by Government the pay of mounted police should be the same as for the foot police. Local Governments, with the exception of Burma, accept these recommendations and they are accordingly sanctioned. The Government of India see no reason for accepting the Burma proposal that mounted constables should receive a special allowance of R15 in the case of Europeans and R4 in the case of natives. Service of this kind is attractive in itself and involves no special expenditure.

City criminal investigation department.

74. Para. 101.—The views of the Commission that there should be a special criminal investigation branch in the cities, the members of which should receive a substantial local allowance, are accepted without remarks by the Madras, Bombay and Burma Governments. The Bengal Government proposes the following allowances—

Inspectors ...	...	...	Personal allowance R50, plus conveyance allowance R50.
Sub-inspectors	...	...	Personal allowance R30, plus conveyance allowance R30.
Head constables	...	...	Personal allowance R15.
Constables ...	...	...	Personal allowance R5.

The Government of India consider that the special character of the work requires picked men and that local allowances should be given in addition to the pay of rank. They would fix these at R50 for inspectors, R30 for sub-inspectors, R7 for head constables and R3 for constables. Conveyance allowance should follow the general rules on the subject already suggested. No separate finger-print bureau need be maintained in the presidency towns.

Prosecuting inspectors and sub-inspectors.

75. Para. 102.—The Commission observe that for the prosecution of the less important offences a staff of court or prosecuting inspectors is required, and they propose for Madras, Bombay and Rangoon two inspectors and two sub-inspectors, and for Bengal five inspectors. The Madras and Bombay Governments concur in these proposals; the Burma Government thinks two inspectors are necessary, but says nothing about sub-inspectors, while the Bengal Government has already given effect to the Commission's proposals by appointing special inspectors to prosecute cases in the presidency magistrates' courts. The Government of India sanction the proposals as thus modified. They understand that the sub-inspectors proposed by the Commission for Rangoon are not at present required.

Buildings.

76. Para. 104.—The Government of India agree with the Commission that in all cases quarters should be provided for the city police and that house-rent should not be granted. The question of improving the existing buildings is one for local Governments to deal with as funds are available.

77. Para. 105.—The observations of the Commission on the delay in the disposal of cases in the Calcutta police courts have been met by the introduction of the reforms suggested by them.

Courts.

78. Para. 106.—Following the unanimous opinion of the local Governments the Government of India accept as a general principle the Commission's view that the jurisdiction of the railway police forces should be coterminous with the limits of provinces. In giving effect to this principle the Governor General in Council rejects the United Provinces proposal that that Government should retain jurisdiction over the line from Delhi to Simla, and accepts the Punjab proposal that these lines should be under the local Government within whose territory they are situated. For the same reason the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces should have jurisdiction over the East Indian Railway from Jubbulpore to Kutni, and over the Great Indian Peninsula Railway from Jubbulpore to the Bombay boundary. It is also desirable that the Indian Midland section of the Great Indian Peninsula from Itarsi to the frontier of the United Provinces, together with the Bhopal-Ujjain and Bina-Baran branches which are partly in native states and partly in the Central Provinces, should be under the Chief Commissioner.

Railway police: jurisdiction to be coterminous with provinces.

The Government of India have decided, however, to admit the following exceptions to the general rule:—

(i) The North-West Frontier Province railways will be under the Punjab Government.

(ii) The Agra-Delhi chord line, which runs through portions of both the Punjab and the United Provinces, will be under the latter Government

(iii) The Quetta Section of the North-Western Railway will be under the Bombay Government.

(iv) The Eastern Bengal State Railway extension to Dhubri and eventually to Gauhati will be under the Bengal Government.

(v) The Assam-Bengal Railway from Chittagong to the Assam border will be under the Assam Government.

They also think that the Rajputana-Malwa system, except the Rewari-Bhatinda section which lies wholly in the Punjab, should be under one officer subordinate to the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana, within whose jurisdiction the bulk of the line is situated. The officer should be selected from the United Provinces police and should have his head-quarters at Ajmer

79. Para. 107.—The Government of India agree with the Commission and local Governments in rejecting the suggestion that the superintendent of railway police should be a member of the railway staff.

Superintendent not to be a railway servant.

80. Paras. 108 and 112.—The Government of India further concur with the Commission and the local Governments in holding that the primary duty of the railway police is the preservation of law and order, and that they should not be called upon to undertake the watch and ward of railway property. It follows that they should not be required to intervene in cases of shortage or missing goods, or to examine the seals of goods wagons, unless they have reason to suspect the commission of a cognisable offence. The Government of India understand that in the Punjab it has been found that, if seals are examined by the police at certain main stations, thefts from wagons are better localised and offenders often traced. Under this system the railway still remains responsible for the guarding of its wagons, and the police merely help for their own purposes in examining seals at fixed points. The Government of India have no objection to leaving the matter to the discretion of local Governments, on the clear understanding that the functions of the police are merely auxiliary, and that they accept no responsibility. It also follows that if the railways wish to despatch their own treasure by train under police guard they should be charged for the guard. The durwan system in force on the Burma railways should be modified in accordance with these principles.

Duties of railway police defined.

Railway police to be under a Deputy Inspector-General.

81. Para. 110.—The Government of India agree that the organization of the railway police should follow the lines recommended for the district police, and that they should be under a Deputy Inspector-General who should also be the head of the Provincial Criminal Investigation Department. They rely on the relations between this officer and the Central Criminal Intelligence Department to secure the requisite degree of co-operation between the various railway forces, and to obviate the necessity of an Inspector-General of railway police for the whole of India—an arrangement which would tend to convert the railway police into an imperial department. They are unable to accept the suggestion made by the Burma Government that a special training school should be maintained for the railway police.

Local allowances

82. As regards local allowances the Government of India accept the Commission's views that superintendents and assistant superintendents should receive ₹150 and ₹100, respectively, in addition to the pay of their rank. They regard this concession as justified, not only by existing practice, but also by the harassment and exhaustion involved in constant railway travelling.

Power of search.

83. Para. 111.—The Government of India agree with the Commission that it is necessary that the officer in charge of a railway police station should be given the power of search in all district police station limits through which his section of the railway runs.

Recruitment from district police not to be insisted on.

84. On the suggestion made to local Governments that the railway police should be manned from the district police, receiving a small additional allowance and only serving for a limited term on the railway, the opinions received are not entirely in accord. The Madras, Punjab and Burma Governments express unqualified disapproval. The Bengal Government also thinks that the system would not work satisfactorily anywhere and that it is specially unsuitable for Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, cites with approval the opinion of Mr. Barnard, Assistant Inspector-General of railway police, that at each investigating centre a constable from the district police, selected for his knowledge of bad characters, should be deputed for a year to the railway police in order to serve as a link between the two forces. The United Provinces Government considers the proposal to recruit from the district police in every way excellent, and thinks that it will do more to secure co-operation than any rules. The Bombay Government see no inherent objection but doubt whether in practice such interchanges could be carried out systematically. The Assam Government would give the system a trial but thinks there would be difficulty in instructing the men in railway procedure. The Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province thinks the proposal valuable, but takes the same objection as the Chief Commissioner of Assam. The preponderance of opinion is on the whole adverse to the suggestion, and the Government of India are not prepared to prescribe it as a general rule for recruitment. It will always be open to local Governments to recruit from the district police: and the authority of the Deputy Inspector-General, who will be placed in charge of the provincial railway police, may be relied upon to ensure co-operation on the part of the district force.

Relations between district and railway police.

85. Para. 109 and Appendix VI.—After full consideration of the replies of the local Governments regarding the Commission's suggestions for co-operation between the railway and the district police the Government of India prefer (subject to slight modifications) the rules in force in the United Provinces to the rules which the Commission proposed. Power will be taken in the general Police Act for local Governments to appoint superintendents of railway police and to determine their relations to District Magistrates.

River Police: proposals incomplete, final settlement deferred.

60. Para. 113.—In para. 75 of their report the Commission refer to the prevalence of dacoity and other serious crime upon the large navigable rivers of Bengal and Assam and dwell on the necessity for securing the safety of travellers by water. They make no attempt to work the subject out fully, and merely remark that a special force under a superintendent of river police will be necessary. In communicating their views the Government of India asked the local Governments concerned to frame a practicable scheme, and emphasized the desirability of securing the co-operation of the river steamer companies. In reply the Bengal Government has put forward proposals costing nearly two lakhs a year, exclusive of the purchase of launches, which have been drawn up in consultation with the Governments of the United Provinces and Assam. Its leading features are:—

(1) To place the Hugli river and the Calcutta port under a district superintendent of police with river police stations at Chinsura and Barrackpore.

(2) To form the rest of the rivers of Bengal, with the Ganges up to Allahabad, the Gogra up to Fyzabad, the Brahmaputra to Gauhati, and the Megna to some point in Sylhet, into a general police district under a senior district superintendent, who would be stationed at or near Goalundo, and would have two European assistants, one of whom would be of the rank of district superintendent.

(3) To establish sixty-one river police stations, each under a sub-inspector with a staff of one head constable and 5 constables. At each station there would be a fast boat with a manjhi and four mallahs, and those boats would be constantly on patrol, meeting the boats of other stations wherever possible.

(4) For European officers a fixed travelling allowance of R150 is suggested, for inspectors R30, sub-inspectors R15, and head constables R10. For constables a minimum pay of R9 is suggested, for manjhis R12, and for mallahs R9.

(5) A proposal made by Mr. Bramley, a district superintendent of police of the United Provinces, who has been employed to inquire into the depredations of criminals from that province in Bengal, to introduce a system of registering all trading boats is under consideration, and the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to consult the Chamber of Commerce on the subject.

The question is one of no little difficulty, and the Bengal letter tends to show that the offence of piracy on the great rivers of Assam, Bengal, and the lower part of the United Provinces has never been adequately dealt with, though it seems probable that the necessity for affording special police protection to river traffic has hitherto escaped notice not less from the indisposition of those exposed to the depredations of river thieves to have their journey interrupted by the necessary police enquiries than because a special agency has not been employed for the purpose. The general scope of the Bengal scheme is fairly well defined, and an officer of the United Provinces police has been deputed to conduct further enquiries and to assist in maturing detailed proposals. The Government of India observe, however, that in two essential respects it has not been completely worked out. The registration of boats has not yet been fully considered, nor have the river steamer companies been approached. In both these directions commercial interests of importance are involved which demand careful consideration. It is also possible that, with better information than has previously existed, the protection of some of the waterways might be left more largely to the local district police. Meanwhile the Government of India have sanctioned as a provisional and temporary measure, pending the conclusion of the enquiries referred to, the appointment of 3 district superintendents, 1 assistant superintendent, 6 inspectors, 30 sub-inspectors, 44 head constables and 314 constables to form the nucleus of an effective river police.

87. Para. 166.—The Government of India accept the proposals of the Commission for the creation of provincial departments of criminal investigation as summarised in this paragraph. The allowances for the subordinate staff will be the same as those sanctioned above for the investigation branches of the presidency town police. In the event of a difference of opinion arising between a Provincial Criminal Investigation Department and the Central Criminal Intelligence Department, the Director of the latter Department should submit the question for the orders of the Government of India through the local Government concerned.

Provincial Criminal Investigation Department.

88. Paras. 189—199.—The Government of India have now stated their views upon all the question connected with the organization, strength and pay of the regular police. The proposals of the Commission involve a recurring additional charge on the revenues of India of about a million sterling per annum. This amount will be somewhat reduced by the decisions set forth above. In the absence of provincial details the effect of these cannot be stated precisely, but the total increase will probably be somewhat less than the sum estimated by the Commission. The Government of India do not contemplate incurring the whole of this expenditure at once, nor would it be possible to do so even if the requisite funds could be made available. In view however of the importance of pushing the most essential measures to completion with the least possible delay the Government of India have allotted between the different Governments and Administrations fifty lakhs of rupees in the budget for the coming financial year as a grant in aid of the reform of the police. This sum has been distributed roughly in proportion to the increase of expenditure proposed in each province, that is to say, in the measure of the comparative needs of each. The actual amounts thus permanently added to the resources of the local Governments are:

Finance.

	Lakhs.		Lakhs.
Madras . . .	10	Burma . . .	5
Bombay . .	5	Central Provinces . .	4
Bengal . . .	12	Berar . . .	1
United Provinces . .	6½	Assam . . .	½
Punjab . . .	5	Minor Provinces . .	1

As regards the order in which the reforms now approved should be carried out, the Government of India think that precedence should be claimed, in view of the urgency of the matter with reference to military necessities, by that part of the scheme which contemplates the strengthening of the armed Police reserves, since until this portion of the Police is rendered sufficient to obviate any risk of local disturbances, the concentration of troops in their new stations, and the abandonment of minor cantonments, cannot be carried out. The next object that should be provided for is the improvement of the pay of constables, including under this head the abolition of deductions from pay, the raising of the minimum to the figure which may be approved by the Government of India in communication with local Governments, and the raising of the pay of constables who have served three years by one rupee, the good-conduct allowances at present granted being merged in the increased pay. Third in order of urgency the Governor General in Council places the increase in the number of sub-inspectors, so far as may be necessary to provide one for each station, and the raising of the pay of the lowest grade of these officers to the approved scale.

Full effect cannot be given to the scheme in respect of the pay of superior officers until funds have been made available for the purpose, which will not be possible during the coming financial year. It will however be arranged as far as possible, that the higher pay to be given in future to European officers recruited in England shall take effect, in each class and grade, from the same date throughout India, so that equal advantages in this respect may be offered to all the candidates selected in England by open competition. It would evidently be a grievance if an Assistant Superintendent recruited in England were to receive less pay, if posted to one province, than his contemporary who had been allotted to another.

The effect of the reorganisation now sanctioned will be to grant increased rates of pay to the European officers of the force, and the question obviously arises whether the exchange compensation allowance now drawn by them should not be discontinued, and if so, under what conditions. The Government of India propose to consider the subject separately and to report their conclusions for the approval of the Secretary of State.

Prevention and investigation of crime and prosecution

89. The recommendations made by the Commission in Chapters VII, VIII and IX of the report regarding the prevention of crime, the reporting and investigation of offences, and the prosecution of offenders cover a wide range and some of them involve important changes in the law. The Government of India have therefore decided to reserve these portions of the report for separate consideration hereafter.

Police statistics and records.

90. The Government of India concur generally in the proposals relating to police statistics and records contained in Chapter X of the report. Local Governments will be addressed separately regarding certain matters of detail which call for settlement.

Conclusion.

91. Of all the branches of the public service in India, the police, by its history and traditions, is the most backward in its character. Its origin may be traced to the feudal obligation of the landowners to maintain, by means of an underpaid and disorderly rabble, the semblance of order on their estates. The taint of its earliest antecedents still affects the morale of the lower ranks: the constable has inherited the reputation, if not the methods, of the barkandaz. The history of the Indian Police under British rule is marked by a series of attempts to introduce more advanced standards of conduct and integrity, and to raise the tone of the force by improving the pay and prospects of its members. The latest of these efforts is represented by the labours of the Commission appointed nearly three years ago. The reforms proposed by them extend to all grades of the Police; they leave untouched no detail of its organization; and they are planned on a scale more comprehensive than has ever been deemed feasible in the past. The present condition of the public revenues has enabled the Government of India to accept the main proposals of the Commission, and to provide at once a large proportion of the cost of carrying them out. It will take a long time to give full effect to the scheme, and longer still before its larger purpose can be visibly fulfilled. The reconstruction of the Police is, indeed, merely a step towards the improvement of the administration of criminal justice in India. Success in that higher aim will depend not only on the qualifications and training of the force, but even more on the honest co-operation of the people themselves in the work of reform; on the adoption of higher ethical standards; on the diffusion of general education, especially in its primary branches; on the growth of genuine public spirit and a sense of the common good; and most of all perhaps on the decline of faction and the discouragement, by a more healthy and more courageous public opinion, of the vicious practice of resorting to the machinery of the criminal courts in order to gratify private animosities. As the popular conscience developes in these directions the Governor General in Council hopes that the great undertaking, the initial stage of which is now approaching completion, will alleviate evils which affect in varying degrees all classes of society, and will confer upon the people benefits commensurate with the labour and thought devoted to its inception and the immense outlay which its execution will entail.

When a particular tract is taken up for improvement the work in connection with that tract should ordinarily be completed as far as may, in the opinion of the Trustees, be practicable, or desirable, before any other tract is taken in hand, but this provision shall not be deemed to prohibit the Trustees from applying, from time to time, the said net income or a portion thereof to the improvement of another or other tract or tracts under urgent or special circumstances, or as preventing the Trustees from giving from the said net income, under the authority in that behalf hereinafter contained, medical help or medicine to persons who may be living within a part of the said district of Murshidabad not under municipal control, but in a tract which is not at the time undergoing improvement under the provisions herein contained. The improvement of the areas so selected by the Trustees shall be effected, at the discretion of the Trustees, by re-excavating tanks, clearing jungles, securing good drainage, and other works of a nature which, in the opinion of the Trustees, are likely to improve the sanitary condition of such areas, and the Trustees shall be at liberty from the said net income from time to time at their discretion to give medical help and supply medicine without charge to poor people living within a part of the said district of Murshidabad not under municipal control and suffering from malarial fever or other chronic diseases or diseases due or deemed to be due to the insanitary condition of the neighbourhood in which they may be residing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

SELECTION OF TEXT-BOOKS.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the article entitled Pathya Nirddharan-Rahasya or "The Secret of the Selection of Text-Books" in the Basumati newspaper of the 3rd September, 1904, and will the Government be pleased to say what steps have been taken to remove the grievances mentioned in the said article?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is a fact that the names of the experts appointed by the Director of Public Instruction for the preliminary examination of books intended for primary schools are kept secret, and, if so, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons why the names are kept secret?

(c) Is the Government aware that, in spite of the existence of books written by Bengali authors and published in India, and approved by the Text-Book Committee, books published by English publishers, such as Messrs. Macmillan & Co., Messrs. Blackie & Sons, and adversely criticized by the press and the public, are given undue preference by the Education Department?

(d) Is the Government aware that, contrary to its declared policy of destroying monopoly in text-books and giving encouragement to deserving authors, text-books written by the same authors, notwithstanding the existence of other text-books approved by the Text-Book Committee, are selected year after year?

(e) Is the Government aware that, for Standard VI, the Text-Book Committee recommended 6 books, of which 5 were written by Bengali authors and published in India and one was published by Messrs. Blackie & Sons, and that the Education Department has appointed the book published by Messrs. Blackie & Sons as the text-book in all the nine Divisions in Bengal, and will the Government be pleased to state if it approves of such a proceeding?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to state upon whose opinions the Director of Public Instruction prescribes the text-books from amongst the list prepared and recommended by the Text-Book Committee?

(g) Will the Government be pleased to appoint Boards of Studies in the Text-Book Committee for the selection of text-books for primary and middle schools every year, a measure which will remove the grievances of the writers and meet the complaints of the public?

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied:—

"Sir, the following are the answers to these questions:—

(a). The article referred to had attracted the attention of the Director of Public Instruction, who found it to be based on an imperfect knowledge of the facts of the case and considered that no action was called for. Thus it is complained that in the month of January, 1904, the names of some good books were included in the list of text-books, and that it is a matter of surprise that they had no place in the list published in August, 1904. But the procedure is that lists of books approved of as text-books are published in the Calcutta Gazette twice in each year, viz., in January and July; those that are approved of after the issue of the July list being shewn in the Calcutta Gazette in January, and those that are approved of after the issue of the January list being shewn in the Gazette in July: and it is not the practice to mention any twice over in the Gazette in the course of the same year.

"(b). It is a fact that the names of the experts to whom books are forwarded by the office of the Director of Public Instruction for preliminary examination are not published. There is no regular list of such experts kept in the office of the Director of Public Instruction, nor is their number fixed. When books are submitted by authors for approval, they are sent for preliminary examination to selected competent Professors, Head Masters, Head Pandits or Inspecting Officers (not below the rank of a Deputy Inspector) according to the nature of the subject treated of, the selection of experts for the purpose of such examination being made from the whole body of such Educational Officers and not from a limited number of them. It would serve no useful purpose to make their names known to the public: on the contrary, such a course might do harm rather than good, as authors might be tempted to bring personal influence to bear. It may also be stated that in no case is the condemnation of a book by a single expert accepted by the Director; that when a book is unfavourably reviewed, it is sent to one or more other experts for their opinion, no mention being made of the fact of a previous examination, and that it is only on the result of two or three unfavourable expert opinions that a book is finally condemned.

"(e) and (f). A comparatively limited number of books under the new scheme of vernacular education has so far been published by Indian authors; and, therefore, the complaint that the productions of English authors receive an unduly large share of patronage is not justified. Since the introduction of that scheme only one Middle Vernacular Geography, one Middle Vernacular Science Reader, one Upper Primary History, one Upper Primary Geography, one Upper Primary Science Reader and one Lower Primary Science Reader in Urdu and Uriya have been recommended to Government by the Text-Book Committee, and all of these were published by Messrs. Macmillan & Co.

"The Director of Public Instruction undertakes the duty of selecting text-books for the scholarship examinations only in order to secure uniformity and fairness in the competition among the candidates for such scholarships, schools sending up candidates for scholarships being alone required to read the books selected. In making his selection the Director sends a copy of each of the books in the approved list for a particular standard to educational officers who are known to be specialists in the particular subjects concerned, and, after carefully considering the opinions passed by them, personally chooses such as seem to him to be most favourably reported upon.

"(d). In some cases the same text-books have been in use for more than one year for the scholarships examinations, simply because they have been reported by experts to be the best on the subjects taken up. Should any book better than, or even of equal merit with, any one already in use be published, it would certainly be allowed a place in due course.

"(e). The six books recommended by the Text-Book Committee for Standard VI were examined critically by one of the leading experts in English literature in Bengal, and the one by Messrs. Blackie & Sons was considered by him to be distinctly superior to the others. For this reason alone, it was selected as a text-book for all the divisions.

"(g). The Text-Book Committee is too small to be split up into the numerous sections required for Boards of Studies for the selection of text-books for Primary and Middle Schools every year, and the suggestion made in this connection is considered impracticable."

EXTENSION OF SERVICE IN THE BENGAL PUBLIC WORKS SECRETARIAT.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

Has the attention of the Government of Bengal been drawn to an article that appeared in the Hitavadi newspaper of the 18th March, 1905, headed "Indiscriminate Extensions of Service in the Bengal Public Works Secretariat"? Will the Government be pleased to inquire whether the facts therein stated are correct? If so, will the Government, having in view the hardship unnecessarily caused to the large number of junior assistants employed in that office and also to maintain the standard of efficiency necessary for the proper performance of work, be pleased to issue such orders as may be considered desirable in connection with the grant of extensions of service to men employed in that office who have passed the age of 55?

The Hon'ble Mr. INGLIS replied:—

"Sir, the article referred to has been laid before Government. The question of superannuation is regulated by the provisions of Chapter XVIII, Section IV of the Civil Service Regulations; and Government finds no reasons for supplementing these by special orders in regard to the Bengal Public Works Secretariat."

PROSECUTION OF BIBHUTI SHEKHAR MUKERJEE BY MR. CAREY

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a paragraph that appeared in the Amrita Bazar Patrika dated 16th February, 1905, regarding the prosecution of Bibhuti Shekhar Mukerjee, an Arms clerk of Berhampore, by Mr. Carey, the late District Magistrate of the district?

(b) Is it not a fact that case after case until they came up to ten was instituted against Bibhuti Shekhar Mukerjee?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state how many of these cases ended in conviction, and what is the amount of cost incurred by Government to conduct the unsuccessful cases?

The Hon'ble Mr. CARNDUFF replied:—

"Sir, the answer to these questions is that the matter referred to by the Hon'ble Member attracted the attention of the Government some time ago, and the Commissioner was requested to report the results of all the prosecutions instituted, the number of which is believed to be ten, as stated, on their completion. The Commissioner's final report is still awaited."

THE CASE OF BABU ANNODA PROSAD MUKERJEE AND BABU BUNKIM CHANDRA MUKERJEE

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the particulars of a case published in the Amrita Bazar Patrika of 22nd February, 1905, in which Babu Annoda Prosad Mukerjee and his son, Bunkim Chandra Mukerjee, were arrested and hauled up by the Golabari Police, Salkia, and also to the judgment of the Joint-Magistrate of Howrah, who made the following remarks on the action of the police:—

"I should not feel justified in concluding my remarks on the case without saying something regarding the action of the police in this affair. Their conduct in the case has been to my mind most reprehensible and is deserving of serious notice. It is clear from the evidence recorded in the case that, previous to the arrest of the accused, practically no inquiry, or at the best a most perfunctory one, was made, and two respectable men were arrested in broad daylight and in presence of a number of people under circumstances of a most ignominious character, merely upon the ex-parte statements of their enemies. There is every reason to believe that the version put forward by the defence, viz., that the arrest was engineered by the enemies of the accused in collusion with the police, is the true one.

(b) Will the Government please state what action has been taken on the aforesaid remarks of the Joint-Magistrate?

The Hon'ble Mr. CARNDUFF replied:—

"Sir, the answer to this question is that the case referred to is receiving the attention of Government, and the District Magistrate of Howrah has been directed to submit a full report through the Commissioner of Burdwan."

THE CASE OF MR. LYALL.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked :—

Has the attention of Government been drawn to the letter of the Daltonganj correspondent of the Bengalee published in its issue of the 10th instant, in which it is alleged that Mr. Lyall, the Deputy Commissioner of Palamau, has committed certain high-handed acts which have given rise to grave apprehension in the minds of the people of the district?

If so, will the Government be pleased to state whether any inquiry has been made with regard to the matter?

If not, will the Government be pleased to cause an inquiry to be made into each of the specific acts mentioned in the said letter, viz.—

(a) Deputy Commissioner's treatment of Bhaya Saheb of Nagar Ootari;
(b) Ditto ditto ditto Abdul Majid of Karoo Batoora;
(c) Prosecution of Harnand Ojha;
(d) Ditto Saroda Babu, a local Mukhtar;
(e) Levying rasad through the Police for the shikar parties; and inform the Council the result of the inquiry?

If the above allegations be found to be substantially true, will the Government be pleased to take steps which may be deemed expedient for the purpose of allaying the apprehensions of the people concerned?

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied :—

"Sir—The first two cases referred to bythe Hon'ble Member had already attracted the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor, who had caused inquiries to be made through the Commissioner of the Division. The first was of a trifling character, and all that could be urged against Mr. Lyall was that his procedure was not quite correct. The other case was found to relate to criminal proceedings which were before the Courts and did not call for the intervention of the Government.

"Of the other cases alluded to, the Hon'ble Member's interpellation is the first notice that has reached the Lieutenant-Governor. His Honour has not thought it necessary to take any action regarding 'the prosecutions of Harnand Ojha and Saroda Babu.' The Lieutenant-Governor has, however, inquired into the question of rasad, and is informed that in the case of one or two subordinate estates appertaining to a larger property which was confiscated by the Government, it hasbeen the practice for the jagirdars and lakhirajdars concerned to furnish supplies free of cost to all Government officers. Mr. Lyall himself has never approved of the practice, and has been desired to discountenance it in future. Apart from those exceptional instances, Mr. Lyall is, the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied, particularly careful, not only to pay for all supplies received by him, but also to see that the payments reach those for whom they are intended, that they are not misappropriated, and that the people are not oppressed by the police. From all accounts, indeed, the tribute to Mr. Lyall's kindly interest in the people, which is paid at the close of the letter quoted by the Hon'ble Member, is well deserved."

SUBDIVISIONAL OFFICERS OF GOBINDPUR AND RANIGANJ.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked :—

(a) Is the Government aware that the Sub-Divisional Officer of Gobindpur in the district of Manbhum and the Sub-Divisional Officer of Raniganj in the district of Burdwan try important criminal cases in camp far away from sub-divisional head-quarters?

(b) Does the Government approve of such practice which must necessarily entail great inconvenience and expenses on the parties and witnesses concerned?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to direct that touring officers, who have to try important criminal cases, will so arrange their programme of tour that the dates of important criminal cases may be fixed at the Sadar stations?

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied:—

"Sir—No complaints have reached this Government regarding the trial of important criminal cases by the Sub-Divisional Officers of Gobindpur and Raniganj in camp far away from their respective head-quarters.

"In a sub-division the Sub-Divisional Officer himself is the only Magistrate competent to try important cases while it is unquestionably in the interests of his charge as a whole that he should visit every part of it. His tour arrangements must be made more or less in advance, and in these circumstances it is obvious that it would be impossible for him to refrain from trying important cases elsewhere than at his head-quarters. The most that the Government can do in this connection it has already done by impressing it upon touring Magistrates both that they should endeavour to fix for the hearing of cases those dates on which they will themselves be nearest the villages of the persons concerned, and also that they must not drag parties and witnesses about from camp to camp unnecessarily. A certain amount of inconvenience is, no doubt, inseparable from the touring system; but it should be remembered that, while some persons may thereby have further to go than if the Magistrate were at head-quarters, others obtain easier access to him and have their cases tried nearer their homes."

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT SCHEME

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU, in the absence of the Hon'ble BABU NALIN BEHARI SIRCAR, asked:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to mention the stage which its proposals regarding the structural improvement of Calcutta have reached?

(b) Have they been approved by the Government of India and the Secretary of State for India?

(c) Do these proposals deal with only broad principles as regards the work of improvement, or do they deal with a cut-and-dry detailed plan of specific works?

(d) Has the financial aspect of the entire scheme generally been dealt with in these proposals? If so, what is the estimated total cost, and what are the ways and means proposed to meet the expenditure?

(e) Do these proposals involve the passing of any legislative measure? If so, when is such a measure likely to be brought up before the Bengal Council, and when is it likely to be passed into law?

(f) Are there any reasonable prospects of any work under this scheme being practically taken up in the course of the next financial year 1905-06?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied:—

"The proposals regarding the structural improvement of Calcutta are before the Government of India, and the Lieutenant-Governor is not in a position to make any statement regarding them."

TRIAL OF SESSIONS CASES AND CIVIL SUITS IN THE JALPAIGURI DISTRICT.

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—

When His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor visited Jalpaiguri the people of the district represented to His Honour—

(a) that under the arrangements at present in force in the district of Jalpaiguri regarding the trial of Sessions cases, the Sessions Judge or the Assistant Sessions Judge of Rangpur has to come to Jalpaiguri once in a quarter to try such cases. Appeals and motions against orders of first class Magistrates have to be presented at Rangpur and heard there. This entails great hardship and inconvenience to persons committed to the Court of Sessions and those convicted by first class Magistrates, and they have often to remain in hajat for a considerable length of time before their cases are heard:

(b) that as regards civil suits in that district, those exceeding Rs. 2,000 in value and appeals from the orders of Munsifs are now heard by the Subordinate Judge of Dinajpur, who under present arrangements holds his Court in Jalpaiguri for 25 days in every quarter;

(c) that as regards civil suits from Rs. 1,000 to Rs 2,000, although one of the Munsifs at Jalpaiguri is invested with powers to try such suits, yet his ordinary duties are so very heavy that considerable delay at present occurs before such suits can be heard.

His Honour kindly promised to enquire into above matters and consider the prayer of the people that an Additional District and Sessions Judge might be permanently stationed at Jalpaiguri and such other steps as may be deemed necessary taken for bringing criminal and civil cases to a speedy trial.

Will the Government be pleased to state if the matters referred to have been considered, and, if so, what relief the Government proposes to give?

The Hon'ble MR. CARNDUFF replied:—

"Sir—In the reply to the address referred to by the Hon'ble Member, the Lieutenant-Governor, while expressing his sympathy for any inconvenience that might be caused by existing arrangements, pointed out that, on the figures before him, the amount of civil and criminal work for disposal at Jalpaiguri seemed scarcely to justify the posting to that station of an Additional District and Sessions Judge. His Honour at the same time undertook to make a further enquiry into the matter, and in accordance with that promise, the views of the District and Sessions Judges of Rangpur and Dinajpur, both of whom are concerned, were obtained, and the High Court was then consulted. The Hon'ble Judges have since expressed the opinion that the work which would come before an Additional District and Sessions Judge at Jalpaiguri would be insufficient to occupy any considerable proportion of his time, and that it is possible for the business of the district to be dealt with adequately under the existing arrangements. It was added that the civil business at Jalpaiguri had for some time been receiving the special attention of the High Court, and that any recommendations that might seem desirable would be made to the Government as occasion might arise. There the matter rests, and the Lieutenant-Governor is content to leave it in the hands of the Hon'ble Judges."

JOTEDARS IN THE WESTERN DUARS.

The Hon'ble MR CHAUDHURI asked:—

On the same occasion the people of the Jalpaiguri district also represented to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor that the joteders of the Government khas mahals in the Western Duars were not allowed to open separate accounts for their respective shares under the provisions of the Revenue Sale Law (Act XI of 1859), though their jotes are liable to be and are sold under that Act in default of payment of any single kist, with the result that for the default of a co-sharer the other co-sharer's jote is also sold. His Honour intimated to the people at the time that he would consult the Board of Revenue and consider if this grievance may be removed. Will the Government be pleased to state if the Board of Revenue has been consulted and any decision arrived at in this respect?

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE replied:—

"The Board of Revenue has been consulted, but has not yet given a final reply. Any change would probably involve legislation."

THE CALCUTTA PORT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1905.

The Hon'ble Mr. INGLIS moved that the time for the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, be extended sine die. He said:—

"Sir, the Members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill for the amendment of the Calcutta Port Act are of opinion that it is desirable to circulate the Bill and to allow those who are interested in the measure an opportunity of making any suggestions or criticisms. I have therefore to move that the time for the presentation of the Report of the Select Committee be extended sine die. I wish to say that with reference to the words sine die there is no intention of indefinitely post-poning the Report of the Committee, but only that it is not possible at the present moment to fix the exact date for the submission of the Report."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL SMOKE-NUISANCES BILL, 1904.

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Smoke-Nuisances Bill, 1904, be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"In proposing that the Bill be accepted as amended by the Select Committee, I would desire to say that I do not propose now to anticipate what is to be said on the amendments to be placed before the Council by the Hon'ble Members. To some of these amendments I do not propose to offer any opposition. The Select Committee has tried—

(1) to make it clear that the administration of the Act is to be in the hands of the Commission;

(2) to ensure that all Rules should be considered by experts before they come up to Government for final orders;

(3) some of the penalties have been reduced, as in the opinion of the Select Committee they were unnecessarily severe;

(4) an amendment has been introduced to deal with the case of persons putting up furnaces in prohibited areas and who fail to carry out the order of removal.

"I will deal very briefly with the amendments made. They have been explained in the Report of the Select Committee and I will touch on them very briefly. Section 3, clause (1), sub-clause (ii), has been altered by adding, after the words 'the raising of steam on ocean-going steamers,' the words 'within such period prior to their leaving the port or to their moving from one part to another thereof, as may be prescribed by rule made under section 10, sub-section (2), clause (f).' That has been put in to meet the case of ocean-going steamers having to emit smoke, not only when they are leaving port, but also when they are moving from the Jetty to the Dock.

"In sub-clause (iii) we have included the words 'the burning of the dead,' because we do not think that smoke caused by the burning of the dead ought to be included within the penalties provided by the Act.

"In section 4, clause (3), we have provided that the non-official members of the Commission shall be nominated by the local bodies in such manner as the Local Government may direct.

"In section 5, clause (e), we have tried to make it clear that an Assistant Inspector and Chief Inspector are subject to the control of the Commission, and the full working of the Act is subject to the Commission.

"In section 6, clause (1)(a), we have inserted the word 'tile' after the word 'brick,' so as to make the prohibition apply to kilns for burning tiles as well as bricks. After clause (d) of the same section we have made provision in cases of licenses granted by the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, so as to prevent any conflict of jurisdiction. We have also reduced the penalty in this section.

"In section 7 we have provided for the case of a person putting up a kiln or furnace in contravention of orders in a notified area. Under the Bill as it was first drafted, if a person once put up a kiln and was fined, nothing more could be done. This has now been remedied.

"In section 8 we have provided for the emission of smoke from furnaces at a lower altitude than is to be allowed by rules. We find that in some parts of the town furnaces are constructed which let out smoke on a level with neighbouring houses.

"In section 9 we have provided that powers of inspection are to be exercised by an Inspector after giving reasonable notice in writing. We have also provided that the written authority of the Commission is to be required before an Inspector can test appliances or direct that furnaces be worked in any particular way for the purpose of experiment.

"In section 10, clause (c), we have provided in sub-clauses (f) and (g) in order to meet the alterations made in sections 3 and 9. In section 10, clause (3), we have provided that three months' time is to be given for the consideration of Rules drafted under the Act, and in clause (4) of the same section we have provided that the Rules shall be considered by the Commission before being submitted to Government for final orders.

"In section 11 we have provided that complaints are to be made only by or with the written authority of the Chief Inspector. We have also reduced the period within which complaints are to be made to two months.

"The amendments submitted are not very important, and I think I may take it that there is no real opposition to the Bill as it has come out of the hands of the Select Committee."

Clause 3.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar said:—"Your Honour, before I put the amendment which stands in my name, I wish to make a few observations. I heartily congratulate the Select Committee upon the eminently satisfactory Bill which they have after careful consideration and revision presented to the Council. Upon the introduction of the Bill by the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle I raised an objection to the principle embodied in the constitution of the Commission, and urged the Council to recognize the principle of election in the same. I was glad to find that most of the important bodies and associations whose opinions were invited in the matter joined in this recommendation and I am still more glad to find that the Select Committee have so cordially agreed to this concensus of opinion and modified section 4 so as to make the non-official half of the Commission practically elected by the various bodies and associations whose interests are likely to be affected by the proposed legislation. Important changes have also been made as regards the provisions for the drafting of the Rules under the Act, and a sufficient safeguard has also been provided for improper interference by Inspecting Officers. The Select Committee may be also congratulated upon the reduction which they have granted in the severity of some of the penalty clauses. With these improvements it may be hoped that the proposed legislation will prove, not only conducive to the immediate improvements of this great city, but also to the prospective benefit of those areas to which its provisions may be hereafter extended. But, although the Bill is on the whole a very satisfactory one, I yet venture to think that it is not altogether unsusceptible of a few modifications here and there with a view to give effect to its provisions. And the first of these modifications which I would submit to the consideration of this Council stands thus:—

That the following clause be added to clause 3 of the Bill, viz.:—

(5) "Magistrate" means a Presidency Magistrate, a Magistrate of the first class, or a Bench of Magistrates exercising first class powers under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

"The subject with which the Bill deals is extremely technical, and, although we may not expect many of our Magistrates to be conversant with the technicalities of the subject, yet I think experience may well be relied upon to supply to some extent the deficiency of technical knowledge, and as the cases that will arise under the Act will directly interfere with trade, we ought to safeguard the interests of trade by making these cases triable exclusively by experienced Magistrates. I would therefore ask the Council to accept this amendment, so that all prosecutions under the Act may be triable only by Magistrates of the first class."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I have no objection to offer to the amendment as now altered by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar. I think that these cases should be tried by experienced Magistrates."

The Motion was put and greed to.

Clause 4.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR also moved that in sub-clause (4), clause 4, the words and expression "Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3)" be introduced before the words "All members" at the commencement of the said sub-clause. He said:—

"No doubt, Sir, nominations are not elections, as nominations have to be accepted, and when accepted they become appointments; but it seems to me that a difficulty may arise in case of vacancies which are provided for in this clause, and, unless we distinctly say that this filling up of vacancies is also subject to the provisions of sub-clause (3), some difficulty may arise. I doubt not that it is the intention of the Select Committee that the provision of sub-clause (4) is dependent on the provision of sub-clause (3) although it is so worded as not to preclude a different interpretation being given to it in case of vacancies. I beg, therefore, that the amendment proposed by me be accepted, so that in the event of a vacancy occurring among non-official members the constituency which sent up the outgoing member might have a fresh opportunity of nominating his successor also."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I have no objection to the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Member. The Hon'ble Member's amendment makes the intention of the Select Committee more clear and I therefore accept it."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 5.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBICA CHARAN MAZUMDAR also moved that in sub-clause (2) clause 5, the words "all Inspectors" be substituted for the words "the Chief Inspector" appearing after the word "and" in the second line. He said:—

"We have already defined an 'Inspector' to mean 'a Chief Inspector of Smoke-nuisances or an Assistant Inspector of Smoke-nuisances appointed under this Act.' As the clause now stands, it means that every Assistant Inspector appointed under section 5, clause (2) of the Bill, shall be subordinate to the Chief Inspector and the Chief Inspector in his turn shall be subordinate to the Commission; but I understand that it cannot be the object of the Select Committee to make an Assistant Inspector independent of the Commission. The Commission is the controlling body and all Chief Inspectors as well as Assistant Inspectors should be under their control. I therefore wish to substitute the words 'all Inspectors' for the words 'Chief Inspector,' so that the Assistant Inspector as well as the Chief Inspector may all be subordinate to the Commission, and in this view I ask the Council to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"Here again I am not sure that the words as they appear in the Bill are not absolutely plain, but perhaps it would make the section clearer if the Hon'ble Member's amendment were accepted. I have no objection to the amendment, and it might be accepted by the Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 7.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR also moved that in sub-clause (c), clause 7, after the words "such order" the following words and expression be inserted, viz., "or within such longer period as the Magistrate may, for special reason, allow." He said:—

"This clause deals with the obligation of parties in complying with orders passed by Magistrates in cases of demolition of kilns or furnaces erected within prohibited areas. It is quite possible that a party prosecuted under any of the sections of the proposed Act and required by the Magistrate to do a certain act within a certain period may commence to do such act and yet fail to complete it within the prescribed period. It would be extremely hard in such cases if the penalty were enforced immediately after the expiration of the period which is fixed by the Magistrate in his first order. To meet such contingencies and to give some protection to persons who may bonâ fide try to carry out the orders of the Magistrate, some discretion ought to be left to the Magistrate for the purpose of granting an extension to such parties, and it is in this view that I have suggested this amendment, so that, if a man begins to comply with a Magistrate's order and then for sufficient reason fails to carry it out completely within the time allowed, he may get some extension from the Magistrate and that the penalty may not be enforced until such further time expires."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I think it is reasonable that the Magistrate should have the discretion which will be given him by this amendment, and I would therefore ask the Council to accept it."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 10.

The Hon'ble BABU AMBICA CHARAN MAZUMDAR also moved that in clause (i), sub-clause (2), clause 10, the word "twenty" be substituted for the words "thirty-two." He said:—

"I would draw Your Honour's attention to sub-clause (i) of section 10, which authorises the payment of a fee not exceeding Rs. 32 to each or any member of the Commission attending a meeting of the Commission. It is a small matter, no doubt, but at the same time I think on principle I might ask the Council to consider this question. In the Calcutta Corporation we have got a fee of Rs. 20 for each member attending a meeting of the General Committee, and I am informed by my hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, that not more than that is allowed to the Calcutta Port Commissioners for attending their meetings. I do not understand why a larger fee should be allowed in the case of the Members of the Smoke-Nuisances Commission. In the first place it will be observed that we have already granted representation to the various bodies and associations whose interests are likely to be affected by the proposed legislation, and it may be accepted that the representatives whom these bodies will send will be persons who will be directly interested in the welfare of their constituencies. That ought in itself to be a sufficient inducement to such members to regularly attend meetings of the Commission.

As for the official members I think they already possess sufficient inducements for attending all kinds of meetings with which they may be associated, and I do not think we need be anxious to grant them a larger fee than Rs. 20."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"I regret I cannot support this amendment. The Hon'ble Member has referred to the example of the Port Commissioners, but if he will refer to the Port Commissioners Act he will find that the amount is a fixed one and is divided between the Commissioners attending a meeting; the amount of the fee payable depends upon how many members attend. There are weekly meetings and also Sub-Committee meetings. In this case the members of the Commission must be practical men, their experience will be of great benefit, and their time is valuable. The clause here provides that the fee shall not exceed Rs. 32. Even if the maximum fee was fixed, it would not in my opinion be in any way excessive. I regret, therefore, I cannot support any amendment reducing it."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I agree with the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar in his opposition to the amendment. He has given reasons for holding that Rs. 32 is not too large a fee, and I do not think we ought to cut it down."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"I beg to support the amendment of my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar. As he has pointed out in the Calcutta Corporation, the fee to members of the General Committee is Rs. 20 for each meeting. When that fee was introduced I may remind your Honour's Council that it was strongly opposed by those who were the representatives of the different associations or public bodies in this Council, and especially by those who represented at that time the Corporation of Calcutta. The fee I believe was originally fixed at Rs. 32, and after a considerable amount of opposition it was reduced to Rs. 20. There also the introduction of the fee system was justified on the ground that the General Committee needed the services of experienced men, and it would be impossible or rather difficult to have the benefit of their services until a fee was provided, and consequently notwithstanding the opposition of elected members the fee was introduced. I am glad to be able to state that some of the Government members also opposed the introduction of the fee, and the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham to my knowledge did not accept a fee so long as he continued to be a member of the General Committee. In the Port Commissioners we have also got experienced men, and I am told that, if all the members attend a meeting, the fee to each member would be about Rs. 16, but, as all members do not attend and a certain fixed sum has been allotted for the purpose, the fees generally come to about Rs. 20 or Rs. 21. As my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar has pointed out the representatives on this Commission will have to safeguard the interests of their constituents. That alone ought to be in our opinion a sufficient inducement for them to serve on this Commission. If an additional inducement is to be given, it ought to be in giving such sums as are paid to members of similarly constituted bodies. As far as Government servants are concerned we have nothing to say. Having regard to the precedents that have been established in this Council, I do not think, Sir, that these precedents should be deviated from, and in that view I support the amendment of my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar."

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—"I beg to support the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Ambica Charan Mazumdar, and I agree in the remarks made by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. One thing has struck me, and I dare say it has struck other Members and that is as well, that no provision has been made with regard to the expenditure that is contemplated under this Bill. I do not suppose that a Bill is a proper place to make provision for such expenditure, but the appointment of a Chief Inspector and his assistants will undoubtedly entail a heavy expenditure in connection with its working. The working of the Bill will thus be a burden on the provincial account. As far as possible I would relieve this burden on tax-payers. I do not expect that the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar will appreciate or at all desire that the expenses of the working of this Act will be defrayed out of fines or penalties. In some cases, notably under the Police and other local Acts, a rigorous enforcement of the law always brings no small amount of revenue from such sources. No provision, however, has been made in this Bill and nothing has been said at the time of its introduction or of submitting the Report of the Select Committee how the expenses in connection with this Bill will be defrayed. If the Provincial Fund were to be charged with such expenses, I would not advocate a proposition that would inflict a heavier burden than was absolutely necessary for safeguarding public interest under the provisions of this Bill. With these remarks, I beg to support the amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU SALIGRAM SINGH said:—"With reference to the remarks that have fallen from the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, I agree with him, and for the reasons stated by him I also support the amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I also support the amendment. The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has pointed out that according to the wording of the clause the fee is not to exceed Rs. 32, but that it may also perhaps mean that the actual figure to be paid to a member attending this Commission may be less than Rs. 32, but, as we find that the fee which is paid to members of the General Committee of the Calcutta Municipality is Rs. 20, and as the work of a member attending on this Commission will not be more onerous or will take more time than that of a Municipal meeting, I submit that the fee payable should be the same as that fixed with regard to meetings of the General Committee of the Calcutta Municipality."

The Hon'ble MR. LARMOUR said:—"I regret I cannot support the amendment. I think the so-called analogous cases that have been brought up as to the Port Commissioners and the Municipality do not bear on the point at all. In the Port Commissioners a certain amount, as the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has already told us, namely Rs. 280, is divided among fourteen Commissioners, that is to say if out of the fourteen members ten attend they get Rs. 28 each. Whatever the number that attend they divide the Rs. 280 between them. That is hardly a case to bring up for comparison. In this particular Commission men will be wanted of special expert knowledge. Even these members who will be appointed by the Government will, I take it, be required to have this special knowledge, as it would be practically putting the thing out of all power of usefulness if men were appointed to the Commission who had not that knowledge. To take such men away from their daily occupation, whatever it may be, for an hour or two, naturally means that they will lose by it and that they must be compensated for the time they give to such work. The meetings of such a Commission would not be very numerous. At the outset there would be several meetings to draw up Rules or for other preliminary matters; after that the meetings would probably be reduced to one a month or one in two months.

"Another thing must be borne in mind in considering the interests which are at stake. It is very possible that men who form such a Commission will have to be looked for at some distance from the actual spot. We have to consider that this Bill will bear upon the interests of industries scattered over a very large area, and that men representing those industries will probably be brought to Calcutta from some distance to attend if they are appointed under this Commission, and a maximum fee of Rs. 32 to get these men to attend on such a Commission is by no means excessive. The men required will be men of position, men who would need to have expert knowledge of the subject. I regret, therefore, I cannot support the amendment."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BEHARI KAPUR said:—"Sir, I must support the amendment proposed by my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar. The fee should be fixed at Rs. 20, which is the fee allowed to members of the General Committee of the Corporation of Calcutta. The arrangement in the Port Commissioners, as I understand it, is that Rs. 280 is the fixed allowance which is divisible among members who attend, so that two courses are open to us: either we might say that Rs. 280 are to be set apart for each meeting which will be divided among the members present, or fix the fee at Rs. 20 for each member who happens to be present to discuss a certain meeting of the day. I venture to suggest, Sir, that it appears to me that originally when Rs. 32 was fixed the gold mohur used to be sold at Rs. 16. It was necessarily always understood that a fee of two gold mohurs would mean Rs. 33, but now-a-days the gold mohur is a thing which is difficult to obtain and it is not a current coin, and if it is obtainable at all it is sold at Rs. 24 or Rs. 25. I rise, therefore, to support my friend the proposer of the amendment that the fee should be Rs. 20; but if, on the other hand, Sir, the Council should think that the fee should be a fixed one on the standard of the gold mohur, then as the gold mohur is not obtainable the fee may be fixed at Rs. 25 as one gold mohur. For my part, I would suggest that whatever remuneration is allowed to members of the General Meetings of the Corporation should be fixed for the members who may attend a meeting of this Commission. With these few words I support the amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR, in reply, said:—"Sir, I regret very much to find the opposition which has been offered to this simple amendment. There was a time when the Government constituted Commissions and Committees upon which members used to serve with the utmost zeal and interest and there was no idea of receiving any money remuneration for their services; but times have now altered and it seems to me that our interest is now gradually assuming more and more substantial form. We have now got the Port Commissioners charging fees, we have got the Municipal Commissioners charging fees, and now we have got a Smoke Nuisances Commission following suit. As for the Hon'ble Mr. Apear and the Hon'ble Mr. Larmour offering any opposition, I think I am bound to say a few words. In the first place your Honour will be pleased to observe that as the Bill was introduced there was no question of representation. The Select Committee have generously granted this representation on the recommendation amongst others of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Calcutta Trades Association, and for them now to come forward to say that their representatives cannot attend unless they are allowed a substantial fee looks perhaps somewhat awkward. They wanted representation; the Government has granted it; and when the representation is granted it becomes the thin end of the wedge; and now the worthy representatives of these bodies would quietly tell us,—you have granted us representation; now grant us the money wherewith to keep alive our dying interest in our representation. That certainly looks like business, but does not look decent as far as I can see. The Hon'ble Mr. Larmour has told us that the meetings will not be too many. Very well, I accept his words. If the meetings will not be many, why do you charge any fees at all? Your losses can not then be much. It has been suggested that intelligent experts and capable men will have to sit on the Commission, and they must be paid for their work, I do not believe that intelligent and capable men are altogether new indents for the first time brought in this country either by the Chamber or by the association. They did exist before and they did assist us without any remuneration. I think I can well understand why the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle has found it necessary to stand in my way, but I was not at all prepared for an opposition from the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Trades Association, to whom a substantial boon has been granted by the representation which is recognised in the Bill itself."

The Motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. CHAUDHURI said:—"Before moving the amendment which stands in my name I must say that clause 10 as it has been drafted now is to a great extent free from the objections that are often taken to legislation by rules. Sub-clause (4), clause 10, has been taken bodily out of the Mines Act, section 20, sub-clause (5), with the substitution of the word "Commission" in the place of the expression "Mining Board." The reason why the expression "where a Mining Board has been constituted" occurs in the Mines Act is that under section 3 of that Act it has been made optional with the Local Government to appoint a Mining Board or not. But the local measure before us marks an improvement over the Mining Act in so far that it safeguards public interest to a greater extent. Here it is provided that the Local Government shall appoint a Commission, not that it may, as under section 9 of the Mines Act, which is a Government of India Act. The latter Act makes it optional to appoint a Mining Board or not; but it has been provided under the present measure that the Local Government must appoint a Commission. Having regard to clause 4 of the Bill, it seems to me that "the expression where a Commission has been constituted under section 4," in clause 10, sub-clause (4) is out of place, because under this Bill a Commission will have to be appointed to superintend the working of the Act and there is no option left. I beg to move, therefore, that in sub-clause (4), clause 10, the words and expression 'where a Commission has been constituted under section 4' be omitted, and that after the words 'the Commission' in line 3, the words 'constituted under section 4' be added. The dropping of the first portion 'where a Commission has been constituted under section 4' thus does away with the contigency of the rules being framed before the Commission is appointed. I was given to understand that there would be no opposition to my amendment, so I have nothing more to add to what I have said."

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE said:—"I have no objection to the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. Chaudhuri, and I think it may be accepted by the Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 11.

The Hon'ble Babu AMBICA CHARAN MAZUMDAR moved that the clauses (a) and (b) of clause 11 be amended in the following manner, viz.:—

(a) upon a complaint made with the sanction of the Commission, and

(b) within a period of two months from the date of the commission of the offence, unless the offence is continuous in its nature, in which case within two months from the date on which the commission or existence of the offence was brought to the notice of the President of the Commission.

He said:—"I object in the first place to clause 11 of the Bill in so far as it gives the Chief Inspector authority to start a prosecution independently of the authority of the Commission. The matter is a serious one. All prosecutions under this Act are likely to affect trade, and we cannot be too careful in taking prosecutions under this Act. I submit that with the view to ensure proper scrutiny in matters of prosecutions, the sanctioning authority should be vested in the Commission. It is no new idea which I am placing before the Council. Similar provision is to be found in the Bengal Municipal Act where no prosecution can be instituted without the sanction of the Commissioners. It may be a little longer proceeding, but I do not think it will be a difficult proceeding to obtain the necessary sanction when required from the Commission. For instance, a man commits an offence: the inspecting staff has simply to bring it to the notice of the President of the Commission and he has simply to take the opinion of the members of the Commission in order to institute a prosecution. There will be many things to be considered before sanctioning a prosecution under this Act, and this can only be properly considered by expert members of the Commission. I do not think it would be at all safe to give this important power to the Chief Inspector, and I think we would be acting wisely in making it compulsory that before the institution of a prosecution under this Act the sanction of the Commission should be obtained.

"In the next place, the object of my second amendment is to make the law still more stringent, in that when an offence is of a continuous nature, the party should not be allowed to escape the consequences of his act or omission, simply because the inspecting staff might overlook now and then the existence of an offence. There are various offences which will arise under this Act which will be of a continuous nature, and if we leave the clause of the Bill as it stands I believe we might leave a wide door to offending parties escaping the consequences of their act and defeating the provisions of the Act by simply raising the plea that the offence was committed more than two months' ago and no notice has been taken of it in proper time. In these cases I believe it would be wise to provide that the Commission should have power to prosecute a man even after two months, provided they were ignorant of the existence of the offence committed; and in this view I would ask the Council to accept my second amendment also, which refers to clause (b). I may as well inform Hon'ble Members of the Council that the same sort of safeguard has been provided in the Municipal Act, and we ought also to provide that people may not escape the consequences of their act and nullify the provisions of this Act, simply because there may be some negligence on the part of the inspecting staff. In this view, I ask the Council to accept both the amendments which I have proposed."

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE said:—"I regret I must oppose this amendment. The meetings of the Commission will, I hope, be rare after the Act is once in working order and it would be very inconvenient to call a meeting for the purpose of enabling the Commission to authorise the prosecution of every petty offence. If the Hon'ble Member's amendment were accepted the result would be that it would be necessary to call meetings at frequent intervals for such purposes, as the limit of time within which a prosecution can be instituted has been reduced to two months. Under the Bill as it stands the Chief Inspector has to give written authority before a Magistrate can take cognizance of an offence, and this affords an ample guarantee that there will be no reckless institution of cases under this Act.

"With regard to the amendment of clause (b), I can see no reason why continuous offences should be put on a different footing from other offences, and I think it is unnecessary to change the wording of the clause as sent up by the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble Babu BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"As regards the first amendment of clause 11 of my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, I think it would meet the objection of the Hon'ble Mr Carlyle if instead of 'Chief Inspector' we substituted 'the President of the Commission.' Prosecutions under the Calcutta Municipal Act are always undertaken after sanction by the Chairman, so that there is a safeguard against unnecessary harassment and of the matter being properly enquired into. So if my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar will accept this suggestion, the difficulty that the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle has suggested that the Commissioners would have to sit will be obviated by having the sanction of the President of the Commission."

The Hon'ble BABU AMBIKA CHARAN MAZUMDAR said:—"With your Honour's permission I would accept the suggestion of my friend the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, and in place of 'the sanction of the Commission' I would substitute the expression 'the sanction of the President of the Commission."

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE said:—"I still think it is unnecessary to make any change. The Chief Inspector has been placed by the Act entirely under the orders of the Commission, and it is very unlikely that he will recklessly sanction prosecutions. I think we might trust him."

The Hon'ble MR. CHAUDHURI said:—"With regard to the second part of my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar's amendment, I regret I cannot support it. It seems to me that the second part of his amendment is opposed in principle to the first part. In the first part he seeks to safeguard against any prosecution being lightly started. Supposing the first portion of his amendment is not carried, the second portion will only create an opportunity for people being put to endless harassment. Supposing the emission of smoke of a particular density sufficient to constitute an offence under the Act is not carefully watched by the Inspectors and it is reported to the Chief Inspector that dense smoke was emitted on a number of days and prosecution is started for the first of the series of such acts and it fails for want of sufficient particulars and by that time just two months are over. On the pretence of being a continuous offence a fresh prosecution may be started under the same series of acts, and now the requisite particulars might be forthcoming at the instance of the thwarted Inspector. The time limit in such cases would afford no relief. I think the effect of clause (b) of his amendment will be to make the Act more stringent in its operation and give larger powers in the hands of the Chief Inspector. Should my friend's first amendment be lost, I think it will be undesirable to accept the second portion of his amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSE said:—"I had expected that the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle would have seen his way to accept the amendment subject to the alteration proposed by my friend the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, that is, that the written authority of the President of the Commission should be obtained before starting a prosecution. Clause 11 is practically a penal clause, and in enacting such a clause I think we should guard against prosecutions of a frivolous character. I think it would meet that object if the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle accepted the amendment subject to that alteration. As regards the second amendment proposed by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, I am sorry I cannot support it. Clause (b) as it stands in the Bill would not in my opinion be productive of any mischief, and I do not see any reason for the alteration of that clause."

The Motion was then put in its amended form and lost.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1905-1906.

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES laid on the table the Bengal Financial Statement for 1905-1906 with explanatory notes. He said:—

"SIR,—I beg to lay upon the table the Financial Statement for 1905-1906, together with the usual appendices and accounts.

"2. In the year which is just about to close the crops are reported to have been considerably below the average. The winter rice crop was estimated at 14 per cent. below the average; and the bhadoi and rabi food crops and the bhadoi non-food crops, which include jute and indigo, are said to have yielded only three-fourths of the average outturn. These are, however, probably under-estimates. At one time, indeed, until heavy rain fell in October, there was considerable anxiety; and even after the cold-weather crops seemed secure they were damaged by frost and hail. On the other hand the returns from the Port of Calcutta show that in the first eleven months of the year the exports and imports of merchandise have increased in value by 11¼ per cent., the percentages in the case of cotton goods and machinery being 20·15 and 38·8 respectively; while the marvellous industrial expansion which we see going on around Calcutta appears to suffer no abatement, nor do we ever hear of workmen being unable to find work.

"3. From a revenue point of view the year has not been unsatisfactory. The revised estimate for the current year exceeds the original budget estimate by Rs. 12,66,000. This figure includes special grants of two lakhs for University Education and of Rs. 75,000 for the improvement of the Port of Chittagong which have been made by the Government of India, but if these are excluded the excess still comes to Rs. 9,91,000. In the previous ten years, owing to the cautious system of budgetting, the average difference between the revised estimate and the budget estimate has been Rs. 10,88,000, or if we exclude exceptional items Rs. 10,58,000. When we framed the budget of the current year in March last we allowed for an increase of Rs. 5,56,000, and we now estimate for a further increase, apart from the grants for University Education and Chittagong, of Rs. 9,01,000 which brings the total improvement during the current year up to Rs. 15,47,000. A comparison of the actuals of the previous six years shows that the average advance from year to year has been Rs. 13,58,000. The enhancement of revenue during the current year is partly from departmental receipts which involve an increase of departmental expenditure, but on the whole, and in view of the fact that we receive a smaller share than formerly of the expanding revenues technically known as 'the divided heads,' we may be satisfied with the result. In passing I may explain that our favourable position is largely due to an unusual expansion of the stamp revenue, chiefly under the head of Court-fee stamps. The average annual addition to the revenue from stamps in the last five years has been Rs. 3,89,000, and when preparing the budget for the current year we allowed for an increment of three lakhs, giving a provincial share of 1½ lakhs. Now on the strength of the receipts during the first 11 months of the year, we have added six lakhs in the revised estimate of the current year, making a total of nine lakhs of which the Local Government gets one-half or Rs. 4,50,000.

"4. In the financial estimate which was concluded last year, the revenues assigned to us amounted to Rs. 4,98,87,000. In the budget for the current year we estimated for an increase of Rs. 5,56,000. The revised estimate for the current year shows a further increase over the budget estimate of Rs. 12,66,000. In the budget for next year we have allowed for an increase of Rs. 6,28,000. If these three sums are added together, we get a total of Rs. 24,50,000 by which the permanent revenue of next year is estimated to exceed the amount assigned to us in the financial settlement a year ago. Of this amount sums aggregating Rs. 19,48,000 have been allotted to recurring expenditure under various heads, leaving a margin of Rs. 5,02,000 which for the present has been devoted to non-recurring expenditure. The details of the recurring expenditure will be found in paragraph 13 of the explanatory notes. The non-recurring expenditure is given in paragraph 14.

"5. So far I have dealt with the addition to the permanent or recurring revenue, but we also begin next year with a large opening balance, part of which may be devoted to non-recurring expenditure. A year ago we estimated that the opening balance of the current year would be Rs. 1,37,99,000. Owing, however, to adjustments after the close of the year, principally on account of jail manufactures and survey and settlement charges, and owing also in some cases to the receipts having proved better than the revised estimate, there has been an increase in the opening balance of Rs. 4,54,000. This amount has been carried forward and added to the closing balance of the current year which corresponds with the opening balance of next year. Then again, the revised estimate of receipts for the current year exceeds the budget by Rs. 12,66,000 and this excess is also carried forward. Lastly, we have a net decrease in the expenditure of the current year. There have been large savings under many heads, but most of these have been transferred to other heads and spent. The net result is that the expenditure falls short of the estimates by Rs. 2,21,000. These three sums Rs. 4,54,000, the increase in the opening balance of the current year over the original estimate, Rs. 12,66,000 the excess over the estimate of the receipts of the current year and Rs. 2,21,000 the saving from decrease in expenditure make a total of Rs. 19,41,000, and go to swell the closing balance of the current year and the opening balance of next year. In the budget which was placed before this Council in March last the closing balance of the current year was estimated at Rs. 1,05,45,000, but with these additions it amounts to Rs. 1,24,86,000. This is the opening balance which we have to dispose of next year, but out of this we must keep the 50 lakhs which have been specially given for the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, 20 lakhs the ordinary minimum of the Provincial balance and some part of the lump grant of 50 lakhs which was given at the time of the financial settlement on the condition that the expenditure should be spread over several years. We propose to carry forward Rs. 12,49,000 for expenditure in 1906-1907 and subsequent years. These three sums amount to Rs. 82,49,000, and we propose to begin next year with a balance of Rs. 1,24,86,000 and to end it with this balance of Rs. 82,49,000. Thus we propose to spend out of our opening balance Rs. 42,37,000. The Government of India have also given us grants amounting to Rs. 38,81,000. The total expenditure shown in the budget which is now before us is therefore Rs. 5,25,52,000 the estimated revenue of next year, plus Rs. 42,37,000 the amount taken from the opening balance plus Rs. 38,81,000 granted by the Government of India, making a grand total of Rs. 6,06,70,000.

"6. The effect of these arrangements on our financial position is that our scale of permanent or recurring income has been increased to Rs. 5,57,87,000 while our scale of permanent or recurring expenditure has been raised to only Rs. 5,52,85,000, so that there is, as I have already said, a margin of Rs. 5,02,000. On the revenue side the total is made up of Rs. 4,98,87,000 the revenues assigned to us in the financial settlement, plus 21½ lakhs the estimated increase of those revenues next year due to expansion to which I have already referred, plus 34½ lakhs the total of the recurring grants made by the Government of India. On the other side we have the scale of expenditure fixed in the financial settlement which is the same as the revenues made over to meet that expenditure, that is Rs. 4,98,87,000, plus Rs. 19,48,000 the total of the items of recurring expenditure enumerated in paragraph 13 of the explanatory notes plus 34½ lakhs the special grants made by the Government of India.

"7. I now come to the four grants made by the Government of India for expenditure next year. One of these is a non-recurring payment of Rs. 4,31,000 for the improvement of Chittagong and calls for no special remark. The other three are annual grants of 12, 10 and 12½ lakhs, for police reforms, for primary education and to District Boards respectively. In addition to these sums a further allotment for agriculture is promised, but the amount has not yet been fixed. The special grant for University Education has been made only for the current year and will be utilised principally in extending the premises of the University and in constructing buildings. No provision has been made in the budget for a repetition of this grant, although it has been indicated that further sums will be received.

"8. The Resolution of the Government of India which was published in the newspapers a few days ago deals very fully with the measures contemplated for the improvement of the police force; and I need not detain you with any remarks on the subject. No doubt the members of this Council will cordially welcome the inauguration of these great reforms.

"9. Of the ten lakhs allotment for primary education a considerable portion will at first be devoted to the construction and equipment of new buildings, both because it would be impossible advantageously to devote ten lakhs at once to recurring expenditure and because in many cases the schools are squalid, dark, overcrowded and generally unsuitable, a state of things which is prejudicial to the health of the scholars and which makes effective teaching impossible. Ultimately the grant will be utilised in providing for the education of Muhammadans, for the conversion of lower primary into upper primary schools, for the opening of training schools for teachers of rural primary schools and for an inspecting agency which will, as in the other Provinces in India and in England, be under the direct control of the Education Department. This raises the question of the position of the existing staff of Sub-Inspectors whose duties would overlap. Economy requires that the whole staff of Sub-Inspectors should be graded together and should form one service, a measure which will bring the educational policy in Bengal into line with that followed in other Provinces.

"10. The grant of 12½ lakhs made to District Boards is approximately equal to ¼ of the receipts derived by the District Boards from provincial rates and will increase as the rates increase. The annual increment will probably be about Rs. 14,000 a year. At first, as in the case of the former five lakhs grant, the money will be placed at the disposal of the Commissioners of Divisions for distribution among the District Boards. Each Commissioner will be given a sum approximately equivalent to a quarter of the provincial rates raised in the Division. A system of permanent doles is, however, unsatisfactory, and after two or three years if not sooner each District Board will be finally given its own share. It is not considered advisable to do this at once, both because some of the districts when suddenly called upon to do so might not be able to spend the full amount to the best advantage, while others might be able to spend more, and also because it may be desirable at first to give some special assistance to the more backward districts.

"11. This large addition to their resources will enable the District Boards not only to improve the condition of the roads, but also to make more adequate provision for the needs of the districts in other respects. Thus, there is a great and preventible mortality among cattle, and those of the Boards which have not yet taken up veterinary work will no longer have an excuse for neglecting to do so. They will also be in a position to maintain, or if necessary increase, their expenditure on hospitals and dispensaries, on schools, and on water-supply and sanitation, and in the event of scarcity they will have larger resources on which to fall back. This large grant will also it may be hoped definitely set at rest the question of the diversion of the road cess. All the District Boards will now be in a position to devote the full income from Provincial rates to the purposes contemplated in the Road Cess Act without injury to any of the institutions which they have established; and the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to insert a provision in the Local Self-Government Bill requiring that this condition shall be observed in future. It will then become the business of the auditing officers to see that the expenditure is in accordance with the Act.

"12. The financial statement will in the ordinary course come up for discussion at the next meeting of Council which will be held on 31st March. I shall be much obliged if Hon'ble Members who propose to ask for any information or explanation or to comment on any matters in connection with the budget will give me notice three or more days before the meeting."

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1905-1906.

PART I.—General Review.

(1) ACCOUNTS FOR 1903-1904.

In the revised estimates of last year which were laid before the Council on the 26th of last March the closing balance of last year, and therefore also the opening balance of the current year, was placed at Rs. 1,37,99,000 The accounts of last year are now available and show that the actual closing balance came to Rs. 1,42,52,918, or Rs. 1,42,53,000 in round numbers which is Rs. 4,54,000 more than the revised estimate. The improvement was due partly to large adjustments after the close of the year on account of jail manufactures and survey and settlement charges, and partly to the receipts under "Excise," "Provincial rates," "Miscellaneous" and "Irrigation Major Works" having proved better than was anticipated. The actual increase in receipts was Rs. 6,67,000, but against this must be set an increase of expenditure amounting to Rs. 2,13,000; so that the net improvement was, as already stated, Rs. 4,54,000.

(2) REVISED ESTIMATE FOR 1904-1905.

2. For the reasons explained above the opening balance of the current year has been placed in the revised estimate at Rs. 1,42,53,000. The excess of Rs. 4,54,000 over the original budget estimate of the year is not available for expenditure during the current year, because although the Local Government may transfer amounts from one head to another it may not increase the grand total of expenditure shown in the budget estimates. This excess therefore goes to swell the closing balance of the current year and the opening balance of next year.

3. The receipts for the current year were estimated in the budget at Rs. 5,04,43,000. The revenues have, however, proved much better than our estimate and the revised figure is now placed at Rs. 5,17,09,000. The difference Rs. 12,66,000 is partly due to special grants of Rs. 2,00,000 for University Education and of Rs. 75,000 for the improvement of the Port of Chittagong which have been made by the Government of India and against which corresponding amounts have been added on the expenditure side, and is partly the net result of improvements under some heads and of decreases under others. The improvements aggregated Rs. 12,70,000 and were chiefly under the following heads:—Jails (Rs. 1,50,000); Pilotage Receipts (Rs. 90,000); Stamps (Rs. 3,00,000) chiefly from court-fee stamps; Excise (Rs. 87,000) mainly due to better settlements; Provincial Rates (Rs. 1,95,000) due to revision of assessments and better collection; Irrigation Major Works (Rs. 1,23,000); Irrigation Minor Works (Rs. 1,59,000); and Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department (Rs. 1,57,000). On the other hand the decreases amounted to Rs. 2,79,000 and were principally under Adjustments between Imperial and Provincial (Rs. 1,54,000) owing mainly to the transfer of the Stamps and Stationery Office to Imperial; under Assessed Taxes (Rs. 37,000); and under Interest (Rs. 53,000) owing to smaller loans having been taken by the local bodies than were provided for in the budget.

4. On the expenditure side the revised estimate shows a net decrease of Rs. 2,21,000. There have been savings amounting to Rs. 22,55,000 which have, however, for the most part, been transferred to other heads and expended; although in some cases the money provided was carried forward so that the works might be completed next year.

5. The savings referred to were largely due to the failure to obtain sanction before the close of the year to schemes for the improvement of the salaries of the ministerial officers, for an increase in the number of Deputy Collectors, and the reorganisation of the Subordinate Executive Service, and for educational reforms. There have also been reductions in consequence of the transfer of the Stamps and Stationery Office with effect from the 1st July 1904; also under Government Presses and stationery supplied from central stores; under Irrigation Major Works; and under Contributions to Local. The large decrease shown under Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers is nominal, and is due to the transfer of the lump provision for Police and other buildings to the Public Works Department in order that the buildings might be constructed.

6. On the other hand there have been increases under General Administration, Police and Miscellaneous. The increase under the first head is due (1) to the pay and leave allowances of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces from 1st March to 17th June 1904 having been drawn in Calcutta, (2) to additional grants for the renewal and maintenance of furniture in Belvedere and The Shrubbery, and (3) to the deputation of Mr. Savage on special duty in connection with Police chaukidari work. The greater part of the additional expenditure under Police is on account of petty construction and repairs and furniture of Police buildings, and under Miscellaneous the enhancement is chiefly owing to grants to the District Charitable Society, and to other public institutions such as the Young Women's Christian Association and the Calcutta Orphanage for Hindus. The increase under Irrigation Minor Works and Navigation is due to additional grants for (a) irrigation of sugarcane by pumping at Otter; (b) the clearing of silt from the khas tahsil khals in the Contai subdivision of the district of Midnapore; (c) the resectioning of the Alaipore khal; (d) Embankment repairs; (e) the construction of a steam-launch for the South-Western Circle; and (f) the contribution of Rs. 1,25,000 in aid of the cost of the Magrahat Drainage Scheme in the 24-Parganas. The increase under Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department (Rs. 9,69,000) has been met principally by transfers from Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers and from Education.

7. The closing balance of the current year was estimated in March last at Rs. 1,05,45,000. To this must now be added Rs. 4,54,000 the excess of the opening balance over the estimate; Rs. 12,66,000 by which the receipts of the current year have improved; and Rs. 2,21,000 the net decrease of expenditure. In the revised estimate, therefore, the closing balance of the current year is placed at Rs. 1,24,86,000.

(3) BUDGET ESTIMATE FOR 1905-1906.

8. The opening balance of 1905-1906 corresponds with the closing balance of the current year and is therefore placed at Rs. 1,24,86,000.

9. The budget estimate for next year as passed provides for receipts aggregating Rs. 5,64,33,000. The amount assigned to the Local Government in the financial settlement was Rs. 4,98,87,000 and owing to ordinary expansion it is estimated that the revenues made over will yield next year Rs. 5,23,37,000. To this must be added the special assignment of Rs. 34,50,000 sanctioned by the Government of India, viz., for Police reorganization (12 lakhs), Primary Education (10 lakhs), and Grants to District Boards (12½ lakhs). The addition of these grants brings the total of the recurring or permanent revenue up to Rs. 5,57,87,000. There are also non-recurring receipts consisting of a special grant of Rs. 4,31,000 by the Government of India for the improvement of the Port of Chittagong, a contribution of two lakhs from the Hospital Port Dues Fund to the Presidency General Hospital and Rs. 15,000, the sale-proceeds of the Pilot-vessel Sarsuti. The addition of these sums brings the total receipts of the year up to the amount already stated, namely Rs. 5,64,33,000.

10. It is proposed to spend the whole of these receipts, and also to reduce the opening balance from Rs. 1,24,86,000 to Rs. 82,49,000 or by Rs. 42,37,000. The ordinary Provincial minimum closing balance is twenty lakhs, but in addition to this amount the Government of Bengal has agreed to keep the special grant of fifty lakhs for the improvement of Calcutta untouched, which brings the amount to be carried forward up to seventy lakhs. There was also a lump grant of fifty lakhs made to the Local Government in connection with the Provincial settlement the expenditure of which was to be spread over several years. Seventeen lakhs of it have been spent during the current year, and it is proposed to spend nearly 20½ lakhs next year and to carry forward

Rs. 12,49,000. The total to be carried forward as closing balance at the end of next year will therefore be Rs. 70,00,000 plus Rs. 12,49,000, or Rs. 82,49,000.

11. The total estimated expenditure of next year is therefore Rs. 5,64,33,000 plus Rs. 42,37,000, or Rs. 6,06,70,000, and the estimated closing balance is Rs. 82,49,000.

12. The total expenditure of next year, which amounts as already explained to Rs. 6,06,70,000, is made up of recurring or permanent expenditure amounting to Rs. 5,52,85,000 and of non-recurring expenditure amounting in round numbers to Rs. 53,85,000. Details of these amounts are given in the next two paragraphs.

13. The scale of permanent expenditure allowed to the Local Government in the financial settlement was Rs. 4,98,87,000. In the budget now passed this amount has been increased by Rs. 53,98,000, of which a statement is given below. It may be explained that the normal increase of departmental expenditure in the last seven years has been Rs. 5,30,000, and that the ordinary assignment to the Education Department has been increased by four lakhs, the details of which are shown separately in the statement:—

PART II—Detailed remarks on the Budget for 1905-1906.

RECEIPTS.

15. Land Revenue.—The actual gross revenue of last year was Rs. 4,10,03,080. The revised estimate for the current year was originally placed at Rs. 4,12,00,000, but was reduced when the damage done to the crops by frost brought down the collections in February. The budget estimate for the current year was Rs. 4,11,50,000. The estimate for next year has been fixed at Rs. 4,19,03,000 and provides for an enhancement of Rs. 3,65,000 under recoveries on account of survey and settlement charges, for an increase of Rs. 82,000 from settlements, for an improvement in the collections from Government estates, and for the recovery of arrears carried over from the current year. The details of the recoveries of the survey and settlement charges are given in Appendix A.

16. The adjustments between Imperial and Provincial are made under the head of Land Revenue, and will probably result in a net transfer of Rs. 86,35,000 to Provincial. The details will be found in Appendix A.

17. Stamps.—The total revenue from Stamps for the current year was estimated at Rs. 2,02 00,000. Last year's actuals were Rs. 1,98,35,514, and the average annual increase during the last five years has been Rs. 3,89,000. During the first eleven months of the current year, however, the receipts exceeded those of the corresponding period of last year by no less than Rs. 8,91,000, and in view of these figures, the revised estimate for the current year has been passed for Rs. 2,08,00,000 and the estimate for next year has been placed at Rs. 2,14,00,000. The Local Government gets one half of these amounts, or Rs. 1,04,00,000 and Rs. 1,07,00,000.

18. Excise.—The budget estimate of the current year's total revenue was Rs. 1,65,00,000. The actuals of last year exceeded the revised estimate of last year by Rs. 1,96,000 and amounted to Rs. 1,62,95,944. The average annual increase under this head during the last five years has been Rs. 5,83,000, and the figures of the first ten months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 4,51,000 over the actuals of the corresponding period of last year. The revised estimate for the current year has therefore been passed for Rs. 1,67,00,000 and the estimate for next year has been placed at Rs 1,73,50,000. The Provincial share of next year's receipts ($\frac{7}{13}$th) amounts to Rs. 75,91,000.

19. Provincial Rates.—The actual collections of the Public Works cess in 1903-1904 amounted to Rs. 48,84,713, and the estimate for the current year was Rs. 48,74,000. The receipts in the first ten months of the current year, however, show an increase of Rs. 1,76,000 over those of the corresponding period of last year, and the revised estimate for the current year has accordingly been placed at Rs. 50,60,000, and the estimate for next year at Rs. 51,50,000. An increase is anticipated on the completion of the revaluation work in certain districts. Under "General Rates for the management of private estates" the estimate of receipts is Rs. 1,84,000, and this added to the estimate for receipts of the Public Works cess makes up the sum of Rs. 53,34,000 which is the total estimate for the year.

20. Assessed Taxes.—The current year's receipts from income-tax were estimated at Rs. 51,50,000. The actual collections of last year amounted to Rs. 49,45,815 and those of the twelve months ending with 31st January 1905 were Rs. 50,34,000. The revised estimate for the current year has accordingly been placed at Rs. 50,00,000. To this amount a sum of Rs. 1,00,000 has been added as the normal increase of revenue, the average annual increase during the four years ending with the year 1902-1903 from the classes who are still liable to assessment having been Rs. 1,73,000. The estimate for 1905-1906 has accordingly been passed for Rs. 51,00,000. The Provincial share (one-fourth) is Rs. 12,75,000.

21. Forests.—The total receipts under this head for 1905-1906 are estimated at Rs. 12,00,000, against Rs. 11,50,000 the budget estimate for the current year, and Rs. 10,65,523 the actuals of last year. The revised estimate for the current year has been put at Rs. 11,80,000. The increase in the estimate for next year is due to anticipated larger sales of timber in the Singhbhum, and Sundarbans Divisions. The Local Government gets one-fourth of the receipts.

22. Registration.—The budget estimate under this head for the current year was Rs. 17,00,000. The actuals of last year amounted to Rs. 16,66,453. The average annual increase under this head during the last five years has been Rs. 53,000. The collections in the first ten months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 26,000 over those of the corresponding period of last year, and both the revised estimate for the current year and the estimate for next year have been passed for Rs. 17,00,000. These receipts are entirely Provincial.

23. Interest.—Details of the receipts under this head are given in Appendix A.

24. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The actuals of last year amounted to Rs. 8,08,224, and the revised estimate for the current year has been taken at Rs. 8,07,000 with reference to the actuals of the first ten months of the year. During the current year there was a falling off under "General fees, fines and forfeitures" which is not expected to continue, and next year's receipts have been estimated at Rs. 8,14,000.

25. Jails.—The estimate under this head is Rs. 14,00,000, against Rs. 13,50,000 the revised estimate for the current year and Rs. 14,15,485 the actuals of last year. The budget estimate for the current year was Rs. 12,00,000. The increase in the budget is mainly due to anticipated demands from the Commissariat Department.

26. Police.—The estimate under this head amounts to Rs. 2,00,000 against Rs. 2,05,000, the budget estimate for the current year. The actuals of last year were Rs. 1,84,048. During the current year there were smaller recoveries on account of punitive police and police supplied to Railway Companies and the revised estimate has been placed at Rs. 1,80,000.

27. Marine.—The budget estimate for the current year was Rs. 12,80,000. This has been raised to Rs. 13,70,000 in the revised estimate with reference to the actuals of the first ten months of the current year which show an increase under Pilotage receipts in Calcutta. These receipts are of a fluctuating character, depending on the tonnage of vessels arriving and departing from the port, and the estimate for next year has been passed for Rs. 13,25,000.

28. Education.—The estimate under this head is Rs. 7,70,000, against Rs. 7,30,000 and Rs. 7,05,000, the sanctioned and the revised estimates, respectively, for the current year, and Rs. 7,08,701, the actuals of last year. The increase is mainly due to anticipated realizations on account of rent of boarding-houses for students in Calcutta. A sum of Rs. 67,200 has been provided for on the expenditure side to meet the charge for rent of boarding-houses which Government will take up and make over to private colleges to be used as hostels.

29. Medical.—The estimate under this head is Rs. 4,37,000, against Rs. 2,15,000 and Rs. 2,37,000, the sanctioned and the revised estimates, respectively, for the current year, and Rs. 2,30,237, the actuals of last year. The estimate includes a contribution of 2 lakhs from the Calcutta Hospital Port Dues Fund to the Presidency General Hospital. A corresponding amount has been provided for in the estimate of Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department for the construction of a paying patients' block in the hospital.

30. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The total receipts for next year are estimated at Rs. 2,57,000 against Rs. 2,67,000 and Rs. 2,57,000, the sanctioned and revised estimates, respectively, for the current year. The estimate follows the revised estimate for the current year. The decrease is under Cinchona Plantation receipts owing to smaller sales of cinchona alkaloids.

31. Miscellaneous.—The receipts under this head fluctuate largely from year to year, and are difficult to forecast with certainty. The estimate for next year has been based on the actuals of the last three years and has been placed at Rs. 10,09,000, against Rs. 9,13,000 and Rs. 9,30,000, the budget and revised estimates, respectively, for the current year, and Rs. 11,33,785, the actuals of last year. The increase last year was chiefly under unclaimed deposits.

32. Irrigation Major Works (District Receipts).—The budget estimate for the current year was Rs. 18,77,000, and the revised estimate is taken at Rs. 20,00,000 owing to an anticipated improvement in the receipts from the Sone Canals. The actual receipts last year amounted to Rs. 20,30,889, and the total revised estimate for the current year has been reproduced in the budget for next year.

33. Minor Works and Navigation in charge of the Public Works Department.—The estimate of receipts for next year is Rs. 6,50,000, against Rs. 5,40,000 and Rs. 6,99,000, the sanctioned and revised estimates, respectively, for the current year, and Rs. 5,75,240, the actuals of last year. An increase is expected from both the Calcutta and the Eastern Canals, partly on account of a general increase in the traffic and partly owing to the changes recently introduced in the administration of the canals.

34. Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department.—The receipts for next year are estimated at Rs. 2,80,000, against Rs. 2,00,000 and Rs. 3,57,000, the sanctioned and the revised estimates, respectively, for the current year. The receipts under certain minor heads, including "profits of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway" have been unusually large during the current year.

EXPENDITURE.

35. Refunds and Drawbacks.—The total Provincial expenditure of next year is estimated at Rs. 1,35,000 against Rs. 1,26,000, the sanctioned estimate for the current year. The estimate is based on the average actuals of the last three years, exclusive of special payments.

36. Land Revenue.—The total Provincial expenditure for next year is estimated at Rs. 47,22,000 against Rs. 44,00,000, the budget estimate for the current year, as shown below:—

	1904-1905.		1905-1906.
	Budget.	Revised.	Budget.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
(1) Charges of District Administration ...	34,53,000	31,61,000	35,95,000
(2) Charges on account of Land Revenue collections	1,000	1,000	1,400

(5) Land Records and Agriculture	91,000	1,02,000	93,600
Total ...	44,00,000	42,45,000	47,22,000

The increase under (1) is due to provision having been made for—(a) the full sanctioned strength of officers and establishment, (b) an increase in the number of Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors and the improvement of the status of Sub-Deputy Collectors, (c) the pay of muharrirs and peons of additional Deputy Magistrates, (d) a new steam-launch for the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, (e) a larger grant for record-room establishment, and (f) increased charges for the management of private estates owing to the assumption of Bhowal and other estates. A provision of Rs. 1,50,000 has been made under (3) for the Sundarbans reclamation work.

37. Stamps.—The estimate for next year amounts to Rs. 7,00,000 against Rs. 7,80,000, the budget estimate for the current year. The decrease is due to the transfer to the control of the Government of India of the office of the Controller of Stamps, the cost of which has been debited to Imperial from the 1st July 1904. The Provincial share of the total expenditure (one-half) is Rs. 3,50,000.

38. Excise.—The estimate for next year is Rs. 8,63,000 against Rs. 8,20,000, the budget grant for the current year. The increase is due to (a) increase of pay of the Personal Assistant of the Excise Commissioner owing to grade promotion, (b) a lump provision of Rs. 20,000 for strengthening the establishment employed in the districts of the Orissa Division and Midnapore in connection with the introduction of the contract distillery system, and (c) larger grants for special contingencies and rewards with reference to local requirements. The Provincial share (seven-sixteenths) amounts to Rs. 3,78,000.

39. Provincial Rates.—The estimate for next year is Rs. 92,000 against Rs. 1,04,000, the budget estimate for 1904-1905. The decrease is chiefly under Revaluation Charges and partly also in the charges for collection which have been budgetted for according to local requirements.

40. Forests.—The total expenditure for next year is estimated at Rs. 7,64,000 against Rs.7 ,61,000, the budget estimate for the current year. The increase is for the repairs of steamers and boats and for the purchase of marine stores in the Sundarbans Division. The Provincial share (one-fourth) is Rs. 1,91,000.

41. Registration.—The estimate for next year is Rs. 9,96,000 against Rs. 9,70,000, the budget estimate for the current year. The increase is chiefly due to a lump provision of Rs. 20,000 for the reorganisation of the Department, although partly also to an increase in the pay of the Personal Assistant of the Inspector-General of Registration owing to grade promotion. The expenditure is entirely Provincial.

42. General Administration.—The total expenditure in the current year was originally estimated at Rs. 18,56,000, but in the revised estimate this has been raised to Rs. 19,80,000. The increase has been explained in paragraph 6 above. The estimate for next year is Rs. 19,02,000.

43. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The budget estimate for the current year was Rs. 1,00,00,000, but in the revised estimate this has been reduced to Rs. 98,50,000 for the reasons explained in paragraph 5 above. The estimate for next year has been passed at Rs. 1,02,00,000 which includes provision for (a) an Additional Judge in the High Court for three months for inspection work; (b) a larger expenditure under Fees to Pleaders with reference to actuals; (c) larger grants under salaries and establishment of Munsifs, diet and travelling expenses to witnesses and allowances to jurors and assessors, and (d) a moiety of the expenditure due to the increase in the number of Deputy Magistrates and the improvement in the status of Sub-Deputy Magistrates, the other moiety having been included under Land Revenue.

44. Jails.—The estimate for the current year was Rs. 26,80,000 against Rs. 27,33,193, the actuals of last year. The actuals of the first ten months of the year however show a decrease of only Rs. 3,000 as compared with the figures for last year, and the revised estimate for the year has accordingly been raised to Rs. 27,30,000. The increase is chiefly under Jail Manufactures and is due to larger expenditure on the purchase of raw materials. The estimate for next year is Rs. 28,20,000.

45. Police.—The following table compares the estimates under this head:—

	1903-1904. Actuals.	1904-1905. Budget.	1904-1905. Revised.	1905-1906 Estimate.

46. The actuals of the first ten months of the current year indicate that there will be a large excess under the head "District Executive Force." This is mainly under the sub head "Supplies and Services," and is due to additional grants for petty construction and repairs and the purchase of furniture and law books; there will also be small increases under "Superintendence" and "Refunds." The revised estimate for the year has been passed at Rs. 67,60,000 against Rs. 65,50,000, the budget grant for the year. The estimate for next year is Rs. 78,90,000 and includes a lump provision of 12 lakhs for the reorganisation of the Police Department. Further details are shown in Appendix B.

47. Marine.—The estimate for next year is Rs. 11,23,000 against Rs. 17,40,000 and Rs. 18,00,000, the budget and the revised estimates respectively for the current year. The estimate includes Rs. 45,000 for the payment of delivery charges of the new steamer Fraser. The sum of Rs. 6,91,000 was provided in the revised estimate for the current year to meet the cost of the vessel. Provision has been made for the salaries and allowances of officers, etc., for the new vessel.

48. Education.—The total Provincial expenditure in the current year was originally estimated at Rs. 35,19,000, but in the revised estimate this has been raised to Rs. 35,62,000. The variations among several heads are shown in Appendix B. The estimate for next year is Rs. 47,52,000, to which must be added Rs. 4,55,656 which is transferred to District Boards through the head of Contributions from Provincial to Local, and Rs. 2,00,000 which has been added to the ordinary grant of the Public Works Department for the construction of the Dacca College building. The total expenditure for Education will therefore be Rs. 54,07,656. The following table shows the growth of expenditure under this head both in the Provincial and District Board accounts from the year 1901-02 :—

49. The principal items for which special provision has been made in the estimate are given in paragraph 13 above.

50. Medical.—The budget grant for next year is Rs. 22,75,000 against Rs. 23,00,000, the budget estimate for the current year, and Rs. 21,48,271, the actuals of last year. The budget includes a provision of Rs. 97,000 for increasing the pay of Indian Medical Service Officers against Rs. 1,20,000 provided for the current year. The estimate also provides Rs. 70,000 for expenses during the prevalence of plague, including a special grant of Rs. 50,000 to the Divisional Commissioners for special plague measures. A provision of Rs. 13,900 has been made for grants to leper asylums out of the special assignment of five lakhs given in last year from the Imperial surplus for distribution to certain public institutions.

51. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The estimate for next year is Rs. 9,40,000 against Rs. 6,80,000, the budget estimate for the current year. The budget total includes the following amounts:—(a) Rs. 60,000 for the development of the Veterinary Institution, (b) Rs. 5,000 for an experimental farm at Cuttack, (c) Rs. 5,000 for cotton cultivation, (d) Rs. 50,000 for experiments in connection with the cultivation of indigo, (e) Rs. 6,000 for Bengal Provincial Agricultural Association, (f) Rs. 8,000 for bull-rearing farms, (g) Rs. 15,000 for the pay and establishment of the Deputy Director of Agriculture, (h) Rs. 25,000 for salary and allowances and establishment of the Registrar, Co-operative Credit Societies, and (i) Rs. 40,000 for the enlargement of the Cinchona Factory.

52. Superannuation.—The expenditure under this head shows a progressive enhancement owing to the increase in the claims to pensions. The estimate for next year is Rs. 28,15,000 against Rs. 26,57,000 and Rs. 27,01,000, the sanctioned and the revised estimates respectively for the current year and Rs. 25,81,376, the actuals of last year.

53. Stationery and Printing.—The estimate of next year is Rs. 12,22,000 against Rs. 13,83,000, the sanctioned estimate for the current year. The decrease is due to the imperialization of the Stationery Department of the Stationery Office at the Presidency and to smaller provision having been made for the purchase and supply of type-writers from the Central Stores.

54. Miscellaneous.—The revised estimate for the current year is Rs. 3,44,000 against Rs. 2,72,000, the original budget estimate for the year. The increase is due to the grants to the District Charitable Society, to the Young Women's Christian Association and to the Calcutta Orphanage for Hindus and also to larger expenditure under Supplies and Services and Contingencies of circuit-houses. The estimate for next year is Rs. 3,14,000 and includes Rs. 25,000 for charges in connection with the deputation of Mr. Savage on village chaukidari work, and Rs. 4,000 for the examination and arrangement of Government records.

55. Irrigation—Major Works.—Under the category of Major Works are included the Orissa Canals, the Midnapore Canal, the Hijili Tidal Canal, and the Sone Canals, the outlay for the construction and extension of which has for the most part been advanced from the Imperial Treasury. The Provincial Government, which gets the receipts from the works, is responsible for their maintenance and for the payment of interest on the capital expenditure. The total grant for working expenses for next year is Rs. 11,04,090, against Rs. 11,74,000, the budget grant for the current year, and Rs. 10,17,041, the actuals of last year.

The grant for expenditure on Capital Account has been raised from Rs. 1,72,000 in the current year to Rs. 2,87,000 in next year, and provides Rs. 1,44,000 for the canal between Dhappa and Bamunghatta, Rs. 50,000 for the Madaripur Bhil route, and Rs. 41,000 for the Dudhai Canal. The estimate also includes Rs. 11,53,000 for agricultural and drainage works against Rs. 6,91,000, the sanctioned grant for the current year. The increase is mainly due to the provision of Rs. 3,75,000 as Government contribution in aid of the Magrahat Drainage Scheme.

59. Contributions from Provincial to Local.—The original estimate for the current year, amounting to Rs. 15,29,000, has been reduced to Rs. 13,87,000 in the revised estimate, as the provision for unforeseen grants was not utilised to the extent anticipated in March 1904. No. 93 (first publication).—The Port Master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 1 of 1905) that, on and after 1st March, the small light showing a white sector, and the leading beacons carrying green lights at night, for crossing the Bar, will be discontinued, and a pair of white triangular beacons, with vertical black stripe in centre, carrying white lights at night, will be exhibited from Magazine Islet, bearing in line N. E. by N. ½ N.

These lights and beacons in line lead through the centre of the recently dredged channel, 200 feet wide, across the Bar, with a depth of 10 feet at L. W. S. The depth in the Inlet up to the wharves remains as before, i.e., 5 to 6 feet at L. W. S. Dredging operations to form a basin will continue in progress.

Directions.—To enter the Inlet, bring the pair of triangular beacons or white lights at night in line bearing N. E. by N. ½ N. when approaching Island Point. Keep these marks in line until the existing pair of beacons, carrying red lights at night, bearing N. ½ E., come in line, when proceed on the latter line as heretofore.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph. [redacted]ound. Rainfall reported on any day is for
